NEW BUSINESS ORGANIZATION

West Newton Business Men Form an Association Similar To That at Newton Corner

The organization of the new West Newton Business Men's Association was completed and officers elected at an enthusiastic meeting at Player's Hall on Monday evening. The officers elected are: President, George P. Brophy; vice presidents, Ralph E. Hatch, Max Kravitz, Chauncey A. Stimets and William E. Tomlinson; treasurer, William M. Cahill; and secretary, C. C. Mowry. These officers are to constitute the Board of Directors. Various committees were authorized and appointed who are to report at the next meeting of the association on Monday evening, February 14, at which time the important matters of By-Laws, membership dues, and resolutions will be considered.

Suggesting the things to which the business men of the community might well direct their attention, the newly elected president spoke of the proposed new City Hall, which he felt should be retained in West Newton; the project for a moving picture theatre, which would also bring in new stores and new life into the village; the need for a bridge over the railroad at Crescent street, which would make West Newton much more accessible to many people; the proposed widening of Elm street, which would undoubtedly be followed by the construction of new business buildings as soon as new street lines were definitely established; and the development of the social side of an organization of this type which provides an opportunity for not only a better understanding of common problems but also for wider acquaintance.

Among the first speakers was John E. Riley, representative of Bennett Rockman, owner of much of the business property at West Newton and who desires to build the proposed moving picture theatre at the corner of Washington and Elm streets at any time opposition to this project may be overcome. Mr. Riley spoke of the need of representation at City Hall, reminding those present that at the time of the hearings on the proposed new City Hall there was not one representative of the West Newton business men present to say a word for the plan to have the new municipal building built in West Newton.

Ralph E. Hatch advocated that the new association strive to let the people of West Newton, especially the women who can no longer motor to Boston with the same convenience as in former years, know just what the business men of West Newton offer them in trading facilities and advantages right at home. Ernest F. Dow, who has been in business in West Newton longer than any but two now doing business—A. J. Steadman and W. E. Tomlinson—spoke reminiscently of the past and stressed the acquaintance and fellowship features available through the new association.

Louis Goldberg favored a publicity campaign to acquaint the residents of that section with the trading advantages offered by the local stores. W. E. Tomlinson expressed the belief that West Newton should have larger stores. Others present felt the need of more imposing and better looking business buildings, larger stores, and more attention to window displays and other things designed to attract trade. William M. Cahill believed that some definite plan of action should be developed to bring into reality some of the various new business buildings which have been talked of in West Newton. Among others who spoke were Charles H. Milliken, Sydney Litchman, David Fried, William M. Noone, Max Kravitz, Joseph B. Davis, and A. J. Steadman.

It was voted that a committee on publicity be appointed, consisting of seven members. A committee on resolutions, to report at the next meeting, and consisting of Robert A. Patterson, Ernest F. Dow, and the secretary, was also appointed.

CATHOLIC CLUB WHIST

Tuesday night at the Catholic Club 130 persons enjoyed participation in a whist party. The winners in the January series awarded the grand prizes were: Miss Annie Costello, who won an end table; Mrs. G. Palmer, who received a clock; A. Thivierge, who won a bed-set. The winners of the prizes for 1st, 2nd, and 3rd places for the evening were, Mrs. Mary Keeley, Mrs. E. Belger, and Miss E. G. Blake.

KIWANIS CLUB

The weekly meeting of the club on Tuesday was devoted to business matters. A lengthy discussion took place on the matter of devising ways and means to assist underprivileged children of Newton. It was voted to raise funds both by contributions and by assessing the members.

SERIOUS FINANCIAL SITUATION

Maintenance of Claflin Field Largely Responsible for Lack of Funds in High School Athletic Treasury—Over $10,000 Expended During Last 10 Years

A financial statement made public recently by Clifford L. Brownell, director of physical education in the Newton public schools, reveals startling facts in regard to the financial situation of high school athletics which must be met if the present athletic program is to be carried out. Mr. Brownell's analysis of the situation is as follows:

"Intramural and varsity athletics in the high school are undoubtedly one of the greatest institutions for developing the correct type of social leadership. Properly organized, the varsity squad should be represented by the best players in the sport. The intramural games are open to everyone. Here the slogan, 'The greatest good for the greatest number' represents a distinctly worthy aim."

"It is a mistake to separate the varsity and intramural programs in athletics, as both types are interdependent. Varsity athletics alone can hardly be justified because the opportunity for competition reaches only the few who are already proficient in the sport. On the other hand an intramural program receives a tremendous impetus by the enthusiasm aroused for varsity games."

"A statement of our present financial standing is of interest. While the school department renders some assistance with intramural athletics, most of the varsity and intramural sports are paid for out of gate receipts. Contrary to popular opinion our financial outlook is unpleasant. While costs have increased receipts during 1926 have decreased. Expenditures on Claflin Field during 1925 amounted to $586.30, while in 1926 the sum was doubled or $1,176.26 was paid for maintenance. Football is the one sport that brings in a revenue. In most cities all other sports depend on this sport to carry the athletic financial load. In 1925 our receipts from football were $7,678.50. In 1926 the amount was lowered by practically $1,000 or $6,708.65."

"The statement of Jan. 1 showed a balance of $923.25. This has been reduced to $73.59 by payment of subsequently rendered bills."

"A few weeks ago the coaches of winter and spring sports were asked to estimate receipts and expenditures from activity from January 1, 1927, until the close of school in June. An examination of these figures indicates that approximately $1250 will be necessary, above all receipts, if we intend to maintain our athletic program on a par with previous years."

Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of the advisory athletic committee in Director Brownell's office the situation was discussed. The matter was left in the hands of Mr. Brownell and Mr. Palmer with the proposal to appoint a finance officer who would, for obvious reasons, be a member of the high school faculty. This officer would have charge of the financial problems with ways and means for taking care of the deficits to be devised. When Mr. Brownell came to Newton early last fall he delved into the financial situation and refused to run on a program which would be deficient every year.

It is his belief that it is possible to arrange the various schedules and to cut items wherever possible from time to time so that eventually the yearly deficits will be reduced to a minimum in each sport and that the profits accruing from some sports will at least balance the games. Football is the only sport which showed a profit in 1926 amounting to about $1500 which was more than wiped out by the cost of care of the field. For the remainder of this school year, however, some means must be found to provide for the expenses of $1250 above all estimated receipts.

"This Spring it is planned to relieve the present precarious situation which unless remedied will mean the abandonment of certain interschool sports now being scheduled by an intensive drive among students and citizens of the city during which season tickets for all games on the baseball schedule will be sold for $1.00. With at least eleven games on the card it means that fans can see the games for about nine cents each."

"The putting on a varsity basketball team next winter will mean an added expense which it is hoped will be more than offset by the receipts. With interest in this indoor sport having grown tremendously in the past five years it is anticipated that the team will not only be self-supporting but that it will show a creditable balance on the profit side."

Newton has always been one of the most economical schools in scholastic competition as far as athletics go. The hue and cry of commercializing school sports can never be raised against the Garden City teams. It is not very widely known that Newton has sufficient football paraphernalia to equip over 100 boys and not a single piece is wasted. Should a boy lose anything loaned him he must pay for it and so there can be no leakage from this direction. Baseball and track uniforms are used about five years before it is necessary to replace them. Intramural basketball has not added to the expense materially."

A glance at the financial statement of the athletic treasury shows that approximately $1200 was expended last year for the entire maintenance of Claflin Field while an additional $300 was paid in its present and carry state and take the chance of being injured by the collapse of a stand. (At the Newton-Brookline game one of these stands collapsed but fortunately no one was injured.) Neither will other schools come to Newton for their games when forced to play under such conditions. All these things have brought about the present situation and unless provisions are made to relieve it there can be but one result—the abolition of interscholastic sports."

It is a real problem and a serious one. What the outcome will be no one can foretell but it is up to every resident of the city to not only take an interest in the matter and help to relieve the situation. Above all it is absolutely necessary, if the athletic programs are to be carried out as they should be in behalf of the students as well as school itself, that some means be devised whereby the present deficits can be wiped out and steps taken to prevent a recurrence of the situation by relieving the athletic treasury of the greater part of the load which it now bears—namely the cost of caring for the field which has amounted to about $10,000 in the past decade."

NEWTON GIRL SCOUTS

Take an Active Interest in the Bugle and Drum Corps

"Let us haste to amend any tendency in our manner of Girl Scouting whereby it seems to be losing something of its spirit of gaiety to become a Good Work rather than a Joyous Adventure" adapted from the Girl Gazette.

On Saturday, January 22nd, Troop 22 of Newtonville went on a winter adventure to Cedar Hill, the Massachusetts Girl Scouts' camping place in Waltham, which was left to the scouts by Miss Cornelia Warren. It was a rainy day, but in spite of the bad weather, 24 scouts went over to Waltham on the bus with Captain Lovejoy. In the morning they went on a hike over the nature trail which has been laid on the estate, getting acquainted with the trees and shrubs in their winter garb and looking and listening for the birds that winter in this latitude. After eating a picnic lunch in the barn they played in the famous arborvitae maze, which was copied by Miss Warren from the Hampton Court Maze in England. These scouts found that "Sardines in a Box" is a splendid game to play in a maze. During the rest of the afternoon the girls took part in the games and sports that were held in the barn as part of the Winter Jamboree run by the Massachusetts Scout organization.

Troop No. 11, Newton Highlands is now divided into two sections, the second section to meet on Wednesday afternoon at the Congregational Church while the first section will continue to meet as usual on Mondays. The new division will not take a new member or emblem, but will be called the B division of the Pine Cone Troop. Miss Mildred Moore is the captain of this troop.

Troop No. 21, the Senior troop in Newton Highlands is planning to give an operetta in the spring. Their captain, Mrs. R. R. Collins has been obliged to resign and Mrs. Harry P. Forte, of Carver Road is now captain. This troop holds its meetings at the Episcopal Church on Thursday afternoons.

The Newton Girl Scout Bugle and Drum Corps is practicing on Saturday mornings at the West Newton Armory.

Mrs. W. S. Redfield of Somerset Rd., West Newton is the captain of the corps. The instructors are Mr. George Lee, who has taught bugling for 3 years, and Mr. Edward Bernard, who has taught drumming for 2 years. The drum major is Dorothy Barba of Newton, and her substitute is Armada Lemont of Newton Centre, Troop No. 13. Drum Major Barba has done such excellent drill work with the younger girls that the older girls are beginning to wonder if their places on the Major Corps are not endangered.

Mrs. Redfield reports that this year there is a shortage of drummers for the corps and that she needs one very peppy individual for bass drummer and another equally peppy one for the cymbals. She also tells us that her buglers report a shortage of sound proof garages for practice although there seem to be plenty of bread boards available for drumming. Practice is an important part of corps training and it is hoped that the corps girls will soon be noticeable for their erect carriage.

For the past three years a member of the Newton Bugle and Drum Corps has held the State Championship for bugling.

Visitors are always welcome at the practice sessions of the corps.

The corps is composed of the following girls:

Newton, Troop No. 2. Buglers, Jean Waring, Elizabeth Barba. Newton Centre, Troop No. 3. Bugler, Margaret Ogg. West Newton, Troop No. 5. Buglers, Barbara Livermore, Alice Jack, Mary Kibbe. Drummers, Barbara Wolley, Elaine Wainwright. Nonantum, Troop No. 6. Buglers, Maizie Pitts, Beatrice McKenzie. Upper Falls, Troop No. 7. Buglers, Mary Cronin, Alice Mahoney. Auburndale, Troop No. 8. Buglers, Carolyn Young, Dorothy Nichols, Priscilla Wales, Mary Ann Burton. Thompsonville, Troop No. 9. Bugler, Kathleen McKenzie. Newtonville, Troop No. 10. Bugler, Emily Danleavy. Drummer, Mary Coleman. Newton Highlands, Troop No. 11. (Continued on Page 4)

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

Edited by WARREN K. BRIMBLECOM

BROOKLINE TAKES LEAD

Strength in the running events gave Brookline High school the lead in the annual dual meets between Newton and Brookline last Saturday afternoon. The first meet was staged on the Brookline track with the Wealthy Towners scoring 41 points to the orange and black's 27. Tomorrow afternoon the teams will meet each other on the Newton track. Points scored will be added to those of last week and the final total will decide the winner.

Newton won two events, the high jump and the dash, with two men tying in each case. Hammond and Ebelhared tied the Brookline gym record of 5 ft. 9 in. in the high jump, while Cole and Fullerton were on even terms in the 25-yard dash. Spirited competition was provided in three of the track events. Until the gun lap Kollmyer was in the lead in the 600-yard run but Record and Cole of Brookline both jumped in and captured the first two places. In the 1000-yard run Barrie of Brookline was trailing until the next to the final lap, when he spurred to win by over ten yards, with McManus and Hession of Newton finishing second and third.

The relay race was the best of the day. Cole and Brewer of Newton led their own with the first two Brookline runners, but Record was too fast for Kollmyer and handed Anderson a three-yard lead. Fullerton ran a gallant race but was unable to pass the Brookline anchor, giving Brookline the race by a matter of inches.

The summary:
25-Yard Dash—Tie for first between R. Cole and Fullerton, Newton; Hagenburger, Brookline, third. Time 3.25s.
300-Yard Run—Won by Badaracco, Brookline; Anderson, Brookline, second; R. Cole, Newton, third. Time 37s.
600-Yard Run—Won by G. Record, Brookline; T. Cole, Brookline, second; Kollmyer, Newton, third. Time 1m 23s.

1000-Yard Run—Won by Barrie, Brookline; McManus, Newton, second; Hession, Newton, third. Time 2m 37.1-5s.
High Jump—Tie for first between Hammond and Ebelhared, Newton, 5ft 9in (equaling gym record); R. Smith, Brookline, 5ft 8in.

Broad Jump—Won by Levin, Brookline, 9ft 4 1/2in (new gym record); Fullerton, Newton 9ft 3 1/2in; Hammond, Newton, 9ft 2 1/2in.

Shotput—Won by Myerson, Brookline, 40ft 5 1/2in; Pitts, Brookline, 39ft 9 1/2in; Gatchel, Newton, 37 ft 3 1/2in.
Relay Race—Won by Brookline High School (Badaracco, T. Cole, Record and Anderson); Newton High School (R. Cole, Brewer, Kollmyer and Fullerton).

CANTABS UPSET NEWTON

Once again the Cambridge Latin team proved to be the nemesis of the Newton High school hockey team. On Bullough's pond Monday afternoon the visitors beat Newton 2 to 1 by scoring the deciding tally in the closing minutes of play. The game was almost a repetition of that which tied up the championship series at the Arena last winter. At that time Newton needed to win to capture the scholastic title but the Cantabs staged a great fight and won, tying Newton, Melrose and Cambridge.

Monday afternoon Cambridge scored first when Kerr, the left wing, scored on a close shot after a pretty dash through the points. Spain tied the count for Newton in the second period by lifting a loose puck into the net from within ten feet of the goal.

With the score still tied and less than a half minute to play Igo and Temple staged as pretty a piece of team work as ever seen in school-boy hockey circles. Passing from one to another, the Cambridge pair flashed down the ice leaving one Newton player after another behind until Temple got away a beautiful shot which Thompson had no chance to block.

The summary:
Cambridge Latin—Temple, rw; Harlow, c; Kerr, lw; Igo, rd; Walsh, ld; Foley, f.
Newton High—R. Powers, Brown, lw; Spain, Brown, c; Stubbs, rw; Andres, ld; Proctor, Wilkerson, rd; Thompson, g.

Score, Cambridge Latin 2, Newton 1. Goals made, by Kerr, Spain, Temple. Referee, Walter Gautreau. Time, three 12m periods.

NO MORE HOCKEY FOR STUBBS

Captain Frank Stubbs, Jr., of the Newton high school hockey team was notified this week that he could partake in no more hockey games for the remainder of the season because of a deficiency in one subject. His period of probation goes into effect on Monday. Newton has always been strict in its scholastic requirements for permission to participate in athletics and no exception is ever made to this rule. The hockey leader fell short of the necessary credits by one-half of a point which was enough to keep him out.

There is no way of telling just how much effect this will have upon the playing of the team but Stubbs was the best man the orange and black had on the ice and his scoring was worth a great deal to the team. Spain and Powers, in fact the entire team, will have to take more responsibility on their shoulders in order to keep Newton in the fore and bring the sextet through on top in the coming round robin series at the Arena to determine the interscholastic league championship.

Drawings for the first games to be staged at the Arena next Friday will be made early this coming week. Poor ice was entirely to blame for Newton's solitary defeat of the year at the hands of Cambridge Latin on Monday. If the ice is good next week Newton will have two games in which to try out the new line-up with L. Powers in place of Stubbs. Monday Stone School will be the opponent, Wednesday Milton and then the final round of the league will start on Friday. Saturday the local outfit will journey to New Haven to meet the Yale freshmen sextet. On the following Friday, the 18th, the second game in the title series will be played and on Washington's birthday the third and final game.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Recent announcement in metropolitan papers to the effect that Newton high school varsity basketball team next season and will arrange a schedule with other suburban teams is a confirmation of rumors that have been heard since the inauguration of intramural basketball a number of weeks ago. At that time denial was made in this column that varsity basketball would be played this winter but that it was expected that sufficient interest in the sport would be aroused so that such plans would mature by the 1927-28 season rolled around.

Raymond Green of the high school faculty has charge of the present intramural competition and is assisted by Ralph Sanborn, Abner Bailey, and Warren Blue, all of the faculty. When interscholastic competition is started next winter Coach Green will handle the varsity and his assistants the intramural. This team will be the first varsity five since 1912 and renewal of the sport is made possible by the new gymnasium in which there are four courts.

In the days when Newton was represented by a basketball team Coach Alie Dickinson was the mentor and he produced teams which were in the running as he has nearly always done in other sports. The year before the sport was abandoned the Newton five won the state title under the first year of his direction. The following year the orange and black quintet was runner-up and then the sport was dropped.

With one year intramural competition Coach Green should be able to start off next season with a team that will know considerable about the game. The Newton coach is responsible for the statement that the schedule next season will be only about half the length of the ordinary school program, which will not place too much of a strain for the first year. This schedule will probably include those members of the suburban football and baseball leagues with the exception of Somerville and Brookline which do not foster the sport. Cambridge and Rindge have put on teams this winter for the first time and although neither has an outstanding record the results give promise of future greatness.

With the announcement that Newton is to return to the indoor winter game the rumor immediately started that the formation of a suburban basketball league would result. Such a league is quite possible and would undoubtedly include members of the suburban league now meeting in other sports with two other teams to replace Brookline and Somerville. Arlington and Watertown have been mentioned as the two outfits to take these places but only future developments will tell the story.

SPORT NOTES

The Newton Centre Squash Tennis Club team in Class B of the Massachusetts Association (tournament continues to set a dazzling pace. Last Saturday they handed out their fifth coat of whitewash in six matches. Milton was the victim this time. The Harvard club spoiled the perfect record of the Newton Centre five by winning one out of the five individual matches two weeks ago. This play has resulted in giving the Newton Centre team a 10-game lead over the runner-up.

In Class C Newton Centre also made a clean sweep of its five matches with the B. A. A. five while the Newton Club was whitewashed by the Walkover outfit. Chestnut Hill scored a 3 to 2 victory over the University Club. The Newton Centre team is now but two points below the B. A. A., which is two points below the Union B. C., which is in first place.

Harold Rising was the seventh best man in the trials for the relay team at Bowdoin College on Saturday. The trials are an annual event and the runner making the fastest time is awarded the Augusta cup. Thirty-five men took part in the trials and while no times were given out it was announced that there was but one second difference in the time made by the first and eighth men. After the trials the relay was cut to the twelve fastest runners.

Final trials were held on Tuesday and four runners were caught in the same time. All of them broke the track record for the 440-yard distance and the fifth man equalled the record so that Rising will not be seen by the many local fans who will witness the Bowdoin-Brown relay race at the B. A. A. games tomorrow night.

Amherst and Rensselaer staged their hockey game under arc lights last Saturday night because of poor ice in the afternoon. The game ended in a scoreless tie which was not dissolved by an overtime period. What seemed to be a Purple goal in the first period by Patrick was disallowed by the referee.

Alfred Hartbridge of Exeter is running well and is expected to be a sure point winner in the Exeter-B. C. Freshman meet on Lincoln's birthday. Hartbridge won the 600-yard run in the trials held last Saturday.

"Gyp" Lawless was the best man on the ice in the Boston University-Boston College hockey game last Friday night, which was won by the former 3 to 1. In the first period the West Newton boy tallied unassisted and while he did not figure directly in the other scores he spoiled many a B. C. attack with his poke-checking, following right up with some clever stick-work and shooting.

The track meet tomorrow afternoon between Newton and Brookline at the Newton track will be well worth taking in. Newton is trailing the Wealthy Town runners by fourteen points, and must show more than they did last week to capture the honors. Here is a case where it will be clearly shown what an advantage it is for a team to be running on its own track. Whether this advantage will amount to fifteen points difference in the score is an open question which only tomorrow will tell. Newton should pull through but the unexpected strength Brookline displayed last week is quite capable of upsetting his hope.

Ed Wilson of the B. A. A. track team will be an entrant in the mile walk at the B. A. A. games.

The Rindge Tech basketball team scored a 32 to 18 victory over Our Ladies High School five Tuesday night on the local team's court. Clark at forward and Burke at center played well for the losers.

Tommy Gilligan is playing right defense on the Exeter hockey team and is displaying his oldtime form with the result that the prep school team is improved greatly. The former Newton star is on his way to his second varsity letter in his first year at the academy. Undoubtedly he will win the third in the baseball season as his ability in the great American game is as good if not greater than in other sports. He will probably catch the Exeter twirlers during the baseball season although he is capable of holding down any position outside the box.

Exeter tied Coburn Classical on Wednesday afternoon 3 to 3. Tom Gilligan who played at center and at right defense tallied the first point for the New Hampshire six, tying the score in the first period.

The Newton Y. M. C. A. basketball team dropped another game last Saturday night when Cambridge Y scored 42 points to 23 for the locals. Lynch, right forward was the star of the game scoring one-half of the Cantabs points. Kohler led for Newton with 5 points.

The second teams of the two associations staged a close 18 to 16 game with Newton coming out on top. Daniels played a good game for Newton scoring six points.

Tomorrow night the Quincy Y first and second teams will meet on the local court in a return game. The Granite City team is a fast outfit and should come pretty near taking the honors in the Eastern division of the Two-State league. Next Tuesday night the local teams will play at Somerville.

Last Saturday afternoon the Boston Y business men's volleyball team shut out the local Y team in three straight games, 15-1, 15-6, 15-5. A return match at the Boston Y is scheduled for the latter part of the month.

The senior class basketball league at the Y, going into its third week, is furnishing some excellent games. Last Tuesday night the Waltham five (J. Barnes, captain) won its second game, defeating the Newton team 13 to 12. In the other game that evening Watertown defeated Brighton 11 to 5. Waltham is leading the league with two victories and no defeats. Watertown (P. Reardon, captain) and Newton (J. Dargon, captain) are tied for second with one win and one loss each. Brighton (A. Parensky, captain) has lost both games and is in the cellar berth. Waltham and Watertown and Newton and Brighton are the games on the card for next Tuesday night.

The Sunday School Basketball league entered the second half of the schedule last Friday night with the game between the Newtonville Methodists and the Central Congregationalists which was easily won by the former 48 to 7. The Elliot and Needham Congregational church teams finished the first round with the Needham team the victors 23 to 16. The Newcomb brothers of Needham dominated the latter contest scoring 17 points between them while Parker was the star of the other game. His total of 20 points for the Nunces being a feature. The standing is as follows:

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Needham Cong.	4	1	.800
Watertown M. E.	4	1	.800
Watertown M.	4	2	.666
Elliot Cong.	3	2	.600
Watertown Bapt.	1	4	.200
Central Cong.	0	5	.000

The Newton-Middlesex game on the Middlesex school rink scheduled for Wednesday afternoon was postponed on account of poor ice.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

RECENT EVENTS

Newton Community Club

There was an unusually large attendance at the meeting of the Newton Community Club on January 27th, partly owing to the fact that it was Presidents' Day and the Club had as guests presidents of neighboring clubs and other officials, and partly because a well-known and eagerly anticipated speaker Dr. W. H. P. Faunce, president of Brown University, was to deliver an address on the timely subject "The Revolt of Youth."

Mrs. J. Porter Russell opened the meeting by reading a pledge to the United States flag written by a 13 year old Japanese girl in California which won the State prize for such compositions.

A letter was read from Mrs. Arthur D. Porter, president of the State Federation in which she expressed regret at her inability to be present. Mrs. Russell then introduced Mrs. Clarence W. Clark, the first vice-president, who made a short but inspiring address in which she emphasized the desirability of friendliness in Club life and work.

Mrs. Joseph Congdon, director of the 12th district, also spoke, especially of the work of the Education Committee and its recent development of vocational guidance conferences.

The Club then had an unexpected pleasure in a brief talk by Mr. Francis Bacon, director of Secondary Education, on the question of Scholarships. Most of the Clubs are maintaining them, and Mr. Bacon considers such aid most important and necessary. He laid stress on the greatly increased cost of tuition, board, and other factors of college life, and the undesirability of a student being forced by financial stringency to work so hard as to have no time to take advantage of opportunities offered, especially during the first year before he or she has become familiar with the possibilities of his environment.

The music of the afternoon was furnished by a Club member—Mrs. Clara Sexton Crowley, accompanied by Mrs. Minnie Watson. Mrs. Crowley sang four songs most charmingly, ending with the laughing song from "Manon."

Mrs. Russell then presented the speaker of the afternoon, Dr. W. H. P. Faunce, who gave a delightful address on "The Revolt of Youth." He began by quoting a mother at a recent college commencement, whose son, just graduated, said to her, "Well, old girl, anything I can do for you?" "What," the mother had demanded of Dr. Faunce, "should be my answer?" That, humorously expressed, is the question the older generation is facing.

Dr. Faunce mentioned several causes of the present situation—the world war, the marvelous appliances of modern science, including the automobile, which are responsible for social and moral changes even more startling than the physical ones. The fact that women are so much occupied outside the home, and that the home itself, in the modern apartment at least, furnishes no opportunity for effort on the part of the children, are also significant.

But in spite of all this, Dr. Faunce assured us that there was more real revolt in college life one hundred years ago than now and that students of that period were vastly more difficult to control. The older morality was based on repression enforced by negative commands—no drinking, no smoking, no dancing, no cards, no theatre, etc. But youth is now frankly expressing itself—in witness whereof he read part of a most amusing essay written by a high school boy in which the youth wonders why his parents and elders expect him to be thrilled by Latin which they never read themselves—they prefer "snappy up-to-date English."

In an aside Dr. Faunce mentioned the revolt of the middle-aged, who, "bored by prosperity" "try to be youthful and succeed in being silly."

He referred to the "humiliated biography" now being written—heroes are none the less heroes and are certainly much more interesting. The new frankness in speech is far more wholesome than the old embarrassed reticence, and facing reality a much better preparation for life than yielding to blind sentimentality and unquestioned tradition.

Dr. Faunce closed by urging parents, to try to see life through the teachers and all of the older generations of youth and to live with as well as for the children.

After the address, tea was served and a social hour enjoyed. The ladies of group 9, Miss Caroline Braman leader, were the hostesses of the afternoon.

Auburndale Woman's Club

The Auburndale Woman's Club enjoyed a delightful program Thursday afternoon, January 27th, when Stella Marek Cushing the American-born daughter of Bohemian parents entertained with a very instructive and sympathetic recital of Czechoslovakian music.

Mrs. Cushing gave a short history of the country and this was followed by a group of piano selections by Miss Doris C. Evans—all well known compositions by Czechoslovakian composers.

Mrs. Cushing then appeared in native Czech costume and played on the violin that was brought to this country by her father when he came to New York as an emigrant boy. A folk dance concluded the program.

Auburndale Review Club

At the recent meeting of the Auburndale Review Club, which was held at the home of Mrs. E. J. Frost, the morning was devoted to the reading of two plays. Mrs. George E. Martin, Mrs. Robert H. Aborn, Mrs. J. F. Rider, Miss Lilla Rider, Mrs. J. Scott Rider, and Mrs. Harold T. Dougherty read "Uncle Jimmy" by Zona Gale, a story which, in pathos, resembles "Neighbors." The second play, "Buying Culture," an extremely humorous one from start to finish, was read by Mrs. Walter Van Patten Steiger, Mrs. William H. Medlicott, and Mrs. Dean W. Hanson. An unusually large attendance of both members and guests were present.

During the business meeting the topic for the coming year "European Literature" was chosen.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

On January 27th Mrs. Walter Hartstone, legislative chairman of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, to whom the day rightfully belonged, welcomed her right in a few graceful words of recognition of the occasion. On the platform sat all the living ex-presidents with one exception (Mrs. Nathan) and two charter members, Mrs. Edward F. Melcher and Mrs. Albert L. Harwood.

As briefly as possible the reports were read, but the treasurer, Mrs. Elizabeth Bartlett, and her assistant, Mrs. G. F. Richardson, have too much of a sound financial record behind, and too promising an outlook before, to allow for any startling brevity, and in accordance with its usual once-a-year custom, the club-body acted upon the recommendation of the treasurer, through the Board, and authorized her to make contributions to five different Newton organizations which are worthy, and in need of, financial help. Following the business, were brief words of greeting from Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., for the first, and Mrs. Frank H. Stewart for the other two, from the Newton City Federation, the State Federation, and the General Federation.

It was a fitting introduction to the forty-year history of the Newton Centre Club, prepared and read by Mrs. Albert L. Harwood, one of the charter members. The paper is a valuable addition to the archives of the Club giving as it does with faithful accuracy, a picture of other days and ways that have been formative influences in the shaping of our own.

While Mrs. Harwood read, (without glasses) one could see face after face in the audience smile responsively as quaint touches of humor were introduced: e. g., when the first president firmly refused to sanction more than one meeting a week, on the ground that young mothers should not be encouraged to leave their families any oftener than that,—the same presiding officer, she was suspected of giving the subject "A Happy Marriage" to Dr. Eliot, to speak about, in one of the meetings.

A burst of applause followed the reader's announcement of the favorable outcome of the "Tax abatement issue," and all the new members present felt the welding force of enthusiasm, as everyone stood in recognition of the services of the two lawyers who conducted the case—Mr. Stewart and Mr. Goding.

As the program drew to a close, Mrs. Joseph Congdon, Twelfth District director, spoke a few charming words of congratulation; Mrs. Vincent Maloney, for the Hospitality Committee, presented Mrs. Harwood with a lovely bunch of pink carnations, and Mrs. Francis H. Williams read again, as she read them in 1923, the words of the Dedication of the Club. Then everyone stood and sang "Auld Lang Syne," with a trumpet obligato by Mrs. G. W. Uimer, and Mrs. Mather at the piano.

There was a scattering afterward, to look at the birthday cake, and decorations, and at the art exhibition upstairs, but a coming-together again, to greet the ladies in the receiving line, and wish the Club—through them—another successful forty-year growth.

Newtonville Woman's Club

At 2:30 P. M., Monday, January 31st, at the Central Congregational Church, Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole gave the second of her interesting talks on current events to members of the Newtonville Woman's Club. Her recent visit to Washington gave her a personal touch with the questions of the day in Congress, so that in her explanations of the Navy Bill, the Nicaraguan situation, the Mexican situation, the Lausanne Treaty, and the unseating of Mr. Smith and the seating of Mr. Gould, she was able to give humorous side lights and descriptions of the personalities involved.

Mrs. Poole believes that eventually the Nicaraguan situation will be relieved when Diaz consents to a new election conducted by the United States. Her description of the filibuster she heard in the Senate on the Sheppard-Towner Act was amusing as well as enlightening. It is Mrs. Poole's belief that President Coolidge will consent to arbitration of the Mexican question. The Lausanne Treaty is a closed book for this session of Congress, and the question of seating Mr. Smith and Mr. Gould has been settled.

In Mrs. Poole's account of her visit to the House of Commons in London she described the traditional dignity that prevails in the English procedure of law-making, ludicrous to an American, but pathetically lacking in Congress. A resume of the Chinese problem since the formation of the Republic in 1912, she presented very clearly. To hear Mrs. Poole is to be entertained while being informed, a happy combination for her listeners.

West Newton Woman's Educational Club

At the West Newton Woman's Educational Club meeting of Friday last, which was "American Home Committee Day," Miss Ann Leathers, of the Newton Y. W. C. A., gave an outline of the growing work of that organization, of its needs and future hopes.

The soloist of the afternoon, Mrs. Wilson C. Dort, sang most delightfully, "Snowflakes," "The Rose in the Garden," by Arthur Foote, and "My Lover Comes on the Ski," by Clough Leighton.

Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, the speaker of the afternoon, gave an interesting talk on "Shall it be Drudgery or Joy?"

She said in part: "Life is made up of three things: work, rest, and play. Our daily business is our contribution to the world's work. It is not how great our work is but how well we do it. Nine-tenths of the woman's daily business is making homes. The home is the greatest contribution to civilization. Who can reckon the value of the home in dollars and cents? Intelligent using is thrift. Thrift is essential in the conservation of health, strength, time, and money. The most of life is commonplace after all, and if we can mix a little rest and play with duties performed we get the joy of living."

The program closed with the song: "May Day in Islington," by Mrs. Dor. Mrs. Hugo Sharpe was accompanist. Tea and a social hour followed.

State Federation

EXHIBITION of Sculpture and gardens is the interesting, and distinctly worthwhile project planned by the State Federation Art Department. Mrs. Frank H. Stewart, chairman, for the assistance—not to mention pleasure—of all Clubwomen, to be held at Horticultural Hall, Boston, from the 15th to the 26th of this month. The undertaking was started over a year ago, as readers of this column may remember, but became so stupendous, and the entries by sculptors who wished to exhibit, but had not finished most excellent work, grew to such proportions, that the Art Committee postponed the affair. Now comes the fruition of enthusiastic work on the part of committee and workers. The first incentive for this bringing to public attention creations of beauty and power was the result of the world war, in a desire to pay fitting tribute in memorial to those who had such heroic—and dreadful—part in it. To immortalize these sacrifices, to safeguard with dignity and beauty expressions of honor—for tributes well-meant may some— (Continued on Page 6)

EDITORIAL

Newton should make a hearty and generous response to the appeal to be made the coming week for the Boy Scouts. It is the opinion of those well qualified to judge that much of the crime committed nowadays is by young men and boys, averaging about 21 years of age. This important fact should be borne in mind as it clearly points to the necessity of work among the boys of the coming generation to think and to act properly. In this respect there is no better agency than the Boy Scout movement. Get behind it with your money and your influence.

One of the important matters, worthy of the attention of the new organization, the Newton Business Associates is the establishment of a public convenience station in Nonantum square. The thousands of persons who pass through this station each day, emphasize the necessity for this form of community service.

We are glad to note that the business men of West Newton have followed the lead of their Newton Corner brethren and formed an organization for mutual profit. Now let the other village fall in line also.

The standing of Newton Schools in the 1926 College Board Examination is most gratifying to residents of this city.

OPPORTUNITY CLUB MEETS

A meeting of the Opportunity Club was held at the Second Church, West Newton, on last Sunday evening with the president, Mr. Harold W. Ramee, in charge.

A musical program was given by Walter Brandt, saxophone; Marguerite Brandt, saxophone; Elsa Brandt, piano; and Miss Constance Dorr, piano. Miss Martha Lander was the soloist, accompanied by Miss Dorr on the piano.

Rev. Robert L. Underwood read the prophecies which were made out by the Opportunity Club on November 19, 1919. A new set of prophecies were written, sealed and put away to be read in ten years. The subjects of these prophecies were "What will be the outcome of Prohibition by 1937?" "What will be the outcome of Bobbed Hair?" and "Where will our New City Hall be erected?"

The lights were extinguished while a birthday cake with 19 candles was lighted as the history was being read by Miss Marguerite Peters, Mr. Alfred Place, the only previous president of the club present, cut the first slice of cake and Miss Ruth L. Hay served the rest of it.

DEATH OF MRS. GORE

Mrs. Susan Richards Gore, the widow of the late Theodore W. Gore, and for many years a well known resident of Auburndale, died Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. D. W. Howells in Vineland, N. J.

Mrs. Gore was an active member of the Auburndale Congregational Church and of the Auburndale Woman's Club.

She is survived by Theodore A. Gore of Leonardsville, N. Y., Christopher Samuel and F. Porter Gore of New York City, Bancroft Gore of Rapid City, S. D., Mrs. C. Warren Dillaway of Eliot, Lyman W. Gore of Auburndale and John Gore of New York State, and Mrs. Howells of Vineland.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon in the Auburndale Congregational Church.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

A number of Newton residents appeared last Friday before the committee on Metropolitan Affairs to favor the petition of Representative Leverett Saltonstall for the construction of the Hammond Pond Parkway from Beacon street in Newton near its intersection with Hobart road to Newton street in Brookline to connect with the West Roxbury Parkway. This bill carries an appropriation of $300,000.

Edwin S. Webster, a resident of Hammond street, said that this street is very narrow and the traffic intolerable. The parkway would divert traffic from this street to connect with the West Roxbury Parkway.

Others who spoke for the bill were Representative Saltonstall, Joseph W. Bartlett, city solicitor of Newton; Charles R. Rowley, chairman of the Brookline board of selectmen; Judge Philip S. Parker, and E. H. Rogers.

Among those who were recorded for the bill were William B. Baker of Newton, Chandler Hovey of Chestnut Hill, A. Winslow Weld of Chestnut Hill, James M. Driscoll and Jerry Driscoll, both of Brookline; Caleb Loring, William L. Allen of Chestnut Hill, Fred H. Eichon of Brookline, George G. Moir of Chestnut Hill, Arthur Finnegan and Henry A. Varney, both of Brookline.

The committee subsequently reported favorably on the bill, which carries $300,000 for the work.

Representative Hollis of this city was before Legal Affairs on Wednesday in favor of his bill to regulate the admission of children under 12 years of age to motion picture shows, unless accompanied by an adult. Mr. Hollis had the Montreal fire in mind in filing this bill.

District Attorney Robert T. L. Bushnell of this county and Hon. J. Weston Allen of Newton Highlands were heard this week on bills relative to jury service and in particular one that would allow 11 members of a jury to return a verdict. This matter was recommended by Governor Fuller and has considerable merit. It would require a constitutional amendment.

In this connection it might be wise to also consider the abolition of jury trials for all cases of misdemeanors. One of the joke bills of the session was killed the other day. It provided for a ten hour day for all domestic servants.

LODGES

The annual stockholders meeting of the Odd Fellows Building Association was held at 15 North Gate Park, West Newton, Jan. 31. The regular business and the adoption of the proposed amendment, relating to the holding of the regular meetings and the annual stockholders meeting, took place after which the following officers were elected: Burt M. POLICE NEWS

John Nastasia, 20, of 41 Faxon street, Nonantum, was in court Friday morning at Waltham, charged with assisting in the disappearance of Ella Borgeson, 16, of 60 California street, Watertown, who has been missing since January 19. He pleaded not guilty and was held in $400 bonds for a hearing on February 4. The complainant against Nastasia was Sara Carpenter of the State Parole Department; the Borgeson girl was on parole from the Lancaster School. It is alleged that Nastasia, who is married, was seen in an automobile with the Borgeson girl shortly before she disappeared.

Sunday night Phyllis DeWolfe, 23, of 53 Elliot road, Newton, was attacked by a man on Lexington street, Auburndale, after she had alighted from a bus. She was dragged behind a billboard where she struggled with her assailant until her screams frightened him away. Reaching the home of her sister, Mrs. William Roleau, she told of the attack, and Mr. Roleau hastened in search of the assailant. He learned that a man answering the description of the attacker had been observed taking a Newton bound bus. The Newton police were notified and shortly afterwards Serg. Veducchio arrested James Cronin, 20 of Lincoln road, at the corner of Adams and Washington streets. He was identified by the DeWolfe girl and booked on the charges of drunkenness and attempted assault. He was arraigned in court Monday and his trial set for February 21st. Bail was set at $1000.

John Anzivino, 19, of 304 Boylston street, Newton Centre, was arrested Sunday by Patrolman John J. Green, charged with the larceny of automobile number plates, operating without a license, and operating without being registered. It is alleged the plates were stolen from A. C. Jewett Co., of Newton Centre, and that the car on which they were used was the one which was in a collision at Watertown Friday night, and which sneaked off after the accident. He was in court Monday and received a sentence of two months in the House of Correction. He appealed.

At 4 o'clock Sunday morning the patrol auto was sent to Waban to get a man who had been arrested by Officers Barry and Turner for driving while under the influence of liquor. The captive was John Olkowski of 2313 Washington street, Lower Falls. A second charge was also preferred against John; illegal transportation of liquor, although John merely had a pint "on his hip." As the patrol was returning to police headquarters, Serg. Veducchio and Officer Goddard, who were in it, heard a crash, and going to the scene of the collision, arrested another "wutiol" driver. He happened to be another Lower Falls resident, Joseph Bozek of 204 Concord street. Olkowski will be tried February 10. Bozek's trial will be on February 21st.

Saturday evening at 6, Louis Hastings of Pine street, Wellesley, was arrested by Patrolman W. H. Dolan charged with driving "while under the influence of liquor." He will be tried next week. Another alleged "wutiol" driver arrested Sunday by Serg. Veducchio and Officer Loughlin was John Greer of Newtonville avenue. He will also be tried next week. Charles D. Mills of 276 Church street reported to the police that a Ford coupe had been stolen from the rear of the Y. M. C. A. sometime between 8 p. m. Tuesday evening and 8 a. m. Wednesday morning. The car was later recovered in Waltham.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

Week ending Jan. 29.—Patients in hospital 120; patients paying as much as cost of care or more 52; patients paying less than cost of care 39; free patients, including babies 29; patients treated by out patient department 99; by eye clinic 9; accident cases 7; babies born, girls 7, boys 5; social service calls at homes 8; patients transferred by social service car 15.

The whist party given by the students at the nurses' home last week was a great success and netted a good sum of money towards the amount the students are trying to raise as their contribution to the fund for the new hospital. After the games there were refreshments and then the guests went back to the big living room where Dr. Cecil Clark gave his popular sketch of the experiences of a draftee in the war after which he awarded the prizes for the best and lowest scores, the low score winners appreciating the fact that their prizes were announced as "consolation" and not as "booby" prizes. The ball dress as a nurse for those possessing many completed was won by one of the day orderlies much to the joy of the nurses.

At the Wednesday afternoon meeting of the Newton Hospital Alumnae Association there was a business meeting and then addressed by Mr. L. H. Nichols of the Lewis Manufacturing Company of Walpole and Mr. S. M. Cermignani of the Surgeon and Physicians' Supply Company on "The Latest Method of Sterilizing and Technique."

Bishop Frank H. Touret, the rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd in Waban, conducted the meeting of the students held last Sunday evening at the nurses' home. Bishop Touret, before his health forced his retirement, was Bishop of Colorado and later of Idaho and he told the nurses something of the hospitals he had known in those states. He told of the work that is done to bring the tubercular back to health in the great hospitals in Colorado and of the way in which the Episcopal hospital in Boise City in Idaho has been built up under the superintendence of Miss Pine, a New England woman, until now it is one of the hospitals given high rating and regarded as one of the best in the western United States. He told the nurses also of his experiences as a patient of the Mayo clinic and in the Presbyterian hospital in Chicago. From experience gained in the administration of hospitals and in being a patient in them he told the nurses he had come to the conclusion that four qualities are necessary to make the successful nurse, a sense of humor, a well stored mind, a love of her work and religion.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS

An interesting meeting was held last Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. A. C. Walworth, on Centre street, Newton Centre, when Mrs. Helen Talbot spoke on the subject "The League of Nations an Adventure in Intelligence."

Mrs. Talbot spoke in part as follows: To one who has been present at other sessions of the Assembly of the League held in September of the present year marked a great increase in the practical importance of the League. It is evident that we are watching a great historic development. This was recognized by those participating in the drama. It is unfortunate for us—for the United States—that the true significance of the event has been obscured by minor incidents which seem still to be dwelling in the horse and buggy state of civilization. The fundamental fact is, of course, that the League of Nations embodies a new method of approach to problems of world concern. It is comparable in importance with the development of the scientific method. The scientific method applied to international affairs. There are two ways to approach a problem. One is the method of arbitrary will backed by force. That is the swashbuckling, romantic method. It never has worked in private life and it never will work in public affairs. The other is the scientific method—"Let us see what are the facts and what we can do with them." That is the League method, and it supersedes the alternative method—and must supersede it, because the problems of the world today are so difficult and so complex that the old method is unworkable. The old method never worked well, but in a world where organization was less complex and nations more self dependent, it was not as impossible as it is in the real world today. The League of Nations is not a solution of any problem—and it should not be judged by its solution of any given problem. It is a method of finding solutions. And it is the only method that will work. It is an organization that provided for continuity of conference, in the full light of publicity, upon matters of common concern. This method has two great superlatives over the alternative method of private diplomacy.

lad and provocative. Music will end the pleasant morning.

Newton Highlands Woman's Club

Announcement has been made by the Art Committee that the exhibition and tea scheduled in the Year Book for next Tuesday, has been indefinitely postponed owing to lack of adequate quarters in which to display the exhibits. With the erection of the new building, a suitable space for such demands, will be provided, and there is a possibility that the new building may be ready for a late Spring exhibit.

The concluding meeting of the Drama Class will take place Tuesday morning, the 8th, when Mrs. B. Walter Goddard will open her home for the members, and Mrs. Miriam Franc Skirball, Ph.D., will speak on Modern Dramatists.

Miss Eunice Avery, of Springfield, is to give the third in her course of Current Events lectures, Thursday afternoon, the 10th, the subscribers meeting in the Parish House of the Episcopal Church for this talk, which comes outside the regular Club day. The concluding lecture of the course, in April, will be given at a regular Club meeting.

Plans are under way—and delightful ones, too, perhaps it is superfluous, to add—by the Education Committee, for a children's entertainment, early in March, and as soon as perfected, will be made public.

Social Science Club

"The Coming of the Manchus" will be the subject of a paper by Mr. Peter B. Ferguson at the meeting of the Social Science Club on February ninth. Mr. Ferguson is a son of Mrs. John C. Ferguson of Pekin, China, a non-resident member of the Club. The hostesses at this meeting will be Mrs. William T. Rich and Mrs. Harriette W. Robinson.

Auburndale Woman's Club

The second annual "Better Acquaintance Tea" of the Auburndale Woman's Club will be held at the Club Lounge on Thursday Afternoon, February 10th. The Reception Committee directed by Mrs. T. C. Donovan and the Art Committee with Mrs. Chas. S. Grover, chairman, take this occasion to bring together, for better acquaintance, the new members of the Club. The officers of the Club will act as a Reception Committee, and Art Exhibit has been arranged.

Tea will be served and an opportunity offered to make friends of new acquaintances.

Newton Community Club

The Committee in charge of the next meeting of the Newton Community Club on February 10th, "An Afternoon with Dickens," promise many interesting things. They say "Mr. Pickwick and Mr. Wardle will be there to greet you, the arch-hypocrite Pecksniff and Sairy Gamp, Dick Swiveller and his Marchioness, Micawber and Betsey Trotwood; while many of the children whom Dickens loved to delineate will make their mute appeal to tears and laughter—beloved Little Nell, David Copperfield, the four little Kenwidges, Florence and Paul Dombey, Tiny Tim. "Get out those ancient volumes of Dickens, Club members, and you long since have consigned to dusty corners of the attic, and renew your acquaintance with some of these old friends, and on the 10th of February we shall give you a chance to meet them personally."

This will be an open meeting—all are invited, most cordially. With such promises of meeting face to face—and guessing who—old-time beloved friends, there hardly is needed more allure to beckon all Newtonites!

Newton Centre Woman's Club

Grace Morrison Poole will give the next in her course of Current Events for members of the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Thursday morning, February 10th, at 10:30 o'clock at the Club House.

The Education Committee offers the fourth in its series of Story Hours for the children of the village on Monday, February 7th, at 3:45 p. m. Mrs. Powers will be the speaker for the afternoon, telling stories suitable for children in the U. V. and VI grades.

The Department of the American Home has arranged for Club members to attend a "Demonstration Lecture on Cakes and Icings," to be given at the Modern Methods Kitchen, at Houghton and Dutton's, on Friday, February 11th, at 2:30 p. m. Mrs. Belinda Talcott, expert in the Modern Methods Kitchen, will give the Demonstration.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

"The Beauty that Lies in Hidden Things" is the subject of a talk, by Cora Stanwood Cobb, on Friday, February 11th, at 5:30 p. m. in Players Small Hall for the West Newton Women's Educational Club. Music will be furnished by the Juniors.

Newton Circle, Inc.

The regular meeting of the Board of Directors, Newton Circle, Inc., was held on January 28th. Miss Mabel Hull was elected to the Board of Directors. The Membership Drive is still in progress. Each member of the Circle is urged to request to secure at least one new member. A Bridge Party will be held on April 27th at the home of Mrs. E. P. Brown, 14 Washington street, Newton. All friends are respectfully requested to co-operate, and reserve the date; that if a party may be both a social and financial success. The proceeds will be used in furthering the local work.

The Annual Meeting and Luncheon will be held on April 28th, at the Florence Crittenton Home.

Benefit Shop

Men's clothes and children's clothes, dishes, books, and furniture, are in great demand at the Benefit Shop. "Will you look through your closets and give to the shop all you are not using? Have you some dishes that do not match your service or perhaps are slightly damaged but still usable? We can sell them all and the money will go to your hospital. If the children's shoes are getting too small send them to us for there are many little tots among our customers who can wear them. We wish we had some dolls for these same little customers. We have so many honest working men who are asking for working clothes you laid aside, clothes would be just what they need. We can only continue to succeed if you continue to supply the goods." This appeal, and that of the Newton Circle above, certainly deserve response, and Clubwomen may be trusted to see that they have it.

SCHOOL NOTES

Peirce School

On correlation with meal planning and food work in the eighth grade, Miss Eleanor Claire of the New England Dairy and Food Council, has given illustrated lectures.

Peirce School is to participate in the American Legion and Daughters of the Revolution awards.

The boys and girls of all the grades are enjoying the Bradley Book Shelf which has recently been added to the school library.

F. A. Day Junior High

Miss Grenier is certain that some hoodoo overshadows her. Last year she journeyed to Springfield to visit schools only to find on her arrival that they were closed because it was the coldest day of the year. Last week she was obliged to postpone her visit to West Hartford because she learned that the classes were not held. She succeeded in observing them on Monday, however, and returned with most enthusiastic reports of a town which harbors progressiveness and hospitality.

The Junior High is well represented at the course which is being conducted by Professors Copthorne and Rogers. Any one who can avail himself of the opportunity to study under these men should take advantage of it. From experience, we know Professor Rogers to be a man who is remarkable for at least three things; what he has read; how he presents his knowledge; and the examples which he gives, at a moment's notice, from every field of literature. His comments on modern books are refreshingly sane and straight from the shoulder.

The teachers at the Junior high were privileged to hear Dr. Francis Spaulding, of the Harvard Graduate School of Education, speak on Tuesday afternoon. His subject was "Individual Work" and he brought to it many interesting and worth while ideas—ideas concerned with the psychology of Intelligence testing and ideas about teaching in general. His talk was very carefully mapped out and even the most intricate windings of psychology became lucid because of his logical, clear headed thinking and method of presentation.

There was a general nod of approval when he said that nothing has any place in the curriculum unless it has a use in itself. The ability of training the mind and the imagination must be put into the discard. Then, too, he stressed the fact that if we are teaching the right thing the conduct of the pupils will be appreciably modified by what they have learned.

Dr. Spaulding possesses the verve and enthusiasm which makes anything he has to say inspire one either to immediate agreement or to a healthy controversy.

The Faculty meeting on Tuesday was suitably brought to a close with Tea in the Library. The hostesses were Miss Pratt and Miss Seale. Every one evidently enjoyed the luscious chocolate cake and other fixins." The Assembly on Wednesday was in charge of Mr. Rush. Mrs. Rush sang three songs in a very charming manner. Professor Jesse Davis of Boston University gave an informal talk on the forming of the right habits to lead to a sure success. He punctuated his talk with the Odyssey of one Stub. This life sounded as one boy said to us, rather like an Alger story but it was, nevertheless, a vivid example of what can be accomplished with right habits and a will to succeed.

Ralph Waldo Emerson School

The teachers of the Emerson, Angier, and Claffin Schools enjoyed a rare treat on Monday evening, January twenty-fourth, when they were entertained at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cobb on Richardson road, Newton Upper Falls. There were about sixty present including Miss Bragg and Mr. Griffin. Seated at small tables the party was served a delicious supper to which all did full justice. Between the courses Miss Tobin, accompanied by Miss Hamer, sang several charming songs, and Mr. Griffin also gave much pleasure with his vocal selections. After supper Mr. Cobb talked for an hour or more on his impressions of the English schools which he visited recently when he went to England and delegate to the National Union of Teachers' Societies which corresponds to our National Education Association. It was an interesting and instructive talk and the teachers deeply appreciate the kindness of their host and hostess in providing such a delightful evening.

These pupils in grades seven and eight have made a very necessary and for the honor list and their names are printed on the honor roll in their

Florence Owen of 36 Hollis street, Newton, who was graduated last June from the New England Conservatory of Music, at which she is continuing her studies, will give a complimentary song recital in Recital Hall, Wednesday evening, Feb. 9.

On Newton Owen's program will be two pieces by members of the Conservatory faculty: "Sweet wind that blows," by George W. Chadwick, director, and "Within the little house," by Charles Bennett. The aria, "Du Christ avec ardeur Jeanne baissait l'Image" from Berlioz's "La Mort de Jeanne d'Arc" and selections from Handel, Respighi, Donaudy, Weingartner, Meyer-Helsund, Richard Strauss, Messager, Hahn, Carpenter, Scott and Matthews will be included in a notable program.

THE NEWTON ARCHERS

Archers from Newton are demonstrating at the Sportsman's Show this week. Prominent among them are Dr. Paul W. Crouch of Newton Centre, Eastern Archery Association champion and ex-National champion, Miss Dorothy Smith of Newton Centre, National and Eastern Archery Association champion, Mr. Louis C. Smith, President of the National Archery Association, and Miss Ruth Brewer, Secretary-Treasurer of the Eastern Archery Association. The distance used for shooting at the Sportsman's Show is only 20 yards, a short distance that is never made use of outdoors and really not an easy distance because of its nearness. Mr. Philip L. Martin, chairman for the exhibit, and Mr. Edward W. Frentz, a committee member, are both experienced bowyers and fletchers as the many Newton Archers who use their tackle can testify. They have brought together a splendid display of ancient and modern archery tackle. Mr. G. C. Cradon Woolley of Newton Highlands, Secretary-Treasurer of The Newton Archers, has some of the excellent bow strings of his own make, in the exhibit.

D. R.

The annual meeting of Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R., will be held at the home of Mrs. Roland A. Thayer, 208 Homer st., Newton Centre, on Wednesday, Feb. 9th, at 10:30 o'clock. Members will enjoy a box luncheon together after the business has been concluded and are invited to remain for cards in the afternoon.

COLLEGE NEWS

By Harold P. Carver, N. H. S. '26

The old argument concerning the advantage or disadvantage of the fraternity system has caused much bitter feeling between college authorities and the founders of the system. Whether they are right or not, fraternities have in the American college of today a very definite place and fill it to a nicety. The fraternity groups are often accused of a variety of sins, such as "campus politics," or the gay social life, or the dilettante atmosphere that they create, but they have many helpful points. Behind the fraternity is the alumni who are always ready to aid, and equally as ready to criticize if the chapter is falling down in its standing or work. From this backing also comes the incentive to make good; to plan for after college life; and prepare oneself for the longer work-day life that is coming in the near future. The various fraternities also demand that a man go out for some one thing during his stay at college, and with the impetus gained by the enforcement of this rule, many men find their feet and make a greater success of college than they would have any other way. Besides the social opportunities it affords, the chapter gives a man a true conception of what life is really like, and what the actions of fellow men really mean. All in all the good done by the fraternity generally outweighs its evils. The fraternal organization is an involved one, taking into account two distinct types of chapters: the national chapters, and the local chapters. The national chapter is one that has chapters at a number of colleges, and has a national headquarters where the business of the individual bodies is carried on. The local groups are those that are found only in the particular college where the man joins them and as a result his friendships and ties are naturally limited.

There are many of the boys from Newton in one or the other type of fraternity and we will run over the list in order to bring light to the eyes of some of the already old and sedate brothers of past generations.

The first of the groups that we will mention is a national organization, Phi Sigma Kappa is one of the oldest bodies of its kind and is well established in the country at large. Under its aegis the following boys have elected to take their stand. At Williams, where the chapter is under almost complete Newton influence, there are no less than six men who hail from the city. In the senior delegation there is John DeMille of Newton Centre, whose feats on the track will remain in the memory of the Purple's adherents for some time, and William Phelps, one of the leaders of his class as well as being one of the officers in the fraternity. At present he is on the varsity swimming team along with his brother Charles, who is also a fraternity brother. Besides these there is Ellis Appleton, known more generally as "Ellis," and Matt Jones of Chestnut Hill, who was one of the substitutes on the football team. The last Newtonian residing at Williams who is a member of the society is Howard Fitts, a tennis player of ability who has won for himself considerable notoriety in such circles. At Dartmouth there is one member from Newton, Philip Rising. Phil holds the record in the javelin throw at his mercy, and is also on the football squad even if he is only a sophomore. This boy has done so well in his college course that he is one of the outstanding men of his class. At Brown there are two more members of the fraternity, one Roger Cummings that is a graduate, and Roger Case of Auburndale, who won his letter as a soccer player at Brown this year.

The only resident of Newton, who is in college at present, that is known as a member of Alpha Delta Phi is William Parks, the son of Dr. J. Edward Parks of West Newton. Bill is a freshman at the college of his choice, which is Williams, and was elected into the society this fall. He is a finished speaker and remarkably clever at any work connected with English literature.

The chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon has claimed five Newton men into its chambers. At Bowdoin three undergraduates, members, Stuart Stone, Harold Rising, and Winslow Howland. All three are excellent athletes with Stone and Howland excelling at hockey, although they both are members of the football squad. Rising is on the Bowdoin track team, and under Jack Magee's careful tuition he is coming along rapidly. The other members (from Newton) of this fraternity are at Amherst where the two Patrick brothers have chosen this body. Both Rowland and Loomis are on the hockey team, with Rowland playing regularly.

At Williams Richard Miller has chosen Delta Phi as his fraternal group. Dick was one of the most accomplished actors that ever graced the stage at Newton High School, besides being a remarkably clever student in all his studies. His work at college has been a success throughout with the result that big things are expected of him.

Another fraternity that seems to have a great attraction for men from Newton is Delta Upsilon. Under its colors are two men at Brown, two at Lehigh; two at Wesleyan, and three at Dartmouth. Ritchie Stevens is the treasurer of his house for the rest of the year, and Charles Consonide, one of the most prominent men at Brown, is in the chapter with Stevens. Consonide was one of the famous "Iron Men" whose playing ability electrified the nation this year. He is a prominent man in his class and has held office during his terms there at college. At Dartmouth the group originally belonged to a local chapter that petitioned the national organization of Delta Upsilon and was finally admitted at the convention last summer. Herbert Hansen, one of the really literary men in his class, is the president of the chapter, besides being editor of The Dartmouth, the daily college paper, and a sports writer for The Boston Transcript. With him is (James) "Peanut" Willing of Waban whose golfing ability is marked, and Edward "Chuck" Darling, plunger and general funny man. At Lehigh there is a senior Charles Barba, and a freshman, Chester Pratt. The two men are leaders in their respective classes, for Barba is one of the most popular men on campus, since he is standing well in his classes, and is the leader of the track team and Pratt is treasurer of his class, has played on the football team, is now on the wrestling squad, and is expected to make track in the spring. The two Chadwick brothers are fraternity brothers at Wesleyan. The elder, Walter, is teaching in the Tower Hill School in Wilmington, Delaware, while Howard is still struggling with the first pangs of semester examinations. Howard was one of the real leaders in literary work at Newton last year and can be expected to carry on at college in this line of endeavor.

With the advent of the championship struggle between Vermont and Middlebury for the ice title in the Green Mountain State, it is of interest to note that Philip Perry is the last defense of the Vermont team. Having won renown as a natator he reversed the ordinary process and is now doing well on the frozen surface. His goal tending was one of the pleasing features of the game, in which Vermont fell before the attack of the more experienced team.

Belmont School without the Martin brothers would be much as duck without water, for the boys have placed this small school well up in the realm of sports. Kenneth, the older, was the star football player, and now continues by winning the major portion of the honors on the ice. He is easily one of the best skaters around Boston, and with this ability he has allied the most accurate of shots. There is no question of his being the chief reason for the rise of Belmont School in hockey circles.

Exeter was delighted to learn of the sudden defeat of the Andover team at the hands of the Harvard 1930 sextet, but they found troubles of their own, for Coburn Classical held them to a drawn game. As usual the two Newton boys were in the line-up all the time. Tom Gilligan shot one of the three goals while Ben Crosby was the most aggressive of the wings feeding the puck to the forwards with his customary sacrifices of self. Gilligan played alternately at defense and later at his new position, wing.

The Williams swimming team has had a very successful season thus far. It now is pointing towards the big meet when all the New England colleges participate for the championship. William Phelps is still holding his position on the relay. This position has been his for three years, and he is recognized as one of the most dependable men in the event that the college has had.

The only reason that the name Holbrook has not appeared in the Harvard freshman line up is that the office and Guy have some minor difference to patch up before the red head can take the ice again. He is keeping in condition by playing with various clubs formed mainly of Harvard ineligible and hopes that after the midyear marks are published that he will be in condition both mentally and physically to take his place on a strong sextet.

Howard Weeks, the star dash man at Cornell University, has had an awful lot of hard luck come his way. Practically certain of his letter this season he was unfortunately enough to be taken ill with pneumonia. For some time considerable doubt was held for his immediate recovery, but now he seems to be on the mend, and his good care should be around again shortly. His running days are over, at least for this year, a fact that will give Jack Moakley something to worry over, and also a fact that will take some of the edge off the 'Triangular meet, as far as Newton people are concerned.

The Allen school basketball team won a 16 to 6 victory over the Wilmington high school five last night in the Allen gym. Neither team seemed able to locate the basket and Four events have been run off in the boys' 1000-point athletic contest at the Y. M. C. A. In the class under 110 lbs the events have been the 50-yard dash, 5 potato race, running broad jump, and 75-yard dash. 23 boys have a total of 200 points or more which is considered an average showing the following are at the top of the list: W. Floring, 383 pts; G. Gulian, 345 pts; L. Martin, 325; C. Kittredge, 308; P. Mackin, 306; and P. Ross, 304. In the class over 110 lbs the events have been the 50-yd dash, 5 potato race, 5 lb shotput, and pull-ups. The following seven boys lead the list: S. Yobaccio, 280 points; J. Spaulding, 278; G. Gatchell, 265; F. Becker, 229; Herbert Woods, 214; and D. Barton and M. Tasker, 200 points each.

Belmont School without the Martin brothers would be much as duck without water, for the boys have placed this small school well up in the realm of sports. Kenneth, the older, was the star football player, and now continues by winning the major portion of the honors on the ice. He is easily one of the best skaters around Boston, and with this ability he has allied the most accurate of shots. There is no question of his being the chief reason for the rise of Belmont School in hockey circles.

Exeter was delighted to learn of the sudden defeat of the Andover team at the hands of the Harvard 1930 sextet, but they found troubles of their own, for Coburn Classical held them to a drawn game. As usual the two Newton boys were in the line-up all the time. Tom Gilligan shot one of the three goals while Ben Crosby was the most aggressive of the wings feeding the puck to the forwards with his customary sacrifices of self. Gilligan played alternately at defense and later at his new position, wing.

The Williams swimming team has had a very successful season thus far. It now is pointing towards the big meet when all the New England colleges participate for the championship. William Phelps is still holding his position on the relay. This position has been his for three years, and he is recognized as one of the most dependable men in the event that the college has had.

The only reason that the name Holbrook has not appeared in the Harvard freshman line up is that the office and Guy have some minor difference to patch up before the red head can take the ice again. He is keeping in condition by playing with various clubs formed mainly of Harvard ineligible and hopes that after the midyear marks are published that he will be in condition both mentally and physically to take his place on a strong sextet.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

Just think of it! There was a time in Massachusetts when by a person was prevented from living beyond his means. At least no one was permitted to wear extravagant dress unless it was known that he or she possessed a sufficient amount of money to warrant it. The other day I was thumbing a volume of the Colonial Laws, enacted in 1641 and known as "the Body of Liberties," and there found many interesting passages.

Under the caption "Apparel," I discovered this:

"Although several declarations and orders have been made by this General Court against excess in apparel, both of men and women, which have not taken that effect which were to be desired, but on the contrary; we cannot but to our grief take notice that intolerable excess and bravery hath crept in upon us usually amongst people of mean condition to the dishonour of God, the scandal of our profession, the consumption of estates and altogether unsuitable to our poverty, and although we acknowledge it to be a matter of much difficulty, in regard of the blindness of men's wills, to set down exact rules to conform to all sorts of persons; yet we cannot but account it our duty to commend unto all sorts of persons the sober and moderate use of those blessings, which beyond expectation the Lord hath been pleased to afford unto us in this wilderness, and also to declare our detestation and dislike, that men or women of mean condition, should take upon them the garb of gentlemen, by wearing gold or silver lace, or buttons, or points at their knees, or to walk in great boots; or women of the same rank to wear silk or tiffany hoods, or scarves, which though allowable to persons of greater estates, or more liberal education, yet we cannot but judge it intolerable in persons of such like conditions."

"It is therefore ordered by this Court and authority thereof that no person within this jurisdiction, nor any of their relations depending upon them, when visible estates real and personal, shall not exceed the true and indifferent value of two hundred pounds, shall wear any gold or silver lace or gold or silver buttons, or any bone lace above two shillings per yard, or silk hoods or scarves, upon the penalty of ten shillings for every such offence, and every such delinquent to be presented by the Grand Jury. * * * It is therefore ordered that the Select Men of every town, or the major part of them, are hereby required from time to time, to have regard and take notice of apparel of any of the inhabitants of their several towns respectively, and whosoever they shall judge to exceed their ranks and abilities in the costliness of their fashions in any respect, especially in the wearing of ribbons or great boots (leather being a scarce commodity in this country) lace, points, silk hoods or scarves, the Select Men aforesaid shall have power to assess such person or persons so offending in any of the particulars above mentioned in the county rates, at two hundred pound estates, according to that proportion that such men use to pay to whom such apparel is suitable and allowed, provided this law shall not extend to the restraint of any magistrate or public officer of this jurisdiction, their wives and children, who are left to their discretion in wearing of apparel, or any settled Military Officer or Soldier in the time of military service, or any other whose education and employment have been above the ordinary degree, or whose estate have been considerable, though now decayed."

I submit that the above may today be regarded as severe and possibly an interference with the personal liberties of individuals. Our own city fathers would probably protest if the law required them to observe the dress of their constituents and report cases of extravagance and "four flushings." But I wonder if the framers of this ancient statute were not after all, acting for the best interests of the dear people. Personally, I am ready to acknowledge them a set of "wise old birds."

It is always interesting to observe human nature. Often it causes us unrestrained mirth. At other times we are apt to get considerably peeved and possibly very angry. Without prejudice, however, I wish to submit the latest example of indifference that has come to the attention of more than one reader of this column who has seen fit to speak of it to me. With the streets still covered in part with piles of snow that border the sidewalks by considerable width, we find every here and there a householder who has shovelled or had shovelled for him a wide path from the sidewalk through the drift and extending to the street. Of course he intended that any automobile or truck which happened to stop at his door on some errand or other should make use of the cleared space. It is nothing more or less than good-housekeeping if not good citizenship.

Very well then, there appears an automobile which has an errand at some other house where no such path has been provided. The auto driver selects the cleared space that most suits his convenience and there parks his car, maybe for several hours. It may seem trivial but is it? And has one the right to "kick" when he finds the ample path he has provided for himself choked by somebody's car?

Then there is the man who drives his car at a similarly cleared spot in front of the white post on the car line and there leaves it. This act compels all people boarding or alighting from the trolleys to climb over a pile of snow or run around to the next path. I think such offenders should have their names posted on billboards and would urge such a procedure if I were not of the opinion they might find such notoriety more pleasing than penalizing.

These are days when one who says anything kindly of a public utility corporation is quite likely to be charged with the ownership of stock in that enterprise or with being as the Boston politicians would bluntly put it, "on the payroll." Now I do not know that I plan to say anything in commendation of the telephone company, but if there are those who think I am stockholder or in its employ let me say that I am a mere subscriber and take what I can get in the way of service like all other subscribers.

I suppose I have as much trouble as anybody else in getting wrong numbers or being cut off in the middle of a conversation. At any rate I wish to have it understood that I do not "stand-in" and that what I say is not influenced by the presence of dividend checks or coupons on my desk.

To me these charges of "listening-in" on the part of the company were the most amusing. I suppose I would not have been so impressed had I not accompanied, not so long ago, a group of state officials who were making an inspection of a number of telephone exchanges. I contend I was an impartial observer. But at that time there was photographed on my mind, there to remain, a picture of the skill with which calls are handled. I gazed at several of the "board," as they are called, in utter astonishment. It seemed as if there was a thousand calls at once. The young women were occupied every second, or fraction thereof. Out of the great complexity of lights and plugs and wires a service was being rendered to the subscribers. I do not yet understand how the operators withstand the strain.

But how absurd to think that there would be any opportunity to "listen-in." To do so would be to completely interrupt if not utterly demoralize all service. I know that there may be those who read this and remain unconvinced but I am sure that if they were to drop-in and see what goes on in a telephone exchange they would change their opinion.

This habit that some people in public life have contracted of making all kinds of charges and substantiating them is not only ridiculous but dangerous. So far the telephone company is concerned it may not be vital to the welfare of the people, but when the assertion is made and broadcasted by sensation-seeking daily newspapers that unfit food is served in state institutions the danger is indeed grave. For one I deplore it, but like the rest of the so-called conservative members of our populations I am helpless.

If a politician in all sincerity decides that it is his duty to remedy conditions in state institutions why does he first seek extensive publicity? It may be that he feels that this is the one way of getting results more promptly. It is also a way of getting votes, although such a thought may not have entered his mind. (I pause to clear my throat.)

Those who are mentally or physically ill or for some other cause are under the care of the commonwealth are entitled to the best. The State of Massachusetts spends $12,000,000 annually for their treatment. It leads all other States in its merciful regard of unfortunates. Then there are in these institutions men and women who from a high sense of duty are taking care of patients and striving their utmost, for very small monetary reward, to perform their duties to the best of their ability. I should like to write at length some time on this phase of institutional management and maybe I shall.

But there is another body of citizens who suffer from these unfounded charges. I refer to the relatives and friends of patients. They are no doubt more greatly shocked and disturbed than the patients or doctors. When a member of the household or a friend enters a public institution the family or those closely associated with the patient like to think that the State is doing everything in its power to alleviate the suffering and to make happy as far as possible the afflicted one.

How must they feel when they read that "rotten meat" is being forced upon "the unfortunates in our public institutions?" It is little short of tragic. It so happens that I am able to count among my best friends the heads of departments controlling the mentally ill and tubercular hospitals as well as the correctional institutions. I know them and their staffs to be men and women of the highest character, earnest in giving the best care possible to patients and careful at all times that everything within reason is being done. I hope that if anybody else is prompted to assail our institutions with charges of this kind they will make sure of their facts and not by loose talk cause much unnecessary suffering.

Well, as long as we cannot get in a Florida, trip this winter we'd like a ride on a double-runner. We'd even be willing to drag the thing back up hill for a second slide.

ALDERMEN MEET

Routine Matters Under Consideration Last Monday Night. Jurors Drawn for Lowell Court

The aldermen held a regular meeting Monday evening, all the members of the Board being present except Alderman Favinger. Although a couple of hearings were scheduled on petitions for gasoline filling stations developed against them, and not over a dozen citizens were present in the gallery.

Pole locations were granted to the Edison Company on Pleasant street, near Crescent, Thornton street near Pearl, and attachments on poles on Walnut and Washington and Walnut streets.

Attorney James A. Waters, appearing for Albert T. Stuart, asked that his client be given a permit for a gasoline filling station at the corner of Beacon street and Chesley road, Newton Centre. He stated that the neighbors at this location favor an attractive station, which would set back from the street, and afford an open corner, in preference to a block of stores with the collection of rubbish in the rear, such as usually found where stores exist. Mr. Waters read a list of names of Chesley road residents who favor the granting of the permit for the station. He also said that the President of the Newton Centre Improvement Association, as an individual, is not opposed to the establishment of a station at this locus, and that the Improvement Association has not manifested any objection to the granting of the permit. Answering a question put by Alderman Pratt, Mr. Waters stated that there will be two outside pumps at the station, and the house now standing on the locus will be moved onto Chesley road. No objection was registered.

Joseph J. Murray, representing the estate of P. A. Murray, asked for a permit to erect an automobile sales and service building at 210-220 Washington street, Newton. He stated that this building will be of modern, fire-proof construction and will replace the old wooden buildings now on the site, which are fire-traps. He told the aldermen that his firm has been in business at this location for 42 years, that the same line of business has been conducted on this site for 70 years, and that the change is made necessary because of modern conditions. The old buildings were adapted for the horse-drawn vehicles on which work was done in past years. The new building is required because of the different service given on automobiles.

A. F. Crosby of 84 State street, Boston, stated he appeared for Joseph Grogan, owner of the Brook Street Garage, who purchased this building two years ago. Mr. Crosby said he raised objections to the granting of a permit which would allow the Murray estate to erect a building which will cover the entire lot owned by the estate because if this will be done, the garage building owned by Mr. Grogan will be seriously depreciated in value. The garage has nine windows on the side adjoining the Murray land, and when Grogan bought the building, he had no idea these windows might later be rendered useless by the erection of an adjoining building. Mr. Crosby told the aldermen that there is a passage-way in the rear of the present Murray buildings which has been kept open for 35 years, and over which his client believes the public has a right of way by prescription. Asked by Alderman Earle "Who had paid the taxes on the alleged passageway?", Mr. Murray replied that for over 40 years the taxes had been paid by P. A. Murray and the P. A. Murray estate. City Clerk Grant read a letter signed by a number of neighbors of the Murray estate, favoring the granting of the permit.

The hearing on the petition of Henry C. Bourne for a permit to erect a gasoline filling station at 2268 Washington street, Lower Falls, was not held. Chairman Hawkins of the License Committee informed the Board that the petitioner had not sent out the notices to abutters, as required by law. (Continued on Page 3)

THE RAINBOW REVUE

Enjoyable Entertainment Given at Newton Centre

"The Rainbow Revue," one of the most elaborately produced amateur shows ever seen in this city, was enthusiastically welcomed by over a thousand people on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, February 3d, 4th and 5th, at the Newton Centre Woman's Club House.

The Revue was given by the Activities Committee of the Club, Mrs. Geo. J. Murphy, director. On the tables were dolls dressed in exquisite paper costumes in the rainbow colors. These dolls were given to the table holders; Mrs. Cyrus T. Schirmer, with a large committee, deserve much thanks for this work, which made the hall so attractive.

The entire book for the Revue was written, staged and produced by C. Hassler Capron, of Newton Centre, instructor in stagecraft and lighting at Bradford Academy. The words and music of three numbers were written by Louis V. Hafermehl of Newton Centre and Lewis A. Harlow of Milton. The chorus dances, and the Spanish and Italian solo dances were most original and were thoroughly trained under the direction of Hazel Sands Welch.

The Show consisted of a prologue, two acts and eleven scenes, in which were introduced spectacular lighting effects, original costumes, clever dancing and acting. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Francis opened the prologue and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stuart in the comedy number, ending with a snappy Charleston, scored a tremendous hit.

Miss Lorraine Liggett and Mrs. Janice Liggett Baldwin did a skating dance in costumes of silver cloth lined with turquoise blue satin, high boots and fur trimmed hats which, with a black velvet curtain background, was a lovely number, danced to the "Blue Danube."

WINTER RALLY

Boy Scouts Give Interesting Exhibition at State Armory

The largest gathering of parents, friends and guests in the history of Newton, attended the annual Winter Rally of Boy Scouts held at the West Newton Armory, Wednesday evening. The program of the evening arranged by the committee in charge was some shorter than the programs of previous years due to the overflowing attendance and the desire of the officials to conclude the evening's entertainment at an early hour.

The first call was sounded at 7:25 p. m. sharp, followed by the assembly. The reports of the Scoutmasters and officers, in charge of the troops, were next on the program. The troops were inspected by members of the American Legion and Scout officials, including: Commander Julius Ramm of the Newton post; Vice Commander Donald M. Hill; Comrade Emerson Stoddard of the G. A. R.; Scout President William T. Halliday, and Philip W. Carter, member of the Executive Committee of the Scouts.

Five tenderfoot scouts composed the team in the first contest held during the evening in an exhibition of knot tying which was interesting and instructive. Several other interesting and educational contests were given by the youths of the various troops including Semaphore signaling, Morse signaling and Blanket stretching. These were followed by the demonstration of several troops of Friction Fire, "The Making of Our Flag," Bridge Building, Field Signaling, and Pyramid Building.

Address were made by John M. Woodbridge, Jr., recently elected Commissioner of the Boy Scouts and by William T. Halliday, the President of Norumbega Council, Boy Scouts. President Halliday briefly sketched the Boy Scout movement and referred to it as a National movement, State movement and a City movement, each working in co-operation with the other. He stated that there were over 800,000 scouts in the United States and at the present time Newton has about 400 boys enrolled in their troops. It is planned to in- (Continued on Page 4)

THE KIWANIS CLUB

Attends the Centenary Church in a Body

Members of the Newton Kiwanis Club assembled at the Auburndale Club Sunday night and marched in a body to the Centenary Methodist Church, where they listened to an excellent sermon by Rev. Earl E. Harper, pastor of the church, and Vice President of the Kiwanis Club. The title of the sermon was "The Angels Kitchen," and it was based on a famous painting by Murillo, which hangs in the Louvre at Paris. This picture depicts the kitchen where toiled Diego, a cook and porter in a Spanish monastery who like Gareth, Tennessee's famous character, "Wrought all kind of service with a noble ease, that graced the lowest act in doing it."

"Murillo," said Rev. Harper, "Saw the dignity and divinity of ordinary work, well and willingly done; he saw that the man who does such work is not common, but a partner with God in working out his divine purpose." Mr. Harper explained the details of the painting—Diego, pictured as happy and contented, because he realized, that even in his humble capacity, he served God as well as though he were monk, priest, or Pope. Assisting Diego in his kitchen, Murillo had visualized angels performing the menial tasks of drawing water, preparing the food, and arranging the dishes. Looking in through a doorway at this wonderful spectacle were three men—the head of the monastery and two richly attired nobles, who stood awed at the manifestation of God's partnership with the humble, honest servant at the monastery.

In prefacing his sermon, Rev. Harper took as his text, "God hath shewed me that I should not call any man common." He spoke of the simultaneous visions experienced by Simon Peter and Cornelius at Caesarea and Joppa. "Peter and Cornelius," said Rev. Harper, "were racially and religiously separated by immeasurably spiritual leagues. But they both found their way in a vision to God; and there they met. And, whenever men of different races, creeds and faiths, of different trades, professions and crafts, of different political, social and economic viewpoints, have a common vision of God, they will find themselves welded together in a common bond of sympathy, friendship and accord. All superficial distinctions and differences will count for naught, and they will stand firm on the one fundamental fact of mutual love, respect, and brotherhood."

He praised the great work being done by such social service organizations as the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions clubs, in breaking down mistrust and suspicion among men, and bringing them together to work for the common weal. He quoted Walt Whitman's poem—

"I hear America singing,
The varied carols I hear."

BUSINESS MEN MEET

Newton Business Associates Hear Mayor Childs, Alderman Weeks and Other City Officials

The monthly meeting of the newly formed Newton Corner Business Associates was held Tuesday evening at the Hunnewell Club. Seventy-one members attended. Present as guests were Mayor Childs, President Sinclair Weeks of the Board of Aldermen, Police Chief Bernard Burke and Fire Chief Clarence W. Randlett.

During the dinner, Eddie King, Newton's popular tenor, lead the singing. Following the repast, President Harold Moore called on Albert Walker, secretary of the Associates, for the reading of the minutes of the preceding meeting. He then introduced as the first speaker, Mayor Childs.

Mayor Childs congratulated the members for organizing, commenting that such gatherings promote friendliness, good-will and understanding, smooth out wrinkles and eliminate jealousy. He said, "Times have changed. Competition is keener." He felicitated the fathers who were present with their sons, partners in business enterprises. The Mayor stated that the great expense faced by Newton in constructing and maintaining its public schools, precludes many needed improvements from being made. He asserted that schools are most important, as our boys and girls are the biggest assets. He stressed the need of educating the young properly to mold them into good citizens. "The cost of crime in this country today," said the Mayor, "is bigger than the cost of government." He urged the business men present to give the young men and boys working for them the impression that employees who wish to advance, must do so by merit and industry, rather than by having promotion handed to them, without it being deserved."

Alderman Weeks said "That in forming the association, Newton Corner business men have done much to promote their interests. Much trade will always go from Newton to Boston, but considerable of the trade now given to Boston merchants, will come to Newton, if local business men will take proper measures to develop their particular lines. The increasing congestion of traffic in Boston, will cause persons to prefer to trade at home, if proper inducements are offered."

Mr. Weeks told his audience "that the business of the Board of Aldermen is to find the money asked for by the Mayor and heads of departments. In trying to be economical, the aldermen must give displeasure to many who want various improvements. Many things are needed. The school building program is tremendous. A new city hall and War Memorial should be built as soon as feasible. The city can afford to do, just what the taxpayers want to pay for, but we do not want to have the tax rate run away from us." He reminded those present, that business men realize well what taxes amount, as they pay double taxes. He praised the members of the different Boards of Aldermen on which he has served, stating that these men were honest and conscientious. He complained that the people of Newton do not give the aldermen proper sympathy and support. Little interest is taken by the people in municipal affairs. At the last municipal election, but 28% of the registered voters went to the polls, and but 2000 voters attended the last State Primaries in Newton. Citizens of Newton should not be so indifferent. Alluding to the fact that he had been a member of the committee which determined the existing traffic regulations, Mr. Weeks stated that this Committee had endeavored to make regulations which would meet with the approval of the Newton Corner business men.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

SEND OPPONENT FLOWERS

Much has been said about the intense rivalry existing between Newton and Brookline high school athletic teams. It is true there is a great deal of rivalry but that rivalry is the friendliest of rivalries that is known to exist. When members of a track team are thoughtful enough and interested enough to send flowers to a member of a rival team who is recovering from an operation made necessary by an injury received in competition between the two teams it is worthy of more than passing mention. That is just what the Newton high track team did for "Teddy" Cole of Brookline who was accidentally injured last Saturday in the second Newton-Brookline track meet.

At the start of the 600-yard run with Cole expected to be a point winner, two Newton and two Brookline runners were bunched at the first bend. One of the Newton runners accidentally stepped on Cole's heel, spiking him. Had the Brookline man stopped he would have been all right but he gamely tried to continue and when coming down off the bank the strain imposed on his heel caused the tendon achilles to snap. He was later taken to the Deaconess hospital where an operation was performed to join the broken ends together. This was successfully done and Cole is getting along nicely although he will not be able to run again this season. It is one of the most peculiar accidents that ever happened.

The first of the week the Newton team sent a beautiful bunch of roses to Cole with best wishes for his recovery and Coach Enoch and several members of the team visited him personally.

Further indications of the friendly rivalry existing between the two schools were manifested at the Thanksgiving Day football game last fall. Coach Tom Hines of Brookline made the remark afterwards that the game was one of the hardest fought games he ever witnessed yet after each play members of both teams helped each other to get up. In other words both teams put themselves out to be courteous towards their opponents.

MEET MEDFORD TODAY

Newton and Medford high school track teams will stage a dual meet at Medford this afternoon. Under the present agreement Medford will come to Newton next year. This meet will be Newton's severest test thus far this season and Medford will be the favorite.

The meet may be the means of gaining new distinction for Ted Hammond in the high jump as Chalmers of Medford, who is capable of clearing 6 feet, will give him the best competition he has had this year. Hammond cleared 5 feet, 11 inches at the interclass games and with someone to push him he may set a new record for himself. The fight for third place will be equally as good as Ebelhars of Newton and McGuire of Medford are on a par with each other. Medford will come pretty close to cleaning up in the shot put although Gatchell may grab off a single point for Newton. On the other hand Newton should reverse the field in the broad jump and take the first two places. The field events therefore are about even.

As the result of the existing condition of the Newton high school athletic treasury Mr. George E. Shattuck of the faculty has been appointed finance officer. The appointment was made by Director Brownell and Mr. Palmer after the discussion last week at the meeting of the advisory athletic committee. Mr. Shattuck will have charge of the finances and will be provided with ways and means of taking care of the deficits which occur. At present he is making a thorough investigation of financial matters and is formulating plans to overcome the present difficulties.

It is estimated that about $1300 above receipts will be necessary to finish the athletic program as planned for this year. Director Brownell has stated that he would feel badly to have to curtail any part of the athletic program with the resultant loss of the initial cost of getting them started and the loss of interest which would follow making it more difficult to arouse enthusiasm for the sports dropped if it eventually was possible to renew them.

TRACK TEAM GETS REVENGE

The Newton High school track team came through the return meet with glory, winning last Saturday in a blaze of glory, winning by a score of 51 to 26 on the home track. The week before, the Brookline team won the meet staged on their track 41 to 27. As the grand total of points scored in the two meets was to decide the winner, the orange and black team was thus adjudged with 78 points against 67 for Brookline. The final outcome of the total score was uncertain until the 1000-yard run, the final race with the exception of the relay, was over. Newton was forced to concede first place in this event to Barrie of Brookline and in case the relay should also go against them they needed second and third in the 1000 to win out by the scant margin of a point. Consequently this race held considerable interest. Barry, as anticipated went out in front but McCruden challenged him and at the start of the eighth lap went into the lead. On the final lap however Barrie uncoiled a pretty sprint which carried him into the lead and past the finish line in first place. McCruden was second and McManus third giving Newton the meet by at least one point even if the relay was lost. But the relay team won in a great race to put Newton 11 points ahead. Badaracco of Brookline turned over a lead of three yards over Roman Cole of Newton but Malcolm Reid, Newton's second runner, staged a wonderful two laps, passing Beck on the second time around and handing Brewer of Newton a two-yard lead. Brewer and Captain Wally Fullerton increased this lead to about fifteen yards over the remaining two Wealthy Town relay men, Werner and Smith. Captain Wally Fullerton was the outstanding performer of the meet with 11 points in the 30-yard dash, 35-yard hurdles, and broad jump, which were the first three events on the program, in addition to running at anchor on the winning relay. He was closely pressed in the 30-yard dash by Hagenburger of Brookline who was a scant foot behind him at the tape with Kollmyer right behind in third place. Record pushed Fullerton in the first heat of the hurdles but in the finals Cole of Newton nosed the Brookline lad out for second place in a driving finish. In the broad jump Fullerton had things all his own way with a leap of 10 feet, 1/4 of an inch while Ted Hammond fell short of a tie with Levin of Brookline for second place by one-eighth of an inch.

By agreement the 300-yard run was run in two heats with the three fastest boys winning places according to the three best times. The first heat was won by Cole of Newton with Bierstow of Newton and Badaracco of Brookline second and third respectively. The second heat which was won by Brewer of Newton and Reed, Newton, second with a Brookline runner third, was the faster heat and gave Brewer first place, Cole, second and Reed, third. The cleanup for Newton in this event was most unexpected and was the turning point of the day. The orange and black by taking 29 of the 36 points in the first four events had wiped out Brookline's 14 point lead of the previous meet and gone into the lead, never to be headed.

Hammond won the high jump as expected with a leap of 5 ft. 7 in. Ebelhars of Newton was forced to take a tie for second place when Steele of Brookline cleared the bar at 5 ft. 6 in. on his third try. The visiting jumper was exceedingly lucky as he hit the bar but failed to dislodge it. Brookline took the first two places in the shot put, with Gatchell of Newton taking third. Fitts' heave of 40 ft. 3 in. was a foot better than Myerson's.

Brookline suffered a stroke of misfortune in the 600-yard run when Teddy Cole, who was expected to be among the point winners, was spiked on the first bank and forced to quit. Kollmyer reached the initial bank first but on the next straightaway Record of Brookline jumped him and kept the lead for three laps. Kollmyer challenged him and seeing his chance took the lead which he held. Werner of Brookline landed second place over Record in a beautiful finish.

The summary:

SWIMMERS WIN

The Newton high school swimming team annexed its third straight victory of the season on Friday afternoon by defeating the Boston English high school merman 39 to 23 in a meet full of good competition. Lloyd Osborne of the Newton team was the star with first places in the 100-yard, 200-yard, and 400-yard backstroke swims. Captain Merrill of the orange and black who has been ineligible for competition swam well in his first meet of the season, winning the 40-yard swim, taking second in the 100-yard and swimming on the winning relay. Casey was the best of the opponents with firsts in the dive and the breaststroke.

Newton won the relay by about six yards with Durrell, Soule, and Merrill gaining two yards each on their opponents while Lodge held his man even. The 400-yard backstroke was the closest event of the day with Osborne touching a scant foot before Shinney of English.

Casey won the dive hands down with a lead of more than 20 points over Green of Newton. The Boston boy who was one of several members of the team that also represent the Boston Boys' Club in swimming, recently won third in the N. E. championship dive. His form was nearly perfect as his total of 84 points out shows. A running front 1 1/2 somersault, running flying dutchman, and a front dive with a full twist were his optional dives and all of them were accomplished with wonderful form.

The summary:
Relay—Won by Newton (Lodge, Durrell, Soule and Merrill). Time, 1m. 29.3-5s.
20-Yard Breaststroke—Won by Casey, English; Brewin, English, second; Stratton, Newton, third. Time, 29.1-5s.

Dive—Won by Casey, English; Greene, Newton, second; Magill, English, third.

FINE RECORD

The Newton Centre Squash Tennis Club team in Class B of the Massachusetts Squash Racquets Association team competition continues to set a dazzling pace. Last Saturday the local five scored their sixth clean sweep in seven starts to bring their score to a record mark of 34 wins and 1 loss for a percentage of 971. Their latest victim was the Union Boat Club and the victory clinched the championship in Class B for the Newton Centre team which now has a nine-game advantage over the Harvard Club which is in second place. With but one more match to be played to complete the schedule the advantage is more than sufficient to insure the title. The Newton Centre team is composed of R. E. Stuart, W. Rice, Jr., E. S. Wales, A. R. Holt, and R. C. Bray.

In Class C the Newton Centre team, which won all five matches from the University Club last Saturday, bettered its position, going into a tie with the B. A. A. team for second place. The Union B. C. was defeated by the B. A. A. and its margin of leadership is now reduced to but one game over the Newton Centre and the Unicorns. There is, therefore, a chance that the Newton Centre team may finish on top in this class as well as in Class B. Chestnut Hill was defeated by Walkover, 4 to 1, and the Newton Club by the Lincoln's Inn team, 3 to 2 in the other local team matches in Class C.

SPORT NOTES

In the annual junior week hockey game between Williams and Cornell last Friday the Purple six emerged victorious over Captain Hoyt's Ithaca outfit by a 4 to 2 score. Bill Blaney of Waban was the star of the game. The Williams player tied the game with his goal in the final period and then brought victory to his team by scoring twice in the overtime session. Dwight Shepler played right wing for Williams and Phil Hoyt held down his usual berth at centre ice for Cornell.

On Saturday the Williams team had little difficulty in shutting out the Syracuse University team 5 to 0. The Purple tallied four times in the first session with Blaney counting once.

Saturday afternoon the Dartmouth varsity hockey team defeated by a 5-0 score, a picked-up team composed largely of members of the University club. Dick Rogers figured in the scoring when a teammate picked up a pass to count in the first period. Ted Lennard in the net and Clem Coady at right defense were unable to stop the collegians rushes.

The Harvard freshman six suffered its first defeat in three years last Saturday when Everett of the Exeter hockey team pulled victory out of an apparent tie by caging a long shot 30 seconds before the call of time for a 2 to 1 victory. Tom Gilligan showed his worth to the prep school team by knocking the count shortly after the Crimson had taken the lead in the third period after the two teams had battled without a score in twenty-five minutes of play.

Ed Wilson of the B. A. A. track team with a handicap of 15 seconds took fourth place in the mile walk at the B. A. A. games last Saturday. Wilson took the lead for the greater part of the first half mile but from then on the scratch men were too much for him.

Fred Onthank of Chestnut Hill was the second runner on the Boston University relay team which defeated both New York and Maine Universities over the mile route at the B. A. A. games Saturday night. The Terriers time was 3m. 34s.

John Duane ran third for the Boston College relay team which was defeated by Holy Cross at the B. A. A. games.

In the relay race between the B. A. A. and the Millrose A. A. which the local won, Tom Clausen ran at anchor for the Hub four.

George Owen and his University club hockey team gave the Yale varsity its worst defeat of the season 7 to 1 Saturday night at New Haven. The former Harvard star was at his best and Yale must have thought that he had earned the clock back to the time when he was the Crimson leader. He scored four goals by brilliant unassisted dashes down the ice and short shots from scrimmage. Clark Hodder and Horace Cole played part time at their usual positions. Dick Vaughan, Yale centre ice, playing against Owen was no match for the former Newton and Harvard star.

Last Saturday R. E. Stuart of the Newton Centre Squash Tennis club won his second round match in the Mass. individual squash racquets championship by defeating his teammate, R. C. Bray, in four games, 15-9, 13-15, 18-17, 18-17.

Captain Fullerton of the Newton high school track team is one of the best track athletes in greater Boston. He is also a handy man to have around. It was his work that pulled the orange and black through to victory over the Brookline team in the two meets. Watch him tomorrow in the meet with Medford at Medford.

Last Saturday night the Newton Y. M. C. A. basketball team lost to Quincey "Y" quintet by a score of 31 to 66. Fancher and Olinto led for the winners with 22 and 18 points respectively while Daniels with 11 points and Hardy with 10 were Newton's best.

The "Y" seconds were forced to forfeit their game to the Quincey seconds because of the lack of eligible men which forced them to use one ineligible player. The actual score of the game was Quincey 23—Newton 19.

Tuesday night the Y first team lost to Somerville 27 to 53 when Bennett of the victors went on a scoring rampage and tallied 29 points. Kohler played best for Newton scoring 15 points. The Y seconds won their game through the efforts of Gray and Daniels who scored 15 and 12 points respectively. The final score of this game was 41 to 22.

The "Y's" next game will be played on Saturday night, Feb. 19th, when Lowell will be the visitors in a Two-State league affair. The second team will be pitted against some first class game in the other contest.

The senior class basketball league at the Y. M. C. A. completed its first round last Tuesday night when the Waltham five won its third straight game, 17 to 13, with the Watertown five as the opponents. In the other game Newton defeated Brighton 21 to 5. Considerable interest is displayed in this league and the remaining two rounds will undoubtedly bring closer competition in the race for honors. Waltham is still undefeated in its three contests. Newton is second with two victories and one defeat. Watertown third with one win and two losses while Brighton with three losses sits at the rear.

Next Tuesday night Newton will play Watertown and Waltham will play Brighton in the first games of the second round.

The Sunday school basketball league is developing into quite a race. Watertown pulled out an unexpected 37 to 35 win over the Needham Congregationalists last Friday night and is now leading the league with five victories in six starts. In the other game the Elliot five won an easy victory over the Watertown Baptists 32 to 8 while the Nunecons and the Central Congos remained idle. Second place is disputed by three teams, Needham, Elliot, and the Nunecons, with four wins and two defeats each. Watertown is in fifth place while the Centrals have yet to annex their first victory. Tonight the games will be: Nunecons vs Watertown Baptists and Centrals vs Needham Congos. The results of these games will probably put both Newtonville and Needham one step nearer the top of the ladder.

A week from tomorrow the Newton Y. Business Men's volleyball team will take on the Boston Y team in a return match at the Hub association. The local team is out to revenge the defeat at the Boston team's hands last month.

This week completes the third round in the Y business men's volleyball league. The Wildcats, C. Crawford Captain, are leading with eight points, a margin of four over the Owls and Pirates which are tied for second while the Patterson's Pups are occupying the cellar berth.

On Feb. 19th there will be a wrestling meet at the Cambridge Y. Newton will enter men in several classes which will consist of open matches in the 135 lb., 147 lb., and 160 lb. classes and novice matches in the 118 lb. and 128 lb. classes. The following men will compete for Newton: Francis Cassidy, 135 lb.; Joe Arsenault, 147 lb.; Gus Carlson, 160 lb.; and J. Vachon, H. Vachon, Chapin and F. Patterson.

On Feb. 21st the Y matmen will wrestle the Lynn team in a meet to be held on the local floor.

Tuesday afternoon at the high school track there will be a city meet and relay carnival in which boys in the 7th, 8th, and 9th grades of the grammar schools, the junior high school, and high school freshmen will compete. of the avenue is not constructed to handle heavy automobile traffic and it would cost $700,000 to reconstruct it. A conference had been held with the Street Commissioner and Manager Hanson of the M. & B., and it was agreed that the city will round the sharp corner now existing and an electric light pole will be shifted. This will satisfy the railway officials.

Alderman Hodgdon, who stated he raised the issue because he considered the newly appointed Traffic Committee, of which he is a member, is being slighted, thought the matter should have been handled by this committee rather than by the Claims and Rules Committee. He also expressed the opinion that the north side of Commonwealth avenue should be reconstructed for automobile traffic, even though it would entail an expense of $700,000. No other alderman agreed with Mr. Hodgdon, so he withdrew his motion.

Alderman Madden explained the proposed changes in the Zoning Ordinance on which a hearing will be held before the Claims and Rules Committee on Wednesday evening, February 23d. At present the aldermen may grant permits for one-family dwellings in single residence zones to be converted into two-family dwellings. The proposed amendment will extend the privilege to garages, stables and other buildings not used as dwellings. The second change relates to temporary buildings. Under the ordinance at present, the Building Commissioner may grant a permit to erect a temporary building for the period of one year. An extension for another year may be granted with the approval of the Mayor. The proposed amendment will give the aldermen authority to prolong the use of temporary buildings still more. In fact they would become permanent buildings. It is probable that considerable opposition will develop to this proposed change, as it would tend to nullify to a considerable degree the Zoning Ordinance.

Alderman Hodgdon seemed in a belligerent mood. Not satisfied with attempting to "start" on the alleged usurpation of the duties of the Traffic Committee by the Claims and Rules Committee, he took another crack at the Claims and Rules Committee when Chairman Madden of that committee reported favorably on the petition of Hugh Waters for a permit to change a single residence at 130 Newtonville avenue into a two-family dwelling. Mr. Madden remarked "that the Waters petition had met with the approval of the Building Commissioner." Mr. Hodgdon asked "Does the Claims and Rules Committee vote in favor of anything the Building Commissioner approves?" Otherwise I think the committee should further acquaint the aldermen with its reasons for approving of the Waters petition." Alderman Madden explained that Waters had purchased an old, dilapidated single dwelling, improved it and wanted to convert it into a two-family house. This petition was granted.

Alderman Bail asked regarding the payment of $18.88 to the Noyes-Buick Company, and $20 to W. C. Brown for damages to automobile tires. Alderman Baker explained that the damages were caused by pipes which had been left on a street by employees of the Water Department. Alderman Gallagher further explained that after the pipes had been left on the street, a snowstorm had followed, concealing them.

Alderman Bail was again in evidence when he was responsible for increasing the size of the committee on Claims and Rules from five to seven members, one for each ward. This action followed after Alderman Madden had explained that it would be necessary to renew the order passed last year, whereby hearings on changes in zoning are heard before the Claims and Rules Committee, rather than before the whole Board. Mr. Bail contended, and rightly, that each ward should have a representative on the committee when it assumes this function.

Mr. Alfred Gruhn of Belmont were the men soloists for the entire show. The "Moonlight Fantasy" was one of the most attractive numbers in the show. Miss Penelope Ridgway was the Lady in the Moon and Miss Dorothy Barton, the Lady in the Moon. The "Rainbow Revue" was a novelty number in which six of the chorus, dressed as peanuts, stepped out of large peanut shells, and six clever salt shakers did a dance, salting the peanuts, which brought them to life in one of the cleverest dances of the evening. Among the other numbers was the "Ballet of the Pansies," the "Picture Frame" and "The Chaparral," a one-act play by Helen Willard Howard (President of the Professional Woman's Club), in which Mr. and Mrs. Stuart did a very clever piece of acting. The final scene of the revue was "The Land of Luce," in which over two hundred and fifty yards of lace were used in the setting and one hundred and fifty yards in the gowns. In this number were three solo dances: "Spanish Lace," by Agnes Hartig; "Italian Lace," by Mildred MacDonald; "Gold Lace," by Sylvia Riley; also "Rainbow Lace Jazz," by Penelope Ridgway, Elinor Newton and Ruth Pearson.

During the intermission of the performance, Attorney General Arthur Reading brought a greeting from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and congratulated the club on the splendid community work which it is doing.

NEWTON CORNER BUSINESS ASSOCIATES

been assured that he would not be called on for a speech, but he consented to answer questions, and a barrage of them were hurled at him. The Chief explained about the proposed new Fire Alarm System which will allow for much needed alarm boxes in the newer sections, will eliminate bell alarms except on second or general alarms, thus preventing much interference by careless motorists. Asked as to the best location for the new quarters for Engine 1 and Ladder 3, Chief Randlett answered "that the site of the old armory at Washington street and Centre place, has been adjudged as suitable for this purpose."

This subject, in connection with the "Trade in Newton," and stated that all his personal and department purchases are made in this city, whenever possible. He said "Automobile traffic problems are the most troublesome confronting police today. Traffic regulations at Newton Corner are ideal today, except for that compelling autos to circle the building of the Trust Company." To end this unpopular regulation, he has asked for an appropriation for a traffic tower. A Nonchalant squint at the "Trade in Newton," as superior to hand signalling by traffic officers. Certain changes in the parking regulations will be necessary when the tower is erected, and autos allowed to make a left turn instead of circling the bank building.

He said that more beacon lights are needed in Newton, and told his listeners that he intends to start the primary and secondary street system in the city. This, he said, in successful operation in most western cities, compels motorists entering or crossing main traffic streets, to bring their cars to a stop. He told of the many requests for policemen to guard crossings where children traveled going to, or coming from school, and of his inability to meet many of these requests, despite the fact he sends every available day officer on this work. Answering questions and suggestions, he stated his opposition to using school boys as traffic officers near schools, and his inability to employ part-time, or pensioned officers for this work.

The members of the association wrote on blanks, whether or not they favor a change from 30 minutes to one hour, of the parking limit in the restricted areas at Newton Corner. This information will be used by the Traffic Committee of the organization, which will appear before the Traffic Committee of the Board of Aldermen tonight.

SEASCOUT SPRAY

Newton no longer faces the problem of taking care of her older boys as this week Norumbega Council, Inc., of the Boy Scouts of America in celebrating the seventeenth anniversary of Scouting, also celebrated the solution of this problem. Seascouting has been the real solution and for a year and a half Seascouting has been tried and tested for this purpose. Any boy fifteen years of age or older is eligible to become a Seascout whether he has had previous Scout training or not.

More than twenty boys have been reaping the benefits of this branch of the Boy Scouts in which they are called a Ship instead of a troop. The first Ship meets every Friday evening at its headquarters at 958 Watertown street, West Newton. Among the various courses given are those pertaining to Boy Scouting, Navigation, and Boat Building. The Seascouts last year bought two sailing dories in which to get actual experience on the water. This year they are building two "ABC" class sailing skiffs to be raced this spring in the Emmons Cup Race on the Charles River Basin.

The first awarding Court of Honor is to be held tonight at 8 p. m. at the headquarters and an open house, to which the public is invited, will mark the celebration of Seascout and Boy Scout Week. Only two boys, Leslie Dutton and Kenneth McMullin, are to be privileged with special ratings of Ordinary Seascout at this time. Mr. J. A. Mitchell, the New England Regional Seascout Executive, will be present to tell in detail about the cruise of the "Black Duck" last summer and also make plans for the trip this coming season.

Through the courtesy of the management of the Community Theatre, there was shown a Seascout film at every performance this week in an attempt to familiarize the public with this new and growing branch of Boy Scouting. It is hoped that anyone interested further, will communicate with Mr. Richard H. Brown, Postmaster, either at headquarters or by telephone at Hancock 0830.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Appeal of the City of Newton, acting under the authority of Chapter 133 of the Acts of 1924 of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, will hold a public hearing at City Hall, West Newton, on Monday, February 28, 1927, at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon, for the purpose of acting on the petition of Allan P. Wilson, of Waltham, Mass., for the right to use a manufacturing building now located on Rumford avenue and Riverview avenue in the Auburndale District, Ward 4, of the City of Newton, for the manufacture of paints, varnishes and japans.

LEWIS H. BACON, Chairman, Board of Appeal.

DEATH OF MRS. HARGRAVES

Mrs. Dora Hargraves, a highly esteemed colored woman, died Feb. 3, at her home, 129 Hicks street, West Newton, after an illness of a week. Mrs. Hargraves was taken ill at the home of Mr. O. R. Hartell, Lowell avenue, where she had worked for fifteen years.

The deceased had been a faithful member of the Myrtle Baptist Church, West Newton, where services were held Sunday afternoon.

GIRL SCOUTS

Review of Their Activities The Past Week

On Wednesday evening, February 9th the Newton Girl Scouts Officers' Association, attended the mid-winter rally of the Norumbega Council of Boy Scouts, in place of their regular monthly meeting. Fifteen of the junior officers served as ushers in charge of Lisbeth Leighton, a Golden Eaglet of Troop 15. The boys have done the Girl Scouts a number of good turns this year, and the girls were glad to be able to express their appreciation by this bit of service. The ushers were Elsa Brandt, Troop 15, Eleanor Burnham, Troop 14, Marion Frost, Troop 14, Florence Hills, Troop 16, Ruth Lapham, Troop 10, Mary Miller, Troop 13, Margaret Merritt, Troop 18, Judith Peterson, Troop 13, Ethel DeMille, Troop 13, Marjorie Whitaker, Troop 14, Catherine Carrick, Troop 21, Betsy Walworth, Troop 13.

Troop Items

Troop 19, our new troop in the Lower Falls, was registered on Tuesday evening, February 1st. Twelve new scouts were invested by Captain Warren, and after the investiture ceremony the girls played scout games for the rest of the evening. Miss Edith Monro is the Captain of this Troop and Miss Vera Holder is first lieutenant.

The third Brownie Pack in Newton is being formed in Nonantum at the Stearns School. Miss Spein of the Wheelock Kindergarten School, is the Brown Owl of this Pack and Eleanor Hodges and Charlotte Douglas of Troop 20 Newton, are the Pack Leaders.

Troops 2 and 3 are working hard for their hostess merit badge, and each gave a tea this week for the examiner, Mrs. Redfield, who is taking the place of Mrs. Marshall.

Troop 14 of Waban celebrated their second birthday on Friday evening, January 28th. At the end of supper a birthday cake with two candles on it was brought in as a surprise for the troop. During the evening the girls played a number of games and then watched a play which the social committee had prepared. After the play the troop assembled in a Good night circle, and a cheer was given for Mary Stephan, the chairman of the social committee, before the meeting closed with taps.

Because of the large number of scouts in Troop 5, the Junior Troop in West Newton, Miss Doris Lovell, Captain, a new troop has been organized which will take the girls in the 5th and 6th grades while those in the 7th and 8th will remain in the original troop. This new Troop which will be No. 25, held its first meeting on Tuesday of this week. Thirty-four scouts were transferred from Troop 5, and 6 new girls joined bringing the membership up to the maximum of 40 set by the council. West Newton now has three troops. Troop 5-32 scouts, Miss Lovell, Captain, meeting at the Congregational Church on Tuesday afternoons. Troop 25 with 40 scouts meeting the same afternoon in the Unitarian Church with Miss Freeman as temporary Captain and Troop 15, the Senior Troop with a membership of 25 scouts, Miss Freeman, captain, and meeting in Unitarian Church on Friday evenings. A total of 97 scouts for West Newton.

The Metropolitan Division Girl Scouts held a Get-Together meeting on Tuesday of this week at the Club Rooms of the Repertory Theatre, Boston. Luncheon was served at 12:30 after which Mrs. Moseley, the Division Commissioner, conducted the business meeting; then the meeting was turned over to the Girl Committee and was conducted as the Girls Conference was conducted. Miss Ethel DeMille of Troop 13, Newton Centre, Chairman of the Conference had charge of the meeting and a number of the subjects which were included in the Conference program were reported on. It was a most interesting meeting. Newton was represented by 14 Captains and Council members.

"THE MISSIONARY IDEA"

At the Newton Center Unitarian Church last Sunday morning, the Minister, George Lawrence Parker, made an interesting report on his recent visit to Toledo, under the general subject in "The Missionary Idea in the Liberal Church." He reported that he found Toledo a busy and interesting city with a progressive spirit. Its wonderful Art Museum stands second in its records of attendance among the Museums of our country. Mr. Parker visited it on a Sunday afternoon and found it literally crowded with people, young and old, rich and poor, even children showing great pride in it and deep appreciation of many of the pictures. A large annual income made by the will of the late Mr. Libby enabled the Museum soon to start Music and Art Schools of the very finest grade. The Unitarian Church where Mr. Parker preached for the three Sundays is in the center of the residence district of Toledo and is known as one of the most beautiful and most helpful Churches. In architecture, its style is that of the Church at Audubon, Weston. The Minister, Dr. Horace Westwood, is absent on a preaching mission and Mr. Parker took his place for three Sundays. He lectured on Russia at the Annual Meeting of the Church and on Modern Poetry at a meeting especially called for the purpose. He visited the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, meeting there Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Adams, formerly of Newton Highlands, and Miss Alice and Helen Fellows, students at the University, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Fellows of 142 Homer Street.

A. L. AUXILIARY

The regular monthly meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held in Dennison Hall, Newtonville, Feb. 16th, at 7:30 o'clock. Judge Advocate Mullen of the State Department will talk on the Membership drive. A Valentine Whist party will follow the business meeting.

KIWANIS CLUB ATTENDS SERVICE

Those of mechanics, each one singing his, As it should be, singing blithe and strong. The carpenter singing his, as he measures his plant or beam; The mason singing his, As he makes ready for work.

The delicious singing of the mother, Or of the young wife singing at work, Or of the girl sewing or washing, Each singing what belongs to her and to none else."

"What a wonderful picture," said Mr. Harper. "Mechanics, carpenters, masons, farmers, mothers, housewives, homeworkers—all these, each supplying a necessary part of a wonderful harmony."

He referred to the two poems by Tennyson, "Locksley Hall," and "Locksley Hall Sixty Years After." The first of these poems, Rev. Harper explained, was the story of a man who left home and all, in quest of some abstract ideal to be found far away. This spirit of discontent, this wanderlust, is common among men because it seems to offer a sense of escape from the drudgery of life. But men must come back to work, to responsibility, to burdens, and cares incident to our daily walk and way.

"While in the second poem, 'Locksley Hall Sixty Years After,' there is not the literary purity of the first poem," said he, "the greater truth is there. The highest ideals, the truest adventure, the noblest character, are to be achieved in the week-day, work-a-day life of the community. Every effort to escape from responsibility for a fair share of that work, is sheer moral cowardice, and social treachery. The salvation of man depends upon that work being done well, done consistently, and done with a will. More so, the outworking of the purposes of God depend upon that. No spiritual kingdom will ever be realized in the heart of man, nor in the world of man, until man catches the vision of the divinity of his daily task, and works at it as a co-worker with God."

OPENS FINANCE CAMPAIGN

Friends and members of the local Y. W. C. A. attended a reception at the home of Mrs. Loren D. Towle on Monday evening, February 7th, to inaugurate the maintenance campaign which is now under way. The affair was well attended by representatives from the various Newtons, and a fine show of enthusiasm was aroused. In the receiving line were Mrs. Towle, Mrs. Ralph C. Henry, president, and Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, one of the newly elected directors. The meeting was called to order by the president, who introduced Mrs. Palmer as the first speaker. Mrs. Palmer delivered an inspirational address, setting forth the spirit and purpose of the Association. Miss Anne L. Leathers, executive secretary, then told of the work and finished with an appeal for each to do her share in putting the campaign over. The details of the campaign were outlined by Mrs. Drake, chairman of Finance; Mrs. Harriman, in charge of initial gifts; and Mrs. Braham, who is managing the general campaign. $1800 was reported as already subscribed out of the $9,767 needed.

The Newton Association is making its appeal independently this year to the citizens of Newton, after three years of joint campaigning with the sister organization of Boston.

The type of work which the Association undertakes makes a strong appeal to all who are interested in work for girls. Its program, like that of the Girl Scouts, is eminently a constructive one. By providing residence, cafeteria and recreation for girls and women who come among us to live and work (as the Newton Y. W. hopes to do some day); by offering physical, educational, recreational and spiritual training for all classes of girls in our social life, it fosters a spirit of good fellowship and enrichment of life which does much to add to the welfare of the community.

Because Newton is a scattered community, composed of many distinct villages, the Y. W. C. A. is prepared to undertake extension work, and to send its secretaries out to organize groups of girls wherever such a need exists in our city. Already several such opportunities have come to its notice, and plans are being made to increase the work.

The program cannot be effectually carried on, however, unless the budget is subscribed. The Association, therefore, earnestly hopes that all public-spirited citizens of Newton will rally to its support and help it carry on this good work.

Cheques should be made payable to the Newton Young Women's Christian Association and mailed to 251 Washington Street, Newton.

NEWTONVILLE IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Newtonville Improvement Association was held Friday evening, February 4th, at the home of its president, Mr. J. C. Irwin, 43 Highland avenue.

An extended discussion was held of street lighting, good and bad, in the several parts of the village, and steps were taken toward co-operating with the city and with the lighting companies, in regard to installation and better maintenance.

Small local playgrounds for young children were advocated, to decrease the hazards of playing on, and of crossing streets of the way to playgrounds.

A sub-committee reported on the early-morning nuisance of empty sand and gravel trucks on certain streets, and was instructed to continue its work in this matter.

The notification of residents of the present location of fire alarm boxes was brought up and it was voted to bring this necessary matter to the attention of Newtonville residents.

The principal business on the slate was the cleaning up of the unsightly back areas of certain stores near Newtonville square, which in defiance of the city authorities have been a village eyesore for some time. Also, steps were taken to appear at City Hall hearings to prevent undue encroachment of the business districts into some parts of the purely residential sections.

He was in business in Watertown thirty-five years, retiring in 1913 and was very widely known and highly respected. There should be some way by which the residents of various parts of the city can be protected from repeated attempts to establish gas filling stations in their vicinity. Time and time again the city government refuses such permits, when the whole neighborhood protests. After a few months, another petition for the same thing is presented, necessitating another effort on the part of the neighborhood to oppose the permit. When refused, still another petition is filed within a short time, and again, it is necessary for the neighbors to make another trip to City Hall, or to allow the impression to be made that the opposition has materially lessened, whereas as a matter of fact, the opposition is as strong if not stronger than ever, only the people have become weary of these repeated onslaughts and believe that their interests will be protected by the aldermen. Some method should be devised so that a matter once refused should not be again presented during that aldermanic year.

We trust the good people of Newton will not become needlessly agitated over the immediate prospects for a new City Hall. With a school program calling for $1,500,000 and with the imperative necessity for an up-to-date fire alarm signal system, a new fire station at Newton Corner and other equally important matters pressing and a borrowing capacity of less than $500,000, it is evident that financial considerations will inevitably postpone action on a new City Hall. Incidentally we wonder just how any residents of the city actually visit City Hall during the course of a year.

Now that the old building on the Capen estate at the corner of Washington and St. James street has been torn down, it is an excellent opportunity for the city to either widen St. James street at this dangerous point, or to establish a building line so that the city government may not be handicapped in the future. Do it now.

We are glad to note the great success of the Bishop's Crusade. We need this sort of spur to our spiritual life in every denomination. Let the good work continue.

Officer James Goddard deserves the encomiums of our readers for his courageous act in stopping an automobile with a drunken driver.

LADIES NIGHT

Last evening was ladies night at Fraternity Lodge of Masons and there was a good attendance at Temple Hall, Newtonville. Graham McNamee the well known announcer was unable to be present on account of illness and Mr. Milton J. Cross of the National Broadcasting Co. took his place. Mr. Cross has a fine tenor voice and entertained his audience with a half dozen songs besides telling many humorous anecdotes about his experience as announcer. Dancing followed. Mr. George Kellar was chairman of the committee in charge.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

A rather interesting bill affecting city elections in Newton has been filed by Representative Hollis and assigned for hearing before Cities next Tuesday. It provides for a statement containing the age of the candidate, residence in Newton, educational qualifications, offices held, business or professional experience, military or naval service, and prohibits any religious or political affiliations or reference to other candidates. It further provides that the statements shall be embodied in a circular to be sent to every voter 72 hours before the election by the City Clerk.

A bill was heard this week by State Administration to allow the state to accept a portrait of the first auditor of the Commonwealth, the father of the late Burt Green Wilder, of Newton.

Another interesting hearing was held this week on the bill to allow Sunday sports for which an admission fee may be charged. This matter will probably come before the people next year on a referendum.

Compulsory jury service for women was also debated this week with strong arguments presented on both sides of the matter by the 300 women who were present. Jury service is a live question in this state, evidently.

crease the movement in Newton and provide for a large number of boys who are anxious to enroll in the Boy Scouts and receive the benefits offered by the movement. President Halliday described Norumbega Council, Inc., and referred to it as a "live, working organization, sound financially, but needing support from year to year." "The week-end camping grounds," near Dover, called "The Ohio," consists of thirty acres, with eight cabins at present and three more in immediate prospect," stated President Halliday. He predicted, that in a very few months the Boy Scouts of Newton would have a membership of 600 and other cabins would be erected in "The Ohio." He asked for the support of the citizenry of Newton and pointed out that Scouting should be an all Newton and Community movement and not a hobby for a few. In very few words he pointed out the benefits of Scouting to the youth of today and advocated the expansion of the movement throughout the city. Members of the Girl Scouts of Newton acted as ushers in a most satisfactory manner.

REAL ESTATE

John T. Burns & Sons, Inc., report that Andrew J. McNeil has sold to Thomas E. Young the new colonial residence with two car garages situated at 246 Woodland road, Auburndale, valued at $20,000.

Burns and Sons also report that Everett Gould of Providence has purchased four lots of land on Oakwood road, Auburndale, on the Hardy Estate, the grantor being T. M. Dillon. Mr. Gould is erecting four artistic single houses. The lots contain about 6,000 sq. ft. each, and the value on the four lots is $8,000.

Oliver and E. Bourne, Trustees, have conveyed to Frank S. Lane the single frame dwelling together with 9,000 sq. ft. of land situated at No. 12 Woodbine street, corner of Auburn street, Auburndale, valued at $9,500.

THE ELKS HOTEL

K. J. Lowry, the manager of the new Elks Hotel, is one of the busiest men in Boston with the multiple duties that always attend the opening of a new hostelry, and it was difficult to find him at a time when he could talk without being interrupted every other minute regarding some business. In fact the following statement from him was obtained only after following him from the basement to the roof of the new building.

"To me," said Mr. Lowry, "one of the most pleasing features of this hotel, and one that is certain to be appreciated and patronized by the public, is the Cafeteria. Boston is perhaps the best city in the East for this popular form of restaurant and more people are daily becoming converted to the Cafeteria form of self-service."

Although we have been open but two weeks we are now serving an average of 1300 meals daily in the Cafeteria. Its proximity to the theatre district makes it a popular place for amusement lovers and, as we are open until midnight, many return after the play is over for a light lunch before going home."

An inspection of the Cafeteria was then in order and one is pleasantly surprised at the tasteful decorations. The entire room is done in old Spanish manner with vistas of light at either end giving the impression of distance beyond adobe walls—the skyline being brought into brilliant relief by the use of indirect lighting. Beyond doubt it is the most beautiful eating place in the East.

Situated on the second floor of the building, the ball room is decorated in relief, in the color scheme of blue, rose and old gold. Architecturally the design is of the Adams period. The room is illuminated by eight large crystal chandeliers. The stage curtain is of heavy old rose velvet, trimmed with old gold.

The seating capacity is 2500, 500 of which are in the balcony, where the permanent individual seats are heavily upholstered in blue leather. The 2000 seats on the floor are removable leaving ample space for 1500 couples for dancing. The parquet floor inlaid with glass light finish provides a dancing surface second to none in the city.

A completely equipped motion picture booth with the latest in projection equipment is an integral part of the ball room. A $50,000 Wurlitzer concert orchestral organ of the latest type is a novel feature.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Horace M. Walton of 279 Linwood avenue, Newtonville, quietly observed their Golden Wedding Anniversary on Sunday, January 30th. Mr. and Mrs. Walton were married January 30, 1877, at Haverhill. Mrs. Walton, whose maiden name was Anastasia McAvoy, was born in Lawrence 77 years ago and moved to Haverhill when two years old. Mr. Walton, who was born in Haverhill 74 years ago, spent his early years at Bradford.

The couple came to Newton in 1885 when Mr. Walton started his duties as Supervisor of Music in the Newton schools, a position he filled until his retirement in 1923. They resided during their first year in the city at Newtonville, then moved to Newton Corner, where they lived for 12 years. Then they returned to Newtonville and for the past 27 years have lived at their present address. Mr. Walton served as a member of the Board of Aldermen from Ward 2 during 1924 and 1925. Few persons in Newton are better known than he, and few teachers in the Newton schools made more friends among the pupils whom they instructed.

They have three daughters, Miss Mella Walton, who resides with her parents, Miss Katherine Walton and Mrs. Ruth Taylor, both of Douglaston, Long Island, New York. Mrs. Taylor has two children, Mr. and Mrs. Walton had made no plans for an observance of their 50th wedding anniversary and were joyfully surprised when Mr. and Mrs. Taylor and Miss Katherine Walton arrived from New York on the night of January 29th. They were further surprised by the receipt on the following day of many beautiful floral gifts from friends.

Both are remarkable active for persons their ages, Mrs. Walton performing the household duties in a large residence. Mr. Walton paid a tribute to her efficiency as a housekeeper when he related that the dishes used at the dinner on the day of the Golden Wedding, were those used by them when they were first married. A generous sized portion of their wedding cake had been preserved, and was served at the dinner on January 30th.

HEARING ON 30 MINUTE PARKING

Tonight at City Hall the Traffic Committee of the Aldermen will hold a hearing on the matter of extending the time of parking in the restricted areas at Newton Corner from 30 minutes to one hour. There is a decided difference of opinions among business men at Newton Corner on this question. Some are strongly in favor of the 30 minute restriction, while others argue for an extension to an hour, claiming that the 30 minutes limit keeps many persons from trading at Newton. They contend that Waltham and other places draw trade because motorists can park for longer periods than are permitted at Newton Corner. The proponents of the 30 minute limit contend that if the parking privilege is extended, fewer customers will have the opportunity to park cars in the business section, and will go elsewhere. They state, that with few exceptions 30 minutes is sufficient.

AUBURNDALE CLUB

On Monday evening of this week the Membership committee and Board of Directors held a dinner meeting at the Club House. Richard O. Walter, chairman of the Membership committee, acted as host and Master of Ceremonies, both festive and routine. An excellent dinner was followed by an informal conference at which individual reports were made by members, plans discussed, and additional names assigned. With the advent of 1927 the Membership committee started a drive for seventy-five new members. Fifty new or former members have already been admitted. The new "Family Membership," which extends the privileges of the Club to all the members of one household, is proving very popular. Mr. Walter and his committee are to be congratulated on their well organized and effective team work. A third dinner meeting is scheduled for next Monday evening.

Junior High School Notes

We may be merely expressing our own opinion but we wish that the Scouts would have more National weeks that necessitate the wearing of their uniforms to school. There is something so trig and business like about the regalia. As Mrs. Browning expresses it, we feel a "sliding thrill" as we watch the representative youth of the nation.

Lately we have been living the role of a wandering spirit—attending the opening exercises of many classes. We listened with awe and some degree of comprehension, to IC while they recited—as is their daily custom—the twenty-third psalm, the Lord's prayer and the Allegiance to the flag—entirely in French!

The Daytonian has just come out. As usual, its cover is attractive and its pages are full of interesting news, jokes, and well written stories. One Sanborn has shown her prowess in two fields this week. On Wednesday she served delicious cake of her own making in the library. The celebration came prior to the making out of marks by the teachers so the sandwiches, coffee, cakes and chocolate cake were called "rank" sustenance.

Proving her supremacy in the culinary art with her food, she showed on Wednesday that she is a dramatic coach of no small ability. The Junior Players put on a one act sketch in which various incidents in the life of Abraham Lincoln were depicted. The parts were taken by Elmer Keith, Edwin Halliday, Kendall Stiles, and Philip Dolan. Harriet Bergonzoni was mistress of the ceremonies and Florence Grethe, Genevieve Parquette and Molly Owen recited bits from Lincoln's speeches.

Miss Lougee is taking a course in Junior High School Administration with Professor Jesse Davis of B. U.

Hyde School Notes

Miss Green's fifth grade has had a record of perfect attendance for two weeks.

The children of Miss Green's class have recently enjoyed a lantern lesson on Norway.

A new note of interest is the organization of a class of 30 in instrumental music under the leadership of Mr. Spaulding, director of instrumental music.

On Tuesday of last week a hockey game was played between the two fifth grades with a score 14-15 in favor of the New Hyde. The regular hockey team has played the following games: Bigelow 2, Hyde 1; Angier 4, Hyde 5; Pierce 1, Hyde 3; Mason 1, Hyde 0; Burr 0, Hyde 1. Hyde School was honored in the "Old Ironsides Contest" by the youngest prize winner, Prescott Downer of the fifth grade, who submitted a poem on the subject offered, "What Lesson Does Old Ironsides Teach." Young America, "received two tickets for the film picture, and also a prize of five dollars.

CHILD DROWNED AT BOYD PARK

Joseph Doyle, 4, of 8 Derby road, a new street just over the Watertown line near Boyd park, was drowned Monday afternoon in Laundry brook, which runs through the park. Boyd Park is located on the site formerly occupied by Boyd Pond, which was drained about 30 years ago and converted into a playground. Each winter the brook is dammed at the Morse street end of the park to provide skating for the children of the vicinity.

Monday afternoon the Doyle child disappeared, and his mother, who feared he might have fallen into the brook, notified the Watertown police. They searched all the vacant houses in the vicinity, and later joined by the Newton police, started dragging the brook. Not meeting with success, the assistance of the Metropolitan police was requested, and these started dragging the Charles near the Watertown bridge. The Newton Street Department was notified, and the temporary dam at the Morse street end of Boyd park was removed, allowing the flooded area to be drained. The body of the child was discovered as it floated along under the bridge with the rushing water.

Thursday a patriotic assembly was held at which time Mayor Childs delivered a most interesting and inspiring talk. Patriotic music by the school consisted of the singing of "America" and "America the Beautiful." Recitations were also given of the Civic Creed, Safety Pledge, and Gettysburg Address. Plans are made and rehearsals are in process for a Washington and Lincoln Entertainment to be given on February 18. Miss Abbott's boys of the A class are to present the play, "Seward's Polly" which in brief was the purchase of Alaska during Lincoln's administration. Miss Merrill's sixth will show the dancers prevailing at the time of the adoption of the Constitution and those that would face the country if it were overthrown. This is presented in the play, "How the Constitution Saved the Nation." Recitations will also be given from the seventh grade.

Mason School

Capt. Paul Barry and his squad of hockey players are to be congratulated for the fine showing they have made in the city league this winter. The final play-off for the city championship came last Saturday morning with the Hyde School boys as opponents. Many parents were present at Crystal Lake for the game promised to be both interesting and hot. A well aimed shot by Butler in the last few minutes of play decided the game, and Mason emerged the victor by a scant 1-0 score.

Mason has played six league games this season, and has won all of them. In fact Bigelow has been the only school that was able to score upon the champions. The total opponents' score is two as against Mason's total of 34 for the season.

The boys are anxious for post-season games, and one has been scheduled with a Milton Academy team at Milton. Milton Academy has a league among the lower classes, and the stars of these eight league teams will be picked to play against the Newton Centre boys. Perhaps other games will be arranged, dependent, of course, on weather conditions.

The Mason pupils were pleased that Albert Scott of Grade eight won in the Big Brother Spelling Bee. Another member, Peggy Van Housen of grade seven, stood second.

A seventh and eighth grade drawing exhibit was held recently in Room 11. There were excellent drawings and paintings, dainty linen sofa pillow covers with painted designs, and leather work such as bill folds and purses. It was a splendid showing.

The fifth and sixth grades have been enjoying beautiful lantern slides of Europe which were loaned by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Stearns School

The kindergarten and first grades of the Stearns and Eliot held their annual Mothers' Day on Thursday afternoon, February 3rd. The large number of parents present exemplified the splendid co-operation between the home and the school. The program given by teachers, pupils, and friends was well arranged and much credit should be given the Broughton sisters for the perfecting of the entertainment. Miss Ida of the kindergarten department, accompanied by Mrs. Charlotte Broughton, Winchester, gave several vocal selections, while Miss Mary, violinist, played with her usual sympathetic and artistic touch. Miss Foster, from the New England Food and Dairy Council, gave an illustrated talk on Nutrition and the care of children of pre-school age.

The sand table Mrs. Goddard's room is worthy of mention since it represents Nonantum. The children have been enthusiastic in arranging every detail and have omitted none. The ice-locked Charles, the principal streets, private residences, public buildings, stores, factories, playgrounds, railroads, telegraph and telephone are all included.

Many new books have been added to our libraries but none are more popular than Carpenter's World Travels or Familiar Talks About Peoples and Countries. It is safe to say that during the last few weeks many an adventurous youth has travelled with Carpenter thousands of miles and the experience and information gleaned in this unusually fast traveling has been infused so rapidly into the geography and history books that many of our teachers are thoroughly convinced that we are keeping up with the times.

The Stearns School Mothers' Club entertained parents and teachers on Monday evening, February 7th, with a beautifully illustrated lecture by Mr. Adams of the Mooseheart Legion. Mr. Adams' lecture was vitally interesting as it dealt particularly with childhood and the orphanage school at Mooseheart, Illinois. The Moose came into existence in 1803 but grew very slowly until 1888. It then grew rapidly with lodges in all the large cities and towns in the United States. This rapid growth was due to a noble ideal, the desire to protect childhood, especially orphans and the fatherless.

In the year 1913 the Moose having doubled its members and wealth accordingly bought a tract of land thirteen miles from Chicago on the Fox river. Here this wonderfully ideal town stands today unexcelled in its opportunities for children by any other organization or town in the world.

USING METROPOLITAN WATER

Monday afternoon the pumps at the Upper Falls, which carry the water from the supply reservation at Needham into the mains of this city, were shut off, and water from the Metropolitan system turned into the mains. This was done, because after considerable delay, preparations had been completed for the cleaning of the long wooden conduit into which seeps the water from the Needham hills. This gathering conduit, has, in the course of many years, become filled to an appreciable degree with the growth which is responsible largely for the discoloration of Newton water. Two pumps have been installed on the water reservation to clear this conduit of water, so that it can be scraped.

Just how long the process will take, the Water Department, and the special committee of aldermen, handling the water problem, do not know. The work will be done as soon as possible, because the Metropolitan Water Commission, faced with the shortage existing in the Clinton basin, does not want to supply Newton any longer than necessary. It may be noticed by Newton folks that the water from the Metropolitan supply is colder than the water ordinarily supplied to residents of this city. Conversely, the Metropolitan water would be warmer in summer.

DEAN ATHEARN TO SPEAK

At a meeting of the Newtonville Council of Religious Education held last Sunday afternoon, plans were made for a meeting to be held on Friday evening, March 4th, at which time Dr. W. S. Athearn, Dean of the School of Religious Education of Boston University will speak. Dr. Athearn is one of the outstanding speakers of the country in the field of Religious Education, and will give a message that will be particularly interesting to the people of the community.

C. A. R. MEETING

The regular meeting of the "Old Ironsides" Society of the "Children of the American Revolution" was held at the Bonar Atwood Studio in Newtonville. After the reports had been read a very appropriate poem entitled "Old Ironsides" was read by Eliza Jones which was written by her mother. At the close of the meeting dancing was enjoyed by the older members and story telling and games amused the smaller ones. A birthday cake with one tall red candle which was made by Mrs. Mary T. Rodman, our Senior President, formed part of the refreshments.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

NEWTON CENTRAL COUNCIL

Welfare and Health Divisions

A delightful luncheon was served on Wednesday, February 9, by the Newton Y. M. C. A. at their headquarters on Church street in Newton, to a large group of social workers and others interested in the welfare work of Newton.

After luncheon a Conference on the subject of the Control of Cancer was conducted by Mrs. Louis H. Marshall, Chairman of the Welfare Division of the Council. After a brief statement of the purpose of the meeting, Mrs. Marshall asked Miss Elizabeth Ross of Newton, who is now with the State Department of Public Health, Cancer Control Division, to present the speakers. Dr. Herbert I. Lombard of the State Department, was first introduced. He summarized briefly what the state had already accomplished and their plans for the future, and told of the survey made by the state to gather facts regarding the need for hospital beds for the care of patients who are suffering from cancer in Massachusetts.

The deaths from cancer in Massachusetts alone have been more than 5,000 yearly, the highest per capita in the country. Dr. Lombard said that beside the care of those who are in the advanced stages there is much to be done along the line of prevention. There is a public demand for this type of service, and state and local cancer clinics are being established to meet it. The whole program is a coordinated effort of the medical profession and health workers the state over, and it is felt that as much can be done to alleviate the cancer menace as has been done to control tuberculosis.

Dr. George L. West, Chairman of the local Medical Association Cancer Committee, told of the organization of Newton for Cancer Control. Under their auspices a Cancer Clinic has been opened at the Newton Hospital and a plan has been worked out for study and special research work.

Dr. F. G. Curtis, Chairman of the Newton Board of Health, spoke from the angle of the Health Department, and outlined what could be accomplished by careful study of our local cancer problem which is a large one and of importance to every home in Newton.

Mr. Wickliffe J. Spaulding, Chairman of a sub-committee which will work on the general subject of publicity, especially in regard to the Newton Cancer Clinic told what had been accomplished up to date, and referred to plans for the future.

Dr. Mary R. Lakeman of the Cancer Section of the State Department of Public Health, told what the state is doing to spread the gospel of hope. She said that it was known that at least 30% of all cancer could be cured, while at the present time only 10% receive treatment early enough to save life. There are three kinds of treatment that can be relied upon: surgery, radium and X-ray; but cure is only possible when the disease is in its early stages. Because of this the slogan for all should be CANCER—BE QUICK!

Dr. Edward Leonard, Chief of the surgical staff of the Newton Hospital, told the group of the interest of the staff in doing everything possible to make the Newton Cancer Clinic useful to those who need it. He said the Clinic could assist the community by telling people when they did not have cancer, as well as by treating them when they did.

Miss Bertha W. Allen, Superintendent of the Newton Hospital, also spoke from the Hospital angle, emphasizing the interest of the nurses and their willingness to help in every way. Miss Allen brought with her the new clinic cards for distribution.

The guests' period brought out special points. Everyone realized that it would take the united efforts of the medical profession, teachers, nurses and social workers to make a successful attack upon the deeply entrenched foe of civilization, cancer.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

Week ending Feb. 5:—Patients in hospital, 128; patients paying as much as cost of care or more, 48; patients paying less than cost of care, 32; free patients, including babies, 23; patients treated by out patient department, 166; by eye clinic, 14; accident cases, 8; babies born, boys 2, girls 9; social service calls at homes, 10; patients transferred by social service car, 15.

During one twenty-four hours of January the hospital had in its care 139 patients, and in another twenty-four hours only 96, thus being the largest and smallest numbers in the hospital during any twenty-four hours of the month. The average daily number was 118.81. The total number of patients admitted during the month was 273 and the number discharged 258. Four hundred and eighty-four cases were treated by the out patient department, 32 by the eye clinic. Accident cases numbered 49 and operating room cases 143. Of the 45 babies born 22 were boys, 23 girls. It may be interesting to note, by the way, that the great hospitals of London, in reporting the number of babies born, report it as the number of "babies produced by the hospital." The social service department made 40 calls at the hospital, 43 at homes, and transferred 52 patients in its care.

Monday the training school held its regular monthly meeting in the afternoon and the Know More Kokki Klub met in the evening.

The Newton Hospital Alumnae voted at its meeting last week to make its annual contribution of $500 to the hospital in addition to the gift which it is to make to the building fund for the new hospital.

The superintendent and several of the graduate staff attended the luncheon meeting of the health division of the Newton Central Council.

The hospital has to thank many firms for sending the calendars, which are always needed for many of the rooms.

the private rooms and was pleased to find that it made the shades at a cost of 65 cents less a shade than it would have cost to have bought them ready made.

The young women making up the spring class who began its connection with the Training School on Tuesday, included the Misses Ida Allison of Chestnut Hill, Grace C. Anderson of Readville, Pauline Dornig of Westwood, Arlene R. Ellis of Ox Bow, Me. Ruth R. Fasano of Dorchester, Shirley E. Fowler of Lowell, Marie E. Harney of North Natick, Marion Henderson of South Lincoln, Ora A. Johnson of Orange, Elizabeth A. Lane of West Rockport, Me., Helen MacDonald of Westboro, Frances L. Montana of Roslindale, Phyllis T. Shean of Houlton, Me., Araminta C. Thompson of Stoughton, N. S., and Constance Watson of St. John, N. B.

The husband of one of the patients who has been cared for at the hospital to show his appreciation of what had been done for his wife left with the superintendent a small gift of money to be added to the hospital building fund. Because of the spirit in which it was given it was one of the gifts of which the hospital is proud.

Among recent gifts to the hospital have been pictures, a scone and tickets to the Audobon Society's bird lectures.

From time to time friends of the hospital have made gifts of books to it. Most of these books have been works of fiction and they have been very welcome and always find appreciative readers. Very few books of poems have been given perhaps because it has been thought that poetry is something not much read. At the nurses' home a book of poems is a rare treasure. It often happens that a nurse will ask if there is not in the nurses' home library a book of poems and Miss Carey, the social director, will have to tell them there is none. If there are any who have any volumes of poetry which they are willing to give to the Nurses' Home they may be sent to the hospital and will be acknowledged gratefully or if word is sent by mail or telephone as to where they may be called for a messenger will be sent for them.

He had colored slides showing the buildings and occupations of the 2000 children who are cared for. NEW CUNARD OFFICES

After having occupied the building at 126 State street for twenty-four years, The Cunard Steam Ship Co., and subsidiary lines, will on Monday open its new and sumptuous quarters at 33 State street, just opposite the Old State House. This will be the seventh time the Cunard Lines have moved in the 87 years since its first passenger ship arrived in Boston.

Charles Stewart is the present Boston Agent of the Cunard Line. He came here in July 1909. Since that time he has built up a most efficient organization, now numbering 75 persons. Associated with him are Charles C. Dasey of Newton Highlands, Passenger Manager, and Edward M. Hagarty, Freight Manager.

The new offices have two main entrances, one at 33 State street, the other just around the corner on Congress street. The State street entrance goes directly to the main offices, containing the saloon, cabin and second cabin departments, and the general cashier's departments. In the basement are the Tourist III cabin and third class, foreign exchange departments, and mail room. The second floor, reached from 31 State street, houses the offices of Charles Stewart, agent; Charles C. Dasey, passenger manager and Edward M. Hagarty, freight manager, and the freight and automobile departments. The accountant's department is on the third floor. Prominently displayed in one of the State street windows is the great silver loving cup presented to Samuel Cunard, founder of the line, by the people of Boston at the time the service was firmly established more than 80 years ago.

A TEMPLE OF ART

The Temple of Art and Symphony of Music and Color will be presented in the Newton Highlands Congregational Church on Friday, February 18, under the direction of Prof. H. Augustine Smith, Head of the Department of Fine Arts in Boston University. An unusual and valuable collection of pictures by many of the great artists will be on exhibition in the Parish House and there will be three personally conducted tours at four, seven and nine o'clock, when Prof. Smith will interpret many of the masterpieces and advise as to their selection for home, school and church. The boys will see to "The Boyhood of Walter Raleigh" by Millais—the girls will love "Do you believe in Fairies?" by Margaret Tarrant and the Green-Tops will find many of their favorites including Tissot, Von Uhde, Copping and Wiehl. At eight o'clock in the church auditorium, the Life of Christ from nativity to coronation will be shown by beautifully colored stereoscopic slides, together with synchronized hymns, organ music, solos, and the spoken word. Prof. Smith has conducted the music, pageantry and fine arts at many conventions in our largest cities during the last ten years and our Newton Highlands will find the presentation of unusual educational and cultural value. The Church School Orchestra will give several selections and there will be a dramatic episode with more than forty children participating. Refreshments will be on sale.

COMMONWEALTH COUNTRY CLUB

The matinee Auction Bridge out at the Commonwealth Country Club on Monday afternoon, February 14, will see Mrs. James R. Armington and Mrs. Edgar F. Hathaway to the fore. In the receiving line with them will be Mmes. Lawrence B. Cubbison, E. O. J. Danielson, L. N. Enyard, Price Ferdinand, Charles A. French and George L. Wehrle. The Fatherless Children of France will be the beneficiary.

Wednesday evening, February 16 the members of the Commonwealth Country Club and their guests will play Auction Bridge to aid the Disabled Veterans. Mrs. Henry John Horn, Mrs. Willard D. Pitcher and Mrs. Albert E. Stevens are the directing spirits. They will be aided by Mmes. D. Earle Brackett, Alfred O. Dion, J. W. F. Kennedy, Francis N. Langois, Ray T. Langenhack, George D. Moore, Charles E. Othank, Wilmet M. Carterson, A. Le Roy Race, John I. Russell and Lester R. Smith.

BLUE TRIANGLE CLUB PLAY

The committee in charge of the two comedies, "Mr. Bob" and "The Exit Dad," to be presented by the Blue Triangle Club, consists of Harriette M. Hudson, chairman; Margaret Bowers, Margaret O'Hanley, Isabel Boothby, Florence M. Dimond, Helen Van Buskirk, Claire L. Amazeen, and Emily Bown.

These plays, being coached under the able direction of Miss Evelyn Cunningham, will be presented at the Y. W. C. A. auditorium on Friday and Saturday evenings, February 25th and 26th.

POLICE NEWS

Yesterday in the Newton Court two Lower Falls men were each fined $100 for driving automobiles while under the influence of liquor. They were Joseph Bozek of 204 Concord street and John Olkowski of 2313 Washington street. They were arrested within a few minutes of each other a couple of weeks ago.

Louis Mott of Lombard street reported that a tire was stolen from his automobile Sunday night while the car was parked on Shorncliffe road, Newton.

Saturday, Inspector Shaughnessy arrested Fred Crawford, who was charged with larceny in three counts. It is alleged that he passed worthless checks. He was in court Wednesday and his trial postponed until February 16th.

Thomas H. Devaney of Woodward street, Newton Highlands, employed by the Hood Creamery at Newtonville, was arrested Monday morning by Serg. Vedeccio, charged with larceny. It is alleged that he was short $228 in funds which he should have deposited for his employers. He was in court yesterday and his case was continued until next Tuesday.

Automobile thieves in Newton are getting bold. Tuesday night they entered a garage at the rear of 114 Norwood avenue and attempted to steal a Ford sedan owned by Policeman Edward Maguire, who resides at 23 Bridges avenue. In attempting to start the car, they ruined the generator. Failing to take the car, they stole a new tire and tube and other accessories.

Roland Judge of Malden, a chauffeur of a car owned by the Federal Reserve Bank, who was brought into the Newton Court a few weeks ago, charged by Officer Dowling with driving so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public, and fined $20, and who took an appeal, was found guilty Wednesday by a jury at the Superior Court in Cambridge. He was fined the same amount as imposed in the Newton Court.

Michael Bontempo of River Ridge, Wellesey, was arrested Tuesday by Inspector Conroy and turned over to the West Roxbury police. He was with non-support of a minor child.

Patrick Driscoll of Upper Falls was in court Tuesday charged with deserting his wife and children. He was given a suspended sentence with the proviso that he contribute to the support of his family.

Tuesday night Officer Goddard noticed two men under the influence of liquor enter an automobile at West Newton street and start to drive away. He stopped them on turning on the headlights on the car. Asking a friend to drive his coupe in pursuit Goddard caught up with the other car at Newtonville and jumped on its running board. Eugene Snell of Waverley street, Brookline, chauffeur, was driving the machine pursued, and according to the policeman, Snell hit him in the face when he ordered him to stop the car. Goddard managed to push Snell from the wheel and bring the auto to a stop. He then had a struggle to dislodge Snell and his companion out of the car. In the melee Snell's nose was badly dented. In court Wednesday, Snell was charged with drunkenness and with driving while under the influence of liquor. His case was continued until February 16.

By Harold P. Carver, N. H. S. '26

Going along with our description of the various fraternities that the Newton boys are in, we come first of all to a local chapter called Delta Mu. This chapter is located in Pittsburg, being a member of the Carnegie School of Technology. Dwight Lewis, now a junior at that place, has been a member since his freshman year, and is very high up in the organization. He is an honor man in his studies, having recently been elected to the honor society of his department, although he is still a junior. Besides the intellectual side, he is manager-elect of the tennis team and has a high place in the affairs of his class.

In 1848 Phi Gamma Delta was organized in the South at Jefferson College which later became the college now known as Washington and Jefferson. Spreading rapidly from the south land it became firmly entrenched in the North. At Brown, a chapter which was taken in some years ago from a local group, there are two boys who come from Newton. Alfred Kevorkian and his brother Edwin are both newly elected members of this fraternity. Alfred is an old Huntington School boy, and is studying medicine at the university. Ned has gained some fair measure of fame by reason of his prowess on the gridiron, the same winning him a place on the justly famed Iron Man eleven. He also won a salvo of praise from many sporting writers who placed him on the various mythical All-America teams that are chosen annually. He has been a member of the freshman baseball team, and expects to try out for the varsity this season. The Dartmouth chapter claims one man in Allan Lovejoy. Lovejoy has been on the football squads for two years and on the freshman baseball group during his first year.

At the home of the fraternity system Sigma Phi first saw the light of day. It was founded at Union College in 1827 and thus became the next to the oldest of the Greek letter fraternities. Although it is a comparatively small national it has the unusual honor of being the first of all the groups to choose another college as its nursing ground and thus creating the system of national fraternities when it founded a brother chapter in Hamilton College, very near to Union. Two brothers are united in this different fraternal tie, the namely, Phillips Hoyt and Franklin Hoyt, both of West Newton. Phillips is a senior at Cornell, being one of the very influential men on campus since he has been head of the Red Key, the chief athletic organization, and captain of the hockey team. Franklin or Jimmy just entered Williams this year after attending Andover for a year. He was on the hockey team at Andover, and would have made the tennis team easily if he had not been troubled by illness. The fall he has already directed attention to himself because of his attainments at the fall tournament when he placed as runner-up to the New England champion.

At Amherst David Whitehill is now a member of Chi Psi, a fraternity of medium size, whose origin is much like many of the fraternal societies because it was founded by Union College men. Whitehill was a fairly successful track athlete at Newton and has placed in some of the events while at college.

Changing the scene of birth for a time we find that Zeta Psi was founded in 1847 at New York University. This fraternity which was founded somewhat later than many of the well established bodies has steadily gained in favor until it has become one of the leading fraternities in the country. Originally the only Greek letter fraternity in Canada, it has never lost caste there, and now has added to its laurels by being very strong in the West Coast. Among its members are many Bowdoin boys for that chapter seems to have some great attraction for Newtonians. Julius Kohler, who graduated this year, along with Robert Olmstead, is one of the most prominent that is under the Yellow and White. Kohler has played for three years on the football team, besides being a capable performer in track events. He is popular in his class having been a leader in his fraternity which is one of the strongest on the campus. Olmstead joined originally at New Hampshire State and then transferred to Bowdoin where he has played football for two years. His best act is that of punting, and he is most proficient at it. The two sophomore members, Oakes and Adams, are two of the best men in the college at this time. Between them they have held most of the important offices that are at the command of a big man in his class. F. Hamilton Oakes has been president of his class, sophomore man on the athletic committee, and is now president of the White Key society, similar to the Cornell institution. He is also an accomplished football player, and can put up a good brand of baseball. Adams is vice-president of the class this year, and already has two major letters to his credit and is on his way to a third one. He played this year on the football team, and last year was the champion javelin thrower of the college. In the freshmen class they took in Alva Stien who was one of the best swimmers at Newton. He is a good student also, especially in mathematics. From the Williams chapter come Dwight Walker, whose ability to draw is matched now by his ability to shoot the puck; and a graduate, John Brewer. The Dartmouth chapter which has been recently revived sends two graduate students, Ralph Thompson, who is studying at the Harvard Dental School, and Russell Clark. Thompson was something of a track man, specializing in the high jump. In Providence there are three Newton men enrolled on the lists. Charles Brown, who is on leave of absence, Elmer Curtis, and Harold Carver. Charlie Brown always has been a clever middle distance man and it injures would only permit him to reach the peak of his ability, he would give many 300 yard men plenty to think about. Curtis is probably the best trumpeter in the college, besides being treasurer of his class, and also one of the most likely of the freshmen track prospects.

NEWTON SPORTS

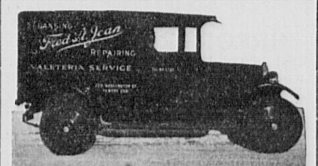

Arnold Rich, who has been one of the chief reasons for the success of the Tabor Academy track team this year, learned all the form of the shotput under Mr. Dickinson at High School. He was one of the most notable athletes that ever entered the schools and was one of the players in the annual outdoor track meet that is staged in the fall. Down on the Cape he has continued to make good, starring both in football, and in his first love, track.

In Harvard's Mid-Winter Carnival for the athletes of the college, William Heinrich gathered two third places in the various events. He has placed close to Ballantyne, the premier Crim son hurdler, every time this year and continued to do the same at this meet. Then he stepped out of his normal race in order to enter the 1000 yard run. Despite his shift, he performed remarkably well, pulling in a close third. He was a member of Newton track for some three years winning his final year as a high jumper, until his final year when he tried the hurdles with some results.

On the Brown and Nichols hockey team is one of the Friedman brothers of Chestnut Hill. He is playing regularly at wing, and has scored a number of goals. Considering that he has never before participated in this sport, at least on any team, his ability to play as well as he does is remarkable.

The records that the recent Dartmouth hurdlers have been setting have caused the sporting world's eyes to open and ask what does Harry Hillman teach the men up in Hanover? Newton sent one man up there that was an almost perfect hurdler before he left the high school in the person of Malcolm Gallagher. Although he has been seriously hampered by almost constant illness he has been able to be the chief means of Monty Wells breaking the long existing record of Earl Thompson's this year. Gallagher came back from his mid-years feeling rested and ready once more to take up the burden of winning some places for the freshmen.

On the Huntington School basketball team is Hartwell Souther of Waban. He formerly played for Wilbraham Academy in basketball and also in the two other major sports. This year he already was a member of the in-town eleven, making his letter an end on a championship team. His work this year has been truly exceptional for he is one of the high scoring forwards, and is one of the major reasons for the success of the Back Bay team.

SONG RECITAL

There was a most appreciative and enthusiastic audience at Recital Hall, Wednesday evening, when Miss Florence Owen of the New England Conservatory (class 1926) gave a song recital. She sang four groups of songs with intelligence and sympathy. Italian, German, French and modern English composers were represented on the program. Miss Owen revealed a smooth, round, sonorous voice of great refinement and artistry. In the Bemberg Aria from La Mort De Jeanne D'Arc she demonstrated her dramatic ability. She was ably accompanied by Mr. Charles Bennett of the Conservatory, one of whose compositions was in the last group. The enthusiastic applause and many beautiful floral tributes testified to the popularity of the singer.

WHIST AND BRIDGE

A whist and bridge party was given by Mrs. T. F. Candy was sold by Scouts Gustave Nordstrom and Frank Clarke, under the direction of Mr. Thompson, Troop Master. The bridge prize was won by Mrs. L. D. Priest, and the booby prize by Mrs. James Thompson, Jr. The whist prizes were taken by Mrs. Walter Ecklund for the women, and Mr. Walter Ecklund for the men. The booby prize was won by Mr. Reid Mittlen.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

The great Lincoln, whose birthday anniversary we commemorate tomorrow, is surely one of the most interesting figures in American history. The young folks who are still going to school can tell us many things we may have forgotten or perhaps never heard. Their minds have a fresh store of stories about him. I venture to say that if you were to ask them what was the most important act performed by him as President of the United States they will tell you, "He abolished slavery."

It is in connection with this very thing that I have been reading Harriet Beecher Stowe's wonderful book, "Uncle Tom's Cabin." If I may make so bold I heartily recommend it to those who have not turned its pages for many a day as well as those, young and old, who have never read it. Perhaps some of the readers of this column may titter at the thought of it, but let me assure them the book is still worth a close perusal.

Here, mark you, is a book that brought to the minds of the liberty-loving people a realization of the marked injustice suffered by the black men, women and children of the South. It was a woman's writing that stirred them to activity, their hearts beating in sympathy for the oppressed. What more appropriate volume for reading on Lincoln's birthday than "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Nowadays, some of us are disposed to treat lightly a volume that was offered the world many years ago. Let me say that in my opinion "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be remembered long after numerous best-sellers of today have been forgotten. Its subtitle, "Life Among the Lowly" gives a more comprehensive idea of its key-note, which is humanity. It did great work, as history tells us, for it created in the men and women of the North a hostility to slavery that shook the Nation's very foundations.

And when you are reading "Uncle Tom's Cabin" make sure that you are provided with a sketch of the life of Mrs. Stowe. She was a well known writer has said, "largely endowed with imagination, with sensibility, with the mystic's temper." From this same writer we learn that she "shared the general conditions of inheritance and nurture which bred the strongest group of thinkers and authors that America has produced. It was the peculiarity of early New England to combine an intense interest in the supreme questions of human destiny, regarded as the basis of personal life, with the closest application to industrial and practical affairs."

And next Monday comes another important occasion for many of us—St. Valentine's day. I confess that I have passed beyond the stage when pasting tiny red hearts on a white sheet of paper constituted my preparation for the day's celebration. I don't know that I should have said we older folks find a thrill in Valentine's day, but at least it is good fun to look on and see the little people in a gay mood.

It doesn't seem so many years ago that boys and girls were permitted, or perhaps forbidden, to indulge in that hideous practice of sending comic valentines. As I look back I recall the outrageous caricatures that were designed and printed for the purpose of making the recipient unhappy and uncomfortable. All kinds of slanderous things were said in doggerel which accompanied the frightful drawings, usually printed in colors.

I suppose the sending of such a valentine, if I may be dignified with that rather poetic title, gave a "kick" to the sender. He or she had to imagine the resentment and anger of the recipient, for no one would dare to be on hand when the envelope was opened or the valentine unfolded. That was considered "fun" and maybe some natures in their earliest years did find it amusing, but I doubt if they would dare so regard it at present.

But I don't see the alleged comic valentines offered for sale any more. Maybe they are to be obtained, for I must admit I have not prosecuted a diligent search for them. But surely they are not as numerous. And I am certain that if this be true it is a good sign. To create bitterness and ill-feeling seems unworthy. Let us hope then the absence of comic valentines of the libellous sort is a refutation of the charge that the "world is going to the dogs led by the younger generation."

It took me somewhat by surprise when I heard Dr. E. A. Crossman of the United States Department of Agriculture say that the consumption of milk is not increasing in Massachusetts. Dr. Crossman is the man who should know and when he makes such a statement he speaks with authority and no one can very well contradict him, at least not off hand. You must have your own set of figures to dispute him and I question if such figures are obtainable.

Exactly what does it mean—this situation as regards milk? Surely the population of Massachusetts is increasing so why not the demand of milk? Can it be that coffee and tea have taken its place? Or is it that many find the various drinks served at the soda fountains satisfying as well as delicious?

I was going to say that I would wager that if there is no increase in the consumption of milk there certainly is in ice cream. But I don't think I'll argue that, for milk is used in the manufacture of ice cream. Therefore, we are back to the first question, why isn't more milk consumed?

It happens that quite a few men of my acquaintance drink buttermilk. I have tried valiantly to join the number for I have been told that there is nothing like buttermilk for a variety of complaints. Not that I have any desire or need to treat, thank goodness, but according to the wiser minds you're bound to get much benefit if you will absorb plenty of buttermilk.

Maybe buttermilk is taking the place of milk. I confess the whole thing is a puzzle to me. I should like to hear from regular milk drinkers to see how many are still imbibing and how many have sworn off. Sometimes I wonder just how people manage to catch a train or keep an appointment or execute commissions or anything in fact that calls for a fairly accurate knowledge of the time of day. In a barber shop the other day, while my face was swathed in hot towels it occurred to me that I might be late in reaching the office of a prominent official with whom I had arranged an interview. I asked my barber, "What time is it now?" He paused in his ministrations, unbuttoned his coat and drew from his vest pocket an old-fashioned silver watch. "Quarter to four," said he.

The barber on the next chair, acting almost simultaneously, consulted his watch and replied, "I'm 10 minutes of four."

The third barber, not to be outdone in supplying service to customers, drew forth his watch. "You're both wrong," said he, "It's 12 minutes of four and my watch regulates the sun." A trifling incident, perhaps, but somewhat indicative of the situation that exists 'round about us every day. Personally I never carry a watch, although I admit the ownership of two, that is, I admit it to everybody but the assessors. To them I am watch-less.

Instead of going further into this subject I am going to suggest that the readers of this column finish it for me. I ask every one of you to pause now and see if the watches and clocks in your own home are in agreement. To the reader who will submit a statement under penalty of perjury, that the clocks and the watches in his house were in perfect agreement at one time—well, I'll award a prize and although I shan't disclose the character of it I promise it will be handsome.

I wonder how many Newton people are aware that it is a Newtonville man who keeps close tabs on the food and drugs sold in Massachusetts and whose vigilance is responsible for the remarkably few cases of poisoning. He is Herman C. Lythgoe and his official title is Director of the Food and Drug Division of the State Department of Public Health.

On the fifth floor of the State House Mr. Lythgoe has his office and laboratory where, assisted by a large staff of chemists, he is constantly making tests of canned things and proprietary medicines. This is by no means the extent of his duties for under his supervision come milk, meats and about everything else that we buy at the stores. Incidentally, Mr. Lythgoe has to analyze for the State and city and town police departments all over Massachusetts samples of liquor sold illegally.

It is a busy place this laboratory of the Food and Drug Division. But matters proceed smoothly under the expert guidance of Mr. Lythgoe. He is one of those men who does not seem to be the least ruffled no matter how large an amount of work is placed upon him. For my own part I think the State receives more than its money's worth from that particular department and I believe he should be provided more assistants and larger quarters.

However, it is intensely interesting to note just how much the Food and Drug Division accomplishes. If you should drop in on Mr. Lythgoe you would likely find two or three bottles of some kind of patent medicine on his desk. Or perhaps it will be tinned food of most any possible character. The alert and watchful Director Lythgoe has eyes on the food and drug markets all the time and nothing escapes him.

It is another duty of this division to inspect the food kept in cold storage, including meats, eggs, butter, poultry, etc., and keep track of their age so that the consumer may be well aware of what he or she is buying. I cannot think of anything more vital to the community than Mr. Lythgoe's work nor of any man better fitted and qualified to perform it.

Now that the Legislature has under consideration the passage of a law to permit the operation of double-decked busses we may some day see Centre Street made over into a Fifth-Avenue.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

ATTENTION OF PRESS CHAIRMEN. Owing to a new time limit given for the Woman's Club Column by the Editor of the Graphic, all ADVANCE NOTICES MUST be in the Club editor's hands on the first mail Monday at latest; and all writeups of meetings held Thursday or Friday of previous week. If Press Chairmen could get material to her by Saturday, they would be assisting her greatly. In order that your editor may have time to arrange the column and edit, she can accept no material after Monday morning, except writeups of meetings held Monday and Tuesday of the week the paper comes out. These MUST be mailed by Tuesday evening to reach her on the first mail Wednesday. Nothing later can be put in for that week. A WORD TO THE WISE will save disappointment and PEEVISHNESS!

State Federation

Following the excellent custom of several years' standing of devoting one week during the month of February to the consideration of Drama, this year's week devoted to this fascinating topic comes from the 13th to the 19th of the month. Next to seeing a good play is to read it. Many Clubs have taken up the enjoyment of Drama Classes, having "walking" or reading rehearsals, and the information and pleasure so gained is inestimable. For Drama Week the State Federation Chairman of Literature, Mrs. Philip H. Tirrell, suggests that groups be formed to read plays, or to attend plays during a season, afterward to discuss them, so gaining the benefit of various opinions, and reactions. She also suggests that such groups consult librarians for material available as study of drama and pageantry. An announcement that awakens anticipation is that of the State Music Committee that an elaborate program is in preparation to be given at Swampscott at the Annual Meeting, and appeal is made to Literature and Drama Committees throughout the State for assistance in this undertaking.

News in this column for the past few weeks of the splendid Classes going forward in the Highlands, the Centre, and Newtonville, makes your editor wish that the groups from these our Newton districts, would respond to the appeal, and place our city in the forefront for progress and efficiency for this pageant! Mrs. Tirrell may be reached at 225 Main street, Reading, and the Music Chairman, Mrs. F. Otis Drayton, may be reached at 33 Wellington lane, Belmont.

As to the ART CONFERENCE spoken of last week, for the 16th, at Horticultural Hall, at 2.30 o'clock, the chief speaker of the program is announced by Mrs. Stewart as Harold Hill Blossom, director-general of the Exhibition taking place from the 14th to the 26th. Besides Mrs. Rose Berry, already announced as speaker, the guest of honor will be Mrs. Walter S. Little, honorary Chairman of Art of the General Federation, our own Mrs. Potter, Mrs. Carl L. Schrader, and Mrs. Carl L. Watson.

About the Exhibition of "Sculpture and Gardens," it is interesting to know that Mr. Blossom, Cyrus E. Dallin, and Mrs. Stewart are the directors, and among the contributions from the State Federation circles is a garden designed by Miss Mabel Keyes Babcock, and a fountain by Miss Nellie L. Thompson, with a setting by Miss Elizabeth G. Pattee. The Exhibit is open free to the public from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m., daily beginning Tuesday, the 15th (the 14th is private view day), with two lectures each day, most of which will be illustrated by slides or models. Your editor is pleased to be able to list these lectures, for reference daily of Newton Clubwomen:

Feb. 15—2.30 p. m., Arthur A. Shurtliff, "The Planning of Parks and Playgrounds for Everyday Use"; 8.15 p. m., Hugh Cairns, "Architectural Sculpture," with demonstration sculpture, modelling and ornament.

Newton Federation

The midwinter meeting of the Newton Federation is offering what is anticipated as a delightful program on Wednesday, Feb. 16, at 2.30 o'clock, at the Congregational Church, Newton Highlands. Rabbi Harry Levi, of Temple Israel, Boston, who is not unknown to Newton audiences, as he spoke for this same organization several years ago, and more recently for the same six hundred membership of the Newton Community Club, will give an address on the "Real American." The Newton Highlands Woman's Club, with Mrs. Edwin F. Gibbs, president, is the cordial hostess for this meeting, it taking the place of their regular Club meeting. Two members of their Club, Mrs. Thomas D. Ginn and Lucy Simonds, are generously offering of their talent and ability, the former in leading the music, which is to be furnished by the united Choral Clubs of the Federation, including the Club of the Highlands, Newton Community, Auburndale and Newtonville, and the latter in playing the accompaniments. Some seventy-five voices will be assembled. After the program a social hour and "tea" which is to consist of much more elaborate refreshments than the stereotyped word implies, will furnish further pleasure to those who attend, in friendly intercourse.

OTHER COMING EVENTS

Waban Woman's Club

"European Topics of Timely Interest" is the subject of a lecture by Mrs. A. J. George for the Waban Woman's Club at its meeting on Monday afternoon, the 14th. Mrs. George is known for her current events lectures, but possibly better for her anti-suffrage speeches of days gone by. Her annual European trips will make her observations interesting. Mrs. Reuben Ellis, Chairman of the Civic and Volunteer Service Committee, is in charge of the afternoon's program. Tea and a social hour will follow the lecture. Mr. Joseph W. Bartlett of Waban, City Solicitor for the City of Newton, will also speak on some aspects of city government.

It has been decided to postpone the class in French conversation until the fall. Notice of time when the class begins will be given later.

Monday Club of Newton Highlands

On the same afternoon, the Monday Club meets at 2.30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. T. Waterhouse, 37 Hillside road, to enjoy a program in charge of Mrs. A. H. Armstrong and Mrs. G. M. Stone. The former will have as her subject: "A Garden of Herbs," and the latter: "Fenway Court."

Newton Centre Woman's Club

The Department of the American Home offers members of the Newton Centre Woman's Club one lesson on "Petit Point and Gros Point" to be given Monday morning, Feb. 14, at 10 o'clock, by Miss Grace Stratton, at the Club House.

Miss Ruth Brewer will be the Story-Teller at the third "Story Hour for Children," arranged by the Educational Committee, for the same date, the 14th, at 3.45 o'clock. Stories suitable for children of the II, III and IV grades will be given, and parents will be welcome to accompany their children.

The Educational Committee also offers courses in Vocal Training and Tone Color under the direction of Miss Pauline Russell, principal of the Russell School of Expression and Literature. This Class is being held in the Club House Tuesdays at 10 a. m., and is open to new members. The first lesson is the 15th, and additional information may be obtained from Mrs. B. K. Thorwood, C. N. 2816-M.

Christian Era Study Club

Continuing their study of "The War of American Independence" members of the Christian Era Study Club will be regaled by papers on "Trenton, New Jersey, and the Hessians," by Miss Shephard; "General Howe in New York and Philadelphia," by Mrs. Belmont, and "Washington at Valley Forge," by Mrs. Hosmer, all Club members, at their meeting on Monday, Feb. 14. The hostess for this review of stirring days is Mrs. Samuel H. Selloy, 221 Grove street.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

The Travel Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will meet with Mrs. Harry S. Wells on Monday, Feb. 14, at 2.30 o'clock. The remainder of the Club year will be devoted to the study of Mexico.

Mrs. Wells will present a paper on "Prehistoric Tribes: Toltecs, Aztecs, and Mayas"; and Mrs. Hugo Sharpe, a paper on "Antiquities, Cholula, The Holy City." There will be current events and music. Mrs. F. E. Nowers will assist the hostess.

Mrs. A. D. Batson will be hostess to the Home Economics Class on Thursday, Feb. 17. Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock.

Newtonville Woman's Club

At the meeting Feb. 15 of the Newtonville Woman's Club, Mr. Boodakian, connected with the rug house of Adrian Brothers, will give an exhibition of Oriental rugs. Mr. Boodakian is a native of Armenia and has worked with Oriental rugs for thirty years, so he can speak with authority on this subject. There is probably no more fascinating study than that of the history and beauty of Oriental rugs—the more one knows of this history, the lovelier become the designs and colors, and the more appreciative is the possessor. An opportunity to add to knowledge, as well as view these attractive specimens, is well worth taking advantage of.

Social Science Club

Mr. Frederick Deane, formerly president of the Chamber of Commerce in Peking, will speak on "China and the Western Nations" on February 16th, at 10 o'clock, at Hunnewell Club parlors for the Social Science Club. Mrs. George Agry and Mrs. Cornelius H. Patton will be the hostesses at this meeting.

Auburndale Woman's Club

Members and guests of the Auburndale Woman's Club will be delightfully entertained on Wednesday evening, February 16th, at the Auburndale Club, for the Annual Guest Night. Two plays: "Sham," by Frank G. Tompkins, and "Pennington, Two," by James C. Barden, will be given by home talent—which means with the grace and ease of this Club's talented members of "near-professionals"—under the direction of Miss McClung of the Emerson School.

Community Service Club of West Newton

Current Events once more occupies the attention of members of the Community Service Club of West Newton on Friday morning, the 15th, at 10:30 o'clock, at the Parish House of the Unitarian Church. Mrs. Claude U. Gilsoh, their popular Current Events lecturer, gives the ninth in her course of brief but informative "talks," at that time.

Shakespeare Club of Newton Highlands

Saturday, February 19th, sees "Timon of Athens" come before the Shakespeare Club, at the home of Mrs. B. R. Gilbert, of 41 Woodward street. Mrs. Bernard Early, the Club president, is in charge of the luiz of the first two acts relating to this gentleman and his acquaintances.

RECENT EVENTS

Community Service Club of West Newton

The February meeting on the 2nd—of the Community Service Club of West Newton took the role of an all-day sewing meeting, in charge of the Volunteer Service Committee, Mrs. Norman Bingham, chairman. The ladies parlor of Second Church was filled in the morning with willing workers, sewing for the Newton Hospital, the Red Cross, and the Welfare Bureau. The Refreshment Committee, under the able management of Mrs. John Waddell, served coffee and ice cream as supplement to the box luncheons brought by the ladies.

After the industry and while working resumed its industry, and while working listened to an interesting and enlightening talk by Miss Elizabeth Ross formerly of the Newton Hospital, but now engaged at the State House by the Board of Health, in the special work for prevention and treatment of cancer. She spoke of the encouraging results by radium and X-ray treatment, which have proven successful and hopeful.

Later in the afternoon the work and establishment of the Boston Philharmonic Orchestra, conducted by Ethel Leginska, was presented by her in a very interesting and compelling appeal for its maintenance and support. Five concerts already have been given, and 1900 people have attended, so expressing their interest and appreciation, and the need for good music, at a price permissible for the wage earner. WISE MOTHERS

The mother of today realizes how much too soon her family is grown up, and away! She knows that she must not spend so much time ministering to their physical needs, that she has no time and strength left for the companionship that will linger thru the years, long after other memories have been dimmed. The modern mother is alert to know about and avail herself of every help to make her housework more efficient, and free from time consuming, strengthwasting drudgery.

Many mothers know that THE FLAT AND FLUF-DRY SERVICE gives them freedom from hard tasks, at a modest price, and reduces the burden of the hardest of all home tasks.

This service includes the careful washing and ironing of all the flat pieces. You may also send as much clothing as you wish; they will be returned fragrantly clean, ready for you to iron any time you like.

Buick owners enjoy the savings of leadership

In purchase price and daily use, Buick owners profit by the savings of leadership.

The price of a Buick is moderate, but it buys a car built to the very finest quality ideals—one that would cost you considerably more, if it were not for Buick volume.

For years, the savings provided by great volume have been devoted to the enrichment of Buick value.

And for years, Buick owners have had a more dependable motor car—one in which high quality lessens upkeep expense.

Buy a Buick! It is an investment in economy and satisfaction.

attempt to present to the public the best in music as a means to culture and education, and a substitute for the cheap and common in jazz and moving pictures has need of appreciation and of cordial support. The women of Newton will organize to patronize and sponsor the undertaking.

At 2 p. m. a special meeting of the West Newton Memorial Library Association was held, presided over by Mrs. Arthur Hosmer, in the absence of the president, Mrs. Ellyer Peabody. The secretary's report was read by Mrs. Shirley Ladd, recording the dedication of the new Memorial Library, and the greatly increased interest in its work.

The children's story telling hour on Saturday mornings is well attended and popular.

The treasurer's report showed an expenditure of $45,183.98 with all bills paid, and no balance on hand. Election of officers for 1927 resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Ellyer Peabody; vice-president, Mrs. Arthur Hosmer; secretary, Mrs. Shirley Ladd; and treasurer, Miss Louise Lovett.

Auburndale Woman's Club

Following the regular business meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club on Thursday afternoon, February 3rd, Mrs. Dana Kondraty, accompanied by Mrs. Howard G. Musgrave, gave a very pleasing group of songs which was much enjoyed by the audience. The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. Helen Talbot, of the League of Nations Non-Partisan Association. Mrs. Talbot is a woman of broad training and experience, a lawyer, writer, and traveler. Her fine delivery and splendid equipment with reference to her subject make her well able to speak both interestingly and convincingly of the League of Nations and the World Court. She said in part:

"Because of the advance in science, invention, and trade organization we are really living in a new epoch. Economic and commercial organization has far outstripped political organization. In the League of Nations we have a political organization, developing to meet the needs of our day. It is unfortunate for us—for the United States—that the true significance of the event has been obscured by a small minority who seem still to be dwelling in the horse and buggy stage of civilization. The fundamental fact is, of course, that the League of Nations embodies a new method of approach to problems of world concern. It is comparable in importance with the development of the scientific method. It is the scientific method applied to international affairs."

"The League of Nations is not a solution of any problem—and it should not be judged by its solution of any given problem. It is an organization that provides for continuity of conference, in the full light of publicity, upon matters of common concern. This method has two great superlatives over the alternative method of private diplomacy."

"The League of Nations is more than a way of doing business—though that alone would inevitably transform international relations—it is also a recognition of the accountability of each nation to the other nations of the world. I like the phrase in our Declaration of Independence—it is: 'a decent respect for the opinion of mankind.'"

"Private diplomacy is like a ship of state—fair and stately to see—but a shot below the water line and down she goes. The League of Nations is like a raft—your feet are always in the water—but you can't sink her."

Newton Centre Woman's Club

The Newton Centre Woman's Club has found a new synonym for happiness. Instead of Masterlinck's Bluebird, we shall mention Hassler Capron's Rainbow Revue when speaking of joyfulness, and delight.

People in the Centre stop one another on the street to tell what a good time they had at the Revue, and everyone is proud that "Hassler" is one of our own. He long ago graduated from the amateur class, and the Rainbow Revue may well take its place permanently in the community as the most attractive of all its social features.

For beauty of ideas, and finished delicacy, and art in carrying them out, the Revue stands in the front rank of such productions, and actually leads of atmosphere. There's no bad taste left in the mouth, and no echo of vulgarity in the mind, and afterward, and Mr. Capron is to be congratulated for accomplishing such results so easily and satisfactorily. He deserves the thanks of the villagers on that score alone. But thanks for many other things are also due him. The audience was delightfully happy and comfortable;—first, because of the entertainment, of course, and also because of the three performances, which allowed more room for the tables. The committee in charge of the decorations were tireless in carrying out the idea of the rainbow, in the many colored dolls which stood on the tables and filled the hall with inviting cheerfulness.

Mrs. Cyrus F. Schirmer and her co-workers, who spent innumerable hours in making the roses and gowns for the dolls, deserve no end of thankful appreciation for their unselfish devotion to the cause. The young girls, daughters of club members, who moved about with difficulty among so many tables, selling candies and soft drinks, are to be congratulated upon their successful achievement. Last, but not least,—far from it—Mrs. Sands and Mrs. Andrews, with their helpers in the banquet room, cannot receive too much praise for their capable management of the refreshments.

The Rainbow Revue of 1927 will take its place among our choicest memories.

Auburndale Review Club

On Tuesday, the members of the Auburndale Review Club enjoyed a morning's program on some of the great American rivers. Mrs. A. C. Farley, chairman of the day, read a paper on "The Ohio and the Hudson," while Mrs. Tuttle described "The Missouri and the Mississippi." The last paper was on "The Delaware, the Potomac and the Susquehanna Rivers," and was written by Mrs. S. H. Dike. Few Clubs have the distinction of having a member active in the Club work at the age of 90. Mrs. Wells, the President, presented Mrs. Dike with a bouquet of flowers in recognition of her very recent 90th birthday. Mrs. Nelson Freeman played delightfully before each paper. The hostess was Mrs. W. H. Medlicott.

MISSIONARY HOME ENLARGED

The Walker Missionary Home, where Congregational missionaries and their children from all the far corners of the earth come to live when they are in this country, was dedicated Saturday afternoon two additional houses with an informal reception and tea given by the board of managers under the direction of Mrs. James L. Barton of Newton Centre.

Rev. Carl M. Gates of Wellesley Hills represented the prudential committee in a brief service of dedication in the larger of the two new buildings. The entire plant was thrown open for inspection. The present buildings are Walker Missionary Home, a central brick structure; the "Cottage," a commodious building with twelve rooms; the "Lodge," a smaller house; and the two new buildings, one of which was formerly the old Harding homestead but has been renovated and made into duplex apartments. The second of the buildings added is a single house built on the same estate and now occupied by Dr. and Mrs. Robert A. Hume, retired missionaries, who have served the American Board for over fifty years in India. Dr. Hume is eighty years old and comes of a second generation of India missionaries, while Mrs. Hume is a third generation of missionary.

The Walker Missionary Home has today seventeen sons and daughters of missionaries ranging from one year to high school age. In the summer when college is over the age limit extends upward. The city of Newton has given the work of the home recognition by allowing the children to attend school without charge for tuition.

The superintendents of the Walker Missionary Home are Rev. and Mrs. Albert E. LeRoy who have only recently returned from Adams, Natal, South Africa, where they have served the American Board since 1901. Mr. LeRoy was principal of the Amanzimzim Institute, a day and boarding school for Zulu boys and girls, known in South Africa as the Hampton of that section.

The founder of the home was Mrs. Eliza Walker, an American Board missionary who went to Turkey in 1853 with her husband, Rev. Augustus Walker. Mr. Walker died of cholera three years later and his widow returned to America with her four children. She conceived the idea of a home owned by the American Board which would render a three-fold service: Furnish missionaries on the field with a home to which they might send their children during the period of their education, serve as a residence for missionaries on furlough; supply a happy and comfortable home in America in which retired missionaries, weary with long years of service in foreign climates and among strange peoples, might spend the remainder of their lives.

The trustees of the home are James L. Barton, D.D., chairman; Harold B. Belcher of Malden, treasurer; and Walter Fitch of Wellesley. The board of management includes Mrs. James L. Barton, Newton Centre, president; Mrs. George A. Hall, Brookline, vice president; Mrs. D. Brewer Eddy, Newtonville, treasurer; Miss Phoebe P. Edwards, Brookline, secretary; Mrs. Frank F. Davidson, Auburndale, second vice president; Mrs. Frank W. Stearns, Boston; Mrs. Walter Fitch, Wellesley; Mrs. Thomas Chalmers, West Newton; Mrs. Enoch F. Bell, Newton Centre; Miss Annie C. Strong, Auburndale; Miss Margaret G. Wilder, Newton, and Mrs. Charles L. Ziegler, Waban.

SCULPTURE AND GARDENS

Mrs. Frank H. Stewart of Newton Centre, chairman of the Art Committee of the Mass. Federation of Women's Clubs, is a director in a course of free lectures to be given on Sculpture and Gardens in Horticultural Hall, Boston, afternoon and evening beginning next Tuesday and to close on Saturday, Feb. 26th.

Eminent men and women will be the lecturers and the program has been arranged to give the public a better idea of what may be done by individuals and communities to beautify the state.

A number of Newton residents have been invited to a private view of the exhibition on Monday evening.

NEWTON ROTARY CLUB

After an introduction which would have phased an ordinary speaker, Mr. W. C. Crawford, principal of the Boston Trade School, gave the Newton Rotary Club an eloquent and worth while address at the usual weekly luncheon held Monday at the Woodland Golf Club.

Mr. Crawford began by calling attention to the fact that all income, salaries and commissions of whatever nature came from the product of industry. That all New England had left nowadays was industry, having lost its shipbuilding, its ice and its lumber business, but that that industry was what makes New England the machine shop of the entire country. He said we ought not to be alarmed at the tendency of the cotton and woolen and leather industry to move to the South and West as it was nearer the raw material.

There are two reasons for belief in New England, first its Yankee ingenuity which produces superior skill, and second its water power which sells electricity.

He called attention to the quiet work which is going on in buying up water powers by speculators and its danger to the public welfare and urged that while this power might well be developed by private capital, it should be under government control. In the matter of skill, he believed in the object of his school was "to increase the industrial efficiency of the Commonwealth."

It was his belief that with experience of many years in the country, town and city, that the talk about the youth of the country being degenerate was all bunk and was due to a comparison of the best of the past with the worst of the present.

He was of the opinion that the boys and girls of the present have all the and mentally, physically, and morally with other phases of our civilization and that the difference was like that of the tallow candle and the electric light.

DEATH OF MR. MAZZUR

Frank A. Mazzur, who died on Friday at Phillips House, Massachusetts General Hospital, was a resident of Windsor road, Waban. Up to about a week ago he attended to a stomach business and because of a stomach ailment went to Phillips House, where he underwent an operation from which he revived, but complications later set in which caused his death.

Mr. Mazzur was born in New York city fifty-six years ago, the son of Amedee and Hannah A. Mazzur. He received his education in New York, where he afterward took up engineering, in which he built up an important business in mechanical engineering and power equipment. In 1903 Mr. Mazzur removed his business interests to Boston and, as Frank A. Mazzur & Co., had maintained offices at 141 Milk street.

He was a member of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, a charter member of the Engineers' Club in this city and belonged to the Brae-Burn Country Club, in Newton, and Boston Skating Club. Mr. Mazzur married, in Woodbridge, N. J., Miss Mattie Pearson, who survives him, as do three sons and a daughter, as follows: A. S. Mazzur, Frank C. Mazzur and Richard O. Mazzur, all of Waban, and Mrs. A. F. Whitney of Belmont.

MRS. HERBERT R. GIBBS

Mrs. Sarah Cabot Gibbs, who died in Newtonville Feb. 3, was born in Boston. Her parents removed to Cambridge in her early childhood but she had many interesting memories of old Beacon Hill.

She was married at the age of twenty to Mr. Herbert R. Gibbs, then in the early years of his life-long connection with Houghton and Mifflin Co. They made their home in Cambridge until they came to Newtonville in 1891 with their three children.

They entered at once into the life of the church and community, making for themselves a position of usefulness and influence and gathering about them a circle of warm friends.

Since the death of her oldest son in October 1925, and of Mr. Gibbs two months later, Mrs. Gibbs has been in failing health until she slipped quietly away after a short illness.

Quiet and somewhat reserved with strangers Mrs. Gibbs had a finely discriminating mind and a sparkling wit which made her a delightful and stimulating companion.

A daughter of the Puritans, her ideals of religion and character were exacting and the mingling of these high standards with a very modern sense of values and a whimsical humor made up a fascinating personality.

To her family and to her many friends, there remain precious memories of her as a lovely home maker, a gracious hostess, a kind and helpful neighbor and a friend whose tact and sympathy and loyalty were unfeigned.

PROF. BAKER HONORED

Dr. and Mrs. Adelbert Fernald of Elmhurst road, Newton, entertained Dean and Mrs. Leroy Miner and the Orthodontic staff and their wives of the Dental Department, Harvard University, on Saturday evening.

A splendid program was rendered which consisted of piano solos by Mrs. Horace George Abbott, vocal solos by Mrs. George Abbott, of West Newton, and Amy Lowell's poems read by Mrs. Fernald.

At the close of the program Dean Miner was introduced, who presented to Dr. Lawrence Baker a silver loving cup, on the completion of twenty seven years of loyal service to Harvard Dental School. The cup was from the Orthodontic staff. Mrs. Fernald then presented Mrs. Baker with a beautiful basket of sweet peas, after which the guests were invited into the dining room where refreshments were served.

VESPER SERVICE

On Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock the Newton Symphony Orchestra, Inc., will give a vesper service at the First Congregational Church, Newton Centre. This will be a community service and free to all.

The orchestra will be assisted by the Junior Choir of the church, fifty four voices.

AWARDED EAGLE BADGES

Governor Fuller Comes to Newton Centre to Pay Highest Tribute to Boy Scouts of Newton

The Boy Scouts of Newton were honored Wednesday evening by the presence of Governor A. T. Fuller at a court of honor held in the Mason School hall, Newton Centre.

Governor Fuller was present for the purpose of awarding four Eagle scout badges, the highest honors in Scouting.

There was a splendid attendance and the award of the badges was preceded by an excellent program.

Scoutmaster William M. Breed of Troop 5 of Newton Centre was in charge of the first part of the program which included the assembly call by Bugler Thomas Mariner, troop formation under patrol leader Leslie Doten, the roll call by Scout Scribe Mariner and the impressive flag ceremony, with the colors presented while the drums beat the long roll, the bugler sounded "To the Colors," and the scouts gave their pledge to the flag. This was followed by a demonstration of Scout Work.

President William T. Halliday, of the Norumbega Council was in charge of the second part of the program and after a brief address gave way to Commissioner John M. Woodbridge, Jr., who assisted by Deputy Commissioner F. W. Gilcrease presented second class badges to John Bergeson, Myron L. Crowe, E. W. Davis, E. A. Dusaussoit, Thomas Mariner, of Troop 5, Vincent Madden, Edmund Hawes, of Troop 2, Oliver Prescott, Herbert Ray, Joseph Harrison, of Troop 4, John Argersinger, Robert McLellan and Samuel Douglas of Troop 10. First class badges were awarded to Russell Taylor, Kingston Smith of Troop 7 and James Colligan. Merit badges were given to Robert Bonner of Troop 4, Leslie Doten of Troop 5, James Colligan, Robert Spooner and Julius Oher of Troop 1.

Mayor Edwin O. Childs in his usual eloquent manner presented badges of star rank to Robert Spooner, James Colligan and Julius Oher.

Governor Fuller was then introduced and gave a most interesting talk to the boys, holding Abraham Lincoln up as an example for them to follow. He then presented the much coveted Eagle badges to Leslie Doten, William Carlton, John Hitchcock and Harry Colony.

This was followed by a Drum and Bugle demonstration led by Drum Major Richard Schroeder of Troop 4, Newton Highlands, a recital of the scout oath under the leadership of Commissioner Woodbridge, and the singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

An impressive touch to the closing exercises was the playing of taps by Bugler Mariner, with an echo outside by Bugler Kenneth Warren.

Governor Fuller was kept busy after the exercises with autographing numerous articles presented by the scouts.

TRAFFIC HEARING

Committee to Consider Time Limit in Nonantum Square

The Traffic Committee of the Board of Aldermen, composed of Aldermen Grebenstein, Hinckley and Hodgdon, gave a hearing Friday night on the matter of extending the parking limit at Newton Corner from 30 minutes to one hour. Among those present were Chief of Police Burke, Alderman Earle, C. C. Mowry of the Chamber of Commerce, Clyde Holmes of the Community Theatre, and the Traffic Committee of the Newton Corner Business Associates composed of William E. Cahill, Richard Dwyer, Andrew J. Ford, Albert Walker and Edward H. Powers.

Chairman Grebenstein of the Aldermanic traffic committee told of the petition for the extension of the parking limit which had been presented a couple of months ago by Harry Brodie of the Newton Public Market. This petition was signed by a large number of Newton Corner business men, most of whom have since changed their minds and now desire the 30 minute limit retained. The Traffic Committee of the Newton Corner Business Associates told the aldermen that 35 of the members of that organization voted for the 30 minute limit, and 4 for the extension to one hour.

Secretary Mowry of the Chamber of Commerce stated that his organization would favor whatever was advocated by the Newton Corner business men. Chief Burke said that the 30 minute limit has given satisfaction to all except a couple of merchants at Newton Corner, and that the police have been very liberal in their enforcement of this ordinance. He thought it will be much better for the interests of the business men at Newton Corner to have the 30 minute limit retained because this will allow many more motorists to have access to the stores at Newton than would be possible with a limit of an hour.

Manager Holmes of the Community Theatre told the aldermen "that the owners of the Community Theatre desire the 30 minute parking limit at Newton Corner to apply only daytimes. Evenings, except Saturdays, they want unlimited parking privileges." According to Mr. Holmes, the 30 minute limit has seriously hurt the business of the theatre. Secretary Walker of the Newton Corner Business Associates thought that the large parking space on Washington street, extending westerly from Centre Place, provides ample parking privileges for patrons of the Community Theatre, without infringing on the rights of those storekeepers at Newton who keep their places of business open evenings. He mentioned the fact that persons going to theatres in Boston either are forced to park their autos in garages, or walk a half mile or more

PERMIT REFUSED

But Gasoline Pumps Have Been Erected on Washington St.

Despite the fact that Levi Wilcutt of the Fuller Garage was found guilty and fined by the Newton District Court and by the Superior Court at Cambridge, because outside gasoline pumps were erected at this garage without permission having been obtained from the Newton Board of Aldermen, and that an appeal from these decisions is now pending before the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, three outside gasoline pumps have been erected on the Monaghan property at Washington street, West Newton, just west of Auburn street, following an adverse report of the Franchise and License Committee of the Aldermen on a petition which sought to obtain a permit for these pumps.

Some years ago the J. V. Monaghan estate started a gasoline filling station at 5 Auburn street, just around the corner from Washington street. This station was the source of much annoyance to neighbors because they claimed they were disturbed by the frequent tooting of automobile horns at night; said horns being squawked by motorists desiring gasoline. So, when in 1920 the Monaghan estate petitioned for a permit which would allow it to remove the gasoline station across Auburn street to the opposite corner, the disturbed neighbors objected strenuously. On June 9, 1920, the aldermen granted the permit to establish the station on the new location. But it was not erected. Then in April 1922 another petition was presented by Edward F. Monaghan. This time the petition was refused. Subsequently the building at the westerly corner of Auburn and Washington streets was erected. Mr. Monaghan continued to make frequent attempt to obtain the permit for the change of location for his station and finally in 1923 he was successful. In the meantime gasoline was sold from a portable tank located in front of the store at 1545 Washington street. The permit, upon being given, specified 1545 Washington street as the locus of the station.

On April 30, 1926, Edward F. Monaghan petitioned for an additional tank to hold 1000 gallons of gasoline, and also an additional pump. These were to be located at the rear of the building numbered 1545 Washington street. This petition was granted June 7, 1926. Shortly afterwards Edward F. Monaghan died, and the pump was not erected.

On September 7, 1926, a petition was received from J. V. Monaghan & Sons, signed by Richard Monaghan, asking for a permit to build a "drive-in gasoline station" at the rear of 1545 Washington street. This station would include a building 12 by 19 feet in size, and a tank holding 1500 gallons of

CIRCUS DANCE

Enjoyable and Unique Entertainment At Waban Club

One of the undisputed signs of spring is the first appearance of a circus in town and the 250 Wabanites who journeyed to the Neighborhood Club House last Friday evening and found themselves at once "under the big top" and with all the familiar old circus habits about them, felt that the winter was a thing of the past.

After a survey of the wild animals, in temporary captivity, behind the gratings of the erstwhile side-wall registers and an appreciative gaze at the two tight-rope walkers busily "doing their stuff" at the top of the big tent, the guests repaired to the bleachers for a leisurely survey of "Who's Who."

The big parade started at 10 o'clock and the motley throng was seen to include trapeze performers, tight-rope walkers, bareback riders, cowboys and cowgirls, Indians, sheiks, Roman chariot drivers, clowns, snake charmers, the "Seven Sutherland Sisters" (in all their hirsute glory), fortune tellers, the wild man (just captured in the jungles), policemen, rubes (in from the country to see the circus), and the customary crowd of fat and thin people.

The committee must have found it difficult to award the prizes when there were so many clever costumes all about them, but they finally allotted the Ladies' First Prize to Mrs. Kenneth Holden, a Bareback Rider, who rode most skillfully about the middle of the hall on the back of an elephant. The second prize went to Mrs. Arthur Kempton of Brookline, who was also a Bareback Rider. The Men's First Prize was captured by a White Circus Horse, whose component parts were made up by Mr. Arthur Soule and Mr. George Walker (Mrs. Soule, clad in white, rode gracefully about on its back). The second prize was awarded Mr. Roscoe Webber, who portrayed a Roman Charioteer. Mrs. R. W. Moore, Jr., who gave a clever presentation of "Bacto Backus," the Siamese Twins, received honorable mention.

Because of the unprecedented crowd it was impossible to put on the advertised Animal Stunts, but Miss Phyllis Cotton of Brookline, accompanied by Senator Jose Antonio Battle, y Bares, professor of Spanish and French in Brookline, did a charming Spanish Dance.

Pink lemonade, hot-dogs and coffee were served at intermission.

The whole affair reflects great credit on the chairman, Mrs. R. W. Moore, Jr., and her capable committee.

MOURNED BY MANY

Wonderful Tributes Paid to the Memory of Coach Dickinson of the Newton High School

Monday morning the entire city was shocked to hear of the death of Alfred William Dickinson, teacher and athletic coach at the Newton High School, following an operation at the Newton Hospital. His death occurred at two o'clock in the morning of peritonitis resulting from intestinal perforation caused by ulcers of the stomach. Saturday evening he attended the final performance of the annual Senior play in the high school auditorium apparently in good health. Shortly after midnight he was taken violently ill and removed to the hospital where the operation was performed at eleven o'clock Sunday morning.

ALFRED W. DICKINSON

Mr. Dickinson, who was known to his many friends as "Allie" and to his boys at Newton high for the past seventeen years as "Coach" and "Mr. Dick," was born on March 9, 1884. He prepared for college at Somerville High School where he was a stellar athlete. He was a graduate of Brown with the class of 1907 and while at that college was also a prominent athlete. The following fall he entered the Harvard Graduate School where he specialized in history and government.

After three years of teaching in Cambridge and Somerville he came to Newton in 1910 as teacher of history and coach of football, baseball and track.

He is survived by his widow, Ethel R. Dickinson, and one son, Alfred W., Jr., a pupil in the sixth grade of the Clafin School. Private funeral services were held Wednesday morning with the cremation in Mount Auburn.

Memorial Service

The Newton High School was closed on Wednesday morning in honor of Alfred W. Dickinson and an impressive memorial service was held in the auditorium. On account of the limited space, not all of the school enrollment could be present and the invitations were limited to the boys who had been on the squads and teams in athletics, members of Mr. Dickinson's own classes in Ancient History and Civics, members of the Senior class and the faculty. A beautiful basket of red roses, the tribute of the students, was the special decoration of the stage.

Mr. Francis L. Bacon, director of secondary education, presided and remarks were made by Mr. Samuel Furbur, for the faculty, William Cummings, president of the student body and a member of the track team, Miss Marion Frost of the Senior class for the pupils in Mr. Dickinson's classes, Principal Irving O. Palmer for the school committee, and Rev. Dr. Arthur M. Ellis, pastor of the Central Church of Newtonville.

The tributes from the platform were in no sense orations. They were words from the heart, spoken with a deep feeling sorrow. Tears filled their eyes, as they spoke of the man who had touched their hearts so closely.

"There are no words for this occasion," said Director Bacon. "There is no adequate way of explaining the character and influence of Mr. Dickinson. Simple, unostentatious and without display were Mr. Dickinson's tastes and thus will be these exercises in his memory."

Dr. Ellis spoke of the influence of Mr. Dickinson throughout the city. "Mr. Dickinson was one of the finest preachers in the city. There are different kinds of preachers, those of us of the ministry, teachers and those like Mr. Dickinson who say little but by their example show the power of manhood and preach sermons of wonderful eloquence."

"Mr. Dickinson was a natural teacher," said Miss Marion Frost, speaking for his pupils. "He loved to teach, especially ancient history. He made his classes interesting and enjoyable. He taught us to live up to his ideal of playing the game hard and clean."

"For seventeen years we have felt the influence of Mr. Dickinson," declared Mr. Thurber for the faculty. "His spirit was not the spirit of win at any cost, but to win in a clean fight. He rejoiced in the achievements of the team, not in the head but in the heart. He never bragged."

"Mr. Dickinson was not a mixer. He had a friendly, generous heart, but his friends had to seek him out. How many students were late to class because they stopped for a friendly chat with 'Coach Dick'! The group of boys about him, chatting and laughing at the door of room 13, will be one of the sacred memories of this school."

"Last Saturday evening at the senior play he was present at this hall and was called to the stage. He turned smiling to the audience and it is by that smile that we shall always remember him."

"Coach Dick, as he was known to us," said William Cummings, "was loved by his athletes. He knew how to lead and he was an admirable loser. It was not the games but the men and

VALENTINE TEA

Mrs. Willard Dalrymple, president of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, entertained her executive board and new club members most delightfully last Monday afternoon at the Club House. Instead of the usual musical trio and reception as a background for this hospitality, she gave her guests the original and altogether charming entertainment of an author's reading from her own works by one of Newton's authors, Emma Downing Coolidge. After the reading of "The Dreamer" by Miss Coolidge, the hostess served tea and other dainty refreshments, including sandwiches, valentine cakes and candies and salted nuts. In spite of the storm, the cheer and comfort within the flower-decorated room made a most enjoyable occasion.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

"MR. DICK"

In the passing of Coach Allie Dickenson the youth of the city has lost a most wonderful and inspiring leader; the city has lost a beloved citizen; and his friends and family have lost a true companion. He has gone to his peaceful rest, but not in spirit and may that spirit ever remain. All Newton loved him but best of all was his love for Newton.

MEDFORD WINS 39-29

Last Friday afternoon the Medford high school track team defeated Newton high 39 to 29 on the Medford track. Prior to the meet Medford was a slight favorite because of the fact that they were running on their own track. This advantage pulled them through as the orange and black, displaying considerable strength, was hampered by the midget 73-yard track. The return of "Bud" Edgerly of Medford to competition and his victory over Captain Fullerton in the dash was a feature. The Medford athlete was making his first track appearance of the season having been recovering from a football injury received Thanksgiving Day. He is also a good 300-yard runner but his knee was not strong enough to permit him to take the banks so he confined his activities to the dash. Fullerton's defeat in the dash can be discounted considerably because the distance was but 20 yards and in a dash of normal length there is little doubt but what the Newton man would have won as it was but a matter of a few inches at the tape.

Fullerton was the high point scorer of the meet with a first in the broad jump, second in the dash, and running anchor on the winning relay. Newton's victory in the relay was unexpected but Cole won the first bank and held his advantage as did the other three runners.

The 1000-yard run, with Jimmy McCruden of Newton staging a brilliant finish to win by six inches, was the most exciting event of the afternoon. Running in fourth place McCruden overtook the leaders and nipped Molea of Medford one yard from the finish line. Hession of Newton was third.

Despite the handicap of a small track the Newton runners made a brilliant showing. Medford swept the 600-yard run but Cummings of Newton was right on the heels of the third runner and had been able to set his pace to the track might have pulled through a pointwinner. Cole of Newton was under the same difficulty in the 300-yard and had to be content with a third.

The high jump, although three jumpers cleared 5 feet, 6 inches, was rather disappointing as Hammond failed to force Chalmers, the Medford star, to his usual height. Chalmers won at 5 feet, 9 inches, Hammond was second with 5 feet, 8 inches, and Ebelhare of Newton, 5 feet, 7 inches, third. As was expected Fullerton and Hammond placed one and two in the broad jump with leaps of 9 feet, 9 1/2 inches, and 9 feet, 5 1/2 inches, respectively. Another event, the shot put, also ran true to form with Medford taking first and second places. Macey beat out Gatchell for third place.

In one of the most brilliant of hockey games this season Newton high won a clean-cut victory over Arlington high last Friday night at the Arena in the opening game of the round-robin interscholastic series. James Brown, Newton centre ice, who got his chance to start because of the ineligibility of Captain Stubbs, whose place was taken care of by Spain, was the best player on the ice and made good by a wide margin. The second game in the series will be played to-night with Newton facing Melrose and Cambridge meeting Arlington.

Newton's three goals resulted from excellent teamwork with Brown, Powers, and Andres tallying. Brown counted after a minute and a half of fast hockey in the opening period on a pass from Powers. The play was so fast at this point that many of the spectators as well as the Arlington players thought the disc glanced off of Brown's skate but it was a clean score. Throughout the remainder of the period the Newton six peppered the opposing goalie but his fine work prevented several scores. In the second period Newton picked up where they had left off and Arlington resorted to more or less of a defensive and individual game. With less than five minutes to play in the period Powers got loose, took a pass from Brown, who was blocked by the Arlington defense pair, and tallied.

The third period displayed rugged hockey and referee Burkhardt was compelled to rule with an iron hand. At one time both teams were playing with but four men each. About half way through the session Andres received a pass from Proctor and drove the puck into the net. Chamberlain had no chance to even reach it as he had been pulled out in an attempt to block Proctor's rush.

Newton will endeavor to get nearer to the title by doing its best to score a victory over the Melrose six tonight. If the victory is forthcoming they will then have but Cambridge left to defeat on Tuesday afternoon. This however will be their hardest game of the season. Cambridge upset them on the outdoor rink in the preliminary series and is confident of making it two wins. The winner of the title is slated to go against the Montreal champions and if successful will be matched against the best team in Toronto. There is some question whether the Newton team will play any post season games because of the iron clad rule against such games at the local school level.

The Newton high school swimming team suffered its first defeat of the season Saturday afternoon when, competing out of its class, it lost to the Exeter academy team at Exeter, 41 to 21. Lloyd of Osborne was the star of the meet and kept his record for the season clean by coming in a winner of the 100-yard and 200-yard swims. These were the only first places scored by the orange and black the other points being collected by two seconds and five thirds.

The summary:
 200-Yard Relay—Won by Exeter (Eashagen, Olstead, R. V. Clark, Leoser). Time, 1m. 47s.

50-Yard Dash—Won by Eashagen (E); second, Lodge (N); third, Soule (N). Time 27 1/5s.

100-Yard Swim—Won by Osborne (N); second, Looser (E); third, Merrill (N). Time, 58s.

200-Yard Swim—First, Osborne (N); second, Delima (E); third, Savage (E). Time, 2m. 26s. (New pool record).

ANDOVER MEET TOMORROW

Newton high track team is entered in the Andover Interscholastic meet at Andover tomorrow afternoon. With several strong runners and field event men the orange and black should annex a fair number of points. Drawings for the 300-yard, 600-yard, and 1000-yard runs were made the middle of the week and Newton did not fare too badly. In the 300-yard run one Newton runner will be in the sixth position in the third heat and another Newton man will have the pole in the fourth heat. In the 1000-yard run Newton drew the fifth and sixteenth positions in the first heat and the twelfth position in the second heat. Newton fared worst in the 600-yard run by drawing the eleventh place in the first heat and seventh in the second heat. The relay will run against Brookline in a race which is expected to be one of the best events of the day. Newton should win. A few weeks ago at Brookline the orange and black lost by a narrow margin but in the return at Newton the local four won by a margin of about fifteen yards.

smoother attack and also a better defense than the Blue. Brown, Newton Centre ice, was the outstanding player and he tallied both goals for the orange and black.

Captain Wilson Crosby of the Exeter academy hockey team pulled his team through 2 to 1 against Andover last Saturday in the annual affair between the two rival schools. Crosby scored the first tally in the opening period out of a scrimmage in front of the net. In the second period the West Newton boys missed a good chance but in the final session he made amends for this by passing to a teammate who tallied. Tom Gilligan had considerable to do with keeping the Andover team from scoring until the closing minutes of the game when Capt. Luce saved his team from a shut-out.

The Newton Centre Squash tennis team in the Class B division of the Massachusetts squash racquets association contests finished its schedule last Saturday with its seventh clean sweep in eight matches. In addition to this record the south side five lost but one individual contest in its march to the championship. The Weston Club was the latest victim.

As a result of the matches in Class C last Saturday three teams, Newton Centre, Union B. C., and B. A. A., are tied for first place. By winning all its matches from Lincoln's Inn the Newton Centre five made up the one point margin the Union B. C. had when this team lost one of its contests to Chestnut Hill. The B. A. A. got into the triple tie by shutting out Weston. The University Club won a 4 to 1 victory over the Newton Club.

A complete overturn in hockey circles was experienced last Saturday when Dartmouth subdued the Bull-Dog up in Hanover. The Green was superior to the Blue in matters of stamina, and substitutions with the result that they came out on the long end of the score after two over-time periods. Yale's whole strength, as far as scoring power went was in the person of Dick Vaughan of Newton Centre. He has ably filled his brother Wayland's shoes all year. There is no question of his value for he is the leading scorer besides having a large number of assists to his credit. He tallied twice in the game and fed the puck to Frey for the other tally. Although Dick Rogers did not scoring he was prominent in the game. As one of the Alumni players said he is almost the whole team. His ability to check back, which added to his speed has made him a valuable wing-man.

In the Carnival events at Dartmouth this past week were various outdoor sports such as skiing, snow-shoeing, and ice-skating. At the instigation of the Carnival Committee there was added speed racing to the lists of sports. Charles Jewtraw, the famed speed skater came up for a few days as coach, and as a result many interesting races took place. One of the leaders in this style of racing was Schofield Harris of West Newton, who was one of the first men in the contest. He is a sophomore at Hanover, and a member of the athletic trinity of Bryant, Rogers, and Harris.

Cushing, along with many other Massachusetts towns staged a Winter Carnival, and as a final number on the athletic program took Wilbraham Academy into camp in the annual basketball game. On the Berkshire team was Sederquist formerly of Newton who played a good consistent game as forward. His only experience prior to making the squad at Wilbraham was in the Church League in Newton.

In at the Boston Y. M. C. A. two former Newton High School athletes showed their paces in the annual Private School meet held last Saturday. For DeWitt Clinton Preparatory School Wendell Carr ran a pretty race in the 1000-yard race nipping the prospective third place man with an inspired spurt at the finish he was pushed all the way by an older and more experienced runner from Nobles and Greenough, but fought his way through to a tie for fourth place. He left Newton when he was but a sophomore, but already he had shown promise in the 440 and the 300. He was one of the four star men who are running this year, Brewer and Cummings at Newton and Rich at Taber Academy. Rich was also present at the meet heaving the iron shot out some forty-three feet. That putt is about five feet better than any man in the school at the present time. He is a distinctly good looking prospect for Eddie Farrell of Harvard, or some famed coach of weight men. Despite his extraordinary putt, extraordinary at least for one as young as he is, he was only able to take a second placing almost a foot behind the Huntington entry.

In the Interfraternity basketball game between the Phi Gamma Pi fraternity of Northeastern and the Phi Gamma Delta of Brown, the former team came off the victor. The latter had on their rolls the person of Ned Kevorkian, the football player who has won fame for himself as a basketball player in the Interfraternity League at the Providence College. He has been one of the chief reasons for the inability of teams to score on the Phi Gam team, being very fast and shifty despite his weight.

Exeter captured the ice title from Andover again. The Red and Gray took the title in a very slow game, because of the condition of the ice, it was practically impossible for the teams to play at anywhere near the top speed. Captain Crosby had the honor of closing the season with a tally and an assist, while Tom Gilligan played through the entire game as a defense man. His ankle evidently has returned to somewhat its old form, and he will be all ready when the call comes for baseball candidates.

When the call was sounded for the Harvard Varsity to report to Fred Mitchell for February 23rd, Howard Whitmore was one of the first mentioned as likely looking prospects for the pitching berth. He was the leading hurler on the freshman team last year,

SPORT NOTES

Williams College hopes for an undefeated season in swimming advanced considerably last Saturday night when the Purple scored an easy victory over M. I. T. mermen. The relay team, with Phelps swimming second, won as it has in previous meets.

Souther, Huntington's star forward, was the outstanding player in the Huntington-Rivers school basketball game last Friday which the former won 33 to 9. The Waban youth with six goals from the floor and three on free tries scored 15 points for the winners.

Among the veteran Harvard baseball candidates this year will be Bill Ellison, hockey captain. The Newton youth, who was displaced last year by Bill Jones will make an effort to regain his batting eye. If he does he may hold down the outfield vacancy caused by the graduation of Captain Todd of last year's nine.

Among the many interesting bits of news of the week is the announcement of the Medford football schedule for next fall. Newton is on the list once more after a year's absence. The date arranged is Oct. 1, and the game will be played on Clafin Field.

Last Saturday afternoon the Newton High School football team added another victory to its list by taking the Yale freshman six into camp 2 to 1 at New Haven. The local team had a holding the Varsity at one time to one hit in five innings. His past record has been a good one for he was the star twirler of the Newton team for three years, and later was prominent in the league that plays during the summer-time on the Cape. His rather is in out-witting the batter rather than relying on curves or sheer speed.

At the Interclass Meet at Boston University last Tuesday, the freshmen were triumphant. In part their efforts were helped by the presence by some Newton men. John Ramsden, end last year on the football team, and member of the track squad placed second in the hurdles, following Tommy Thompson, a junior from Newton. Fred Onthank, a senior from Chestnut Hill, barely led Winnie Mercer, the oldtime 600 man to the tape in a close finish. Thompson also placed runner-up in the high jump, which was his old event while at Newton. All taken together it was entirely a meet that had a decided Orange and Black tinge.

The West Point hockey team defeated the University of Vermont six, 1 to 0, last Saturday on the Army rink. In the line-up of the Vermont team was the name of Perry at goal. That person was Phil Perry, former Newton high swimming captain, who, without previous hockey experience, has won for himself the varsity net position over other candidates, one of which played several years at prep school. Perry, by the way, had 43 stops to his credit.

Yale made a runaway of its hockey game with Syracuse University on Monday, winning by the lopsided score of 18 to 1. Dick Vaughan, diminutive centre ice, tallied five times.

Allen-Chalmers basketball five lost to the Belmont high school quintet Monday afternoon on the Belmont floor. The score was 40-20. McDade, Allen centre, was the private school team star with 12 points.

Leo J. Bova, Jr., of Newtonville, a junior at Boston University, was among ten members of the cross country team that were awarded letters this week by the B. U. athletic committee.

Joseph C. Saunders of Newtonville, who is also a junior at B. U., was awarded numerals for his work in the recent interclass meet.

George Owen and his University Club hockey team dropped its first game of the season Monday night at the Arena when Harvard, playing its best hockey for several weeks, came through on top, 6 to 3. The University Club was the favorite before the game but Harvard deserved its win. Owen scored the opening tally in the first period and it looked as though the veterans were on their way until near the close of the period when Harvard counted three in rapid succession. In the second period the Crimson scored twice with Coady counting Harvard's fifth point. Ellison added another point to Harvard's total in the final session. The club's second tally was made by a Harvard player when the puck glanced off his stick. Owen made the Club's third tally from a scrimmage in front of the net.

The intramural basketball tourney at the high school came to a close last week with the orange teams coming out on top with a small margin over the black fives. 110 ten games in all were played with the orange fives winning sixty-three times. The junior team from Room 103, captain by Gove, made the best record of any team in the league, winning all of its contests. After the vacation which comes next week two teams from each class will be chosen and these will compete in a round-robin series next month.

Tomorrow evening the Newton Y basketball team will clash with the Lowell Y quintet in a Two-State league game on the local floor. The Newton Y 2nd team will be matched against some other team of its class. On Wednesday evening of next week the Y first and second fives will play two teams of the Alpha Pi Club of Belmont at Belmont.

In the senior class basketball league at the Newton Y two games were played last Tuesday night. Waltham defeated Brighton, 18 to 8, keeping its record clean in its four starts while the losers have yet to win their first game. In the other game Newton defeated Watertown, 11 to 10, with the former dividing the second place tie with its victory by advancing to within one game of a tie for first place.

The games next Tuesday will be Watertown vs Brighton and Waltham vs Newton.

Needham Congregationalists had an easy time defeating the Central Congos 62 to 10 last Friday night in the only Sunday school basketball league game played. The Watertown Baptist-Newtonville Methodist game was postponed and will probably be played next Wednesday night. The standing to date follows:

	W.	L.	P.C.
Watertown M. E.	5	1	.833
Needham Cong.	5	2	.714
Newtonville M. E.	4	2	.666
Elliot Cong.	4	2	.666
Watertown Bapt.	1	5	.166
Central Cong.	0	7	.000

Games tonight will be Elliot vs Watertown M. E. and Watertown Bapt. vs Needham Cong.

Tomorrow afternoon the Newton Y business men's volleyball team will play a return game with the Boston Y team at Boston. The following Newton men will make the trip: R. Green, A. Barker, E. Ryan, H. Pelton, R. Millard, R. Keane, R. Patterson, C. Crawford, and H. Rathgeber.

Newton's entries in the A. A. U. wrestling meet at the Cambridge Y tomorrow evening are: 135 lb., Fred Patterson and Frank Cassidy; 147 lb., Henry J. Vachon and Joe Arsenault; 160 lb., Joseph Vachon and Howard Chapin.

The Allen School basketball team nosed out the Practical Arts School quintet, 13 to 10, Wednesday afternoon on the Allen court. McDade, Allen centre, played his usual fast game and tallied 10 points for his team.

Brown hockey team outplayed Boston University Wednesday night in a stirring hockey game, 3 to 2. The Terriers had the edge in the first period with Gyp Lawless, the West Newton youth, getting B. U.'s best counters. He was easily the best player on the ice and would have counted more but for the impregnable defense of the Brown team in the two final periods.

HAS 91ST BIRTHDAY

Miss Sarah Fuller, pioneer educator of the deaf and Principal Emerita of the Horace Mann School of Boston, observed her ninety-first birthday quietly at her home, 123 Concord street, Newton Lower Falls, on Tuesday, February fifteenth.

She received messages of congratulation and greeting from institutions for the deaf in all parts of the United States and many cards, gifts and flowers from friends near home. She has lived in the same house for seventy-seven years. She is in excellent health and is occupied now in outlining a Course of instruction for mothers of very young deaf children.

On Sunday afternoon a delegation of young men, her former pupils in the Horace Mann School, called and presented her with a large basket of fruit.

SEASCOUT SPRAY

The first Awarding Court of Honor was held Friday evening, February 11, at the Seascout Division Headquarters, Seascouts Leslie A. Dutton and Kenneth B. McMullin were given special ratings of "Ordinary Seascout," which were presented by the Chairman of the Court of Honor, Mr. William V. M. Fawcett of Newton. Mr. William T. Halliday, President of Norumbega Council, Inc., spoke to the Seascouts and their friends in appreciation of the work that is being done by this new branch of the organization and said that the Council was right back of the Division and ready to help in any way possible. Mr. J. A. Mitchell, the Regional Seascout Executive, outlined the plans for the cruise of the "Black Duck" this summer. All boys who are registered Seascouts are eligible for this cruise on Long Island Sound. He estimated the cost at about twelve dollars a week per boy and it is hoped that this expense will be donated so that our Seascouts may enjoy this week's cruise at no expense whatever.

A meeting of the Seascout Committee of the Council and the new Ship Thirteen Committee was held after the Awarding Court of Honor. At this meeting Mr. Donald M. Hill was elected membership on the Seascout Committee.

Two week-end trips are now "in the air" for the boys, one this Saturday for those Seascouts constituting the Port Watch and one next Saturday for the Starboard Watch. Both crews are going by auto to the Marshfield Hills Camp loaned by Mate Robert D. Gilmore of West Newton, whose generosity gives the Seascouts a taste of the salt water during the winter months at North River, just west of Fourth Cliff Compass Station. Mate Norman A. Weaver, also of West Newton, will be in charge of these trips and will supervise the work of the boys while in camp.

Seascouts will take tickets and usher at a benefit performance of "The Buntings" at the Newton Centre Women's Club on the evening of February 23 by the Sailor's Haven Woman's Aid for the Sailor's Haven in Boston.

EDITORIAL

Every friend of the Newton High School, and the number is legion, feels a sense of personal loss in the untimely and unexpected death of "Allie" Dickinson, for seventeen years the loved teacher and coach of High School athletics. During that period, hundreds of boys have come under the strong influence of Mr. Dickinson, and have felt his guiding hand in the formation of character and manliness. Many attempts have been made to induce him to leave Newton and his decisions to stay with us are creditable alike to his devotion to his work and to the conditions under which he served.

Such a man deserves a lasting memorial in order that future students of the High School may realize the impress he made on all the students who came under his care. We suggest that immediate steps be taken to raise a sufficient fund to build a worthy stadium for athletic sports at the High School and that it bear the name of Mr. Dickinson.

The honor paid to Mr. Samuel F. Wilkins, on the completion of a service of fifty years as treasurer of the Boston City Missionary Society, is fully deserved. A half century of public service of this kind is creditable alike to the man and to the organization.

OPPOSE LONGER PARKING PERIODS

from where they can find a place on some street to park. Mr. Holmes replied "that while persons attending theatres in Boston seem willing to do this, persons patronizing the Community object to walking the distance between that theatre and the parking space 150, or so, yards distant. Chief of Police Burke stated, in answer to a question by Alderman Hinkley, "that he doubted the feasibility of allowing autoists to park their cars for unlimited periods six nights a week, and then expect them to observe a 30 minute limit on Saturday evenings." Alderman Hinkley was sceptical as to autoists observing signs which would contain detailed information concerning different parking restrictions for different nights.

Andrew J. Ford suggested "that when the traffic rules at Nonantum square be changed to permit autos coming from the North to make a left turn, instead of being compelled to circle the Trust Company building, that the M & B car terminus be moved in a southerly direction as little as possible." Mr. Ford stated "that to move the terminus too far towards the Trust Company building, would seriously impede traffic at the south-east corner of Centre and Washington streets. Chief Burke favors having but one electric car at a time on the M & B terminus in Nonantum square. Alderman Earle proposed that before the permanent traffic tower is erected at Nonantum square, a temporary stand be placed there to assist in determining the best position for the tower. Albert Walker suggested that a large sign be placed at the parking reservation above Centre Place and that this sign be illuminated.

E. H. Powers told the aldermen "that the parking spaces at Newton Corner should be defined by painted lines. At some places in the Newton Corner business section, automobiles must park at different angles than at other places. Persons park cars at all kinds of angles. This lack of system causes a comparatively few cars to occupy spaces in which a much larger number of cars could be accommodated if the parking spaces were properly marked." It has been stated that the reason the city does not paint guiding lines for the parking spaces is because of the high cost of the cement paint used for such a purpose. Chief Burke explained that the large cost is greater than the material cost in keeping these parking spaces defined.

Chairman Grebenstein requested the committee of the Newton Corner Business Associates to make a canvas of the business men in that section to ascertain their opinions regarding the matter of unlimited parking during the evening hours.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

There have been a few strenuous hearings this week on Beacon hill. The opponents to the Sunday sports law were on hand Tuesday and entered strong protests against commercializing the Sabbath. The Legal Affairs committee had a hot session with the advocates and opponents of the bill to prevent a pre-marital agreement over possible children. The numerous "crime" bills were heard on Wednesday.

In the House on Tuesday Representative Luitwieler was almost alone in his efforts to substitute his bill prohibiting strikes for an adverse report of committee.

It is interesting to note that the city council of Boston is making an attempt to form a Greater Boston and proposes to hold a conference in the near future with delegations from the cities and towns in the Metropolitan area.

President Heffernan of the Boston City Council is also after the Boston businessman who resides in the suburbs. He proposes to assess a moderate tax on all such persons. Such a new source of revenue might bring millions of dollars into city coffers, Heffernan said. "The City Government certainly must find some such additional revenue, if it is to continue to provide required traffic improvements, police, transportation expansion, lighting, etc."

The city now spends upward of $500,000 annually for these purposes. The class of persons upon whom I would impose this additional tax now pay little or nothing of this $500,000, and get most of the benefits out of it that Bostonians themselves get. Those doing business in Boston, but persisting in avoiding Boston direct taxation by living outside the city, are thus getting away with a good deal at the expense of Bostonians.

A hearing was held Tuesday on the bill of Representative Hollis to allow a circular of information to be sent out to all the voters of Newton giving certain information regarding the various candidates for city election. The bill was explained by Mr. Hollis, who said it would allow Newton to expend money to educate its voters. Mr. J. W. Bartlett, called attention that the bill was permissive and thought it should be looked at from the point of view of the voter, not the candidate. City Clerk Grant stated that it would cost about $1000 and made several minor suggestions to improve the bill. Alderman W. B. Baker thought it of the city to get information to the voters and pointed out that the bill was an experiment subject to continuation or rejection at the wish of the aldermen. Alderman G. M. Heathcote pointed out what he believed were some of the defects in the bill and Alderman Walter Hodgdon was opposed to the bill. He suggested that if we were to have a civil service examination for candidates, what was the need of holding an election.

There was another lively hearing on Wednesday on the proposed referendum to the people on the 18th amendment and the Volstead act. The wets and dries came out in force, although everyone knows that such a referendum would be of no practical use except for one side or the other to say "I told you so." Hon. J. Weston Allen was one of the speakers in opposition.

Representative Luitwieler was a speaker in favor of the bill for life imprisonment for incorrigible criminals, a bill similar to the Baumes Act of New York State.

POLICE NEWS

Frank Marcoll, 17, of 400 Langley Road, Newton Centre, was arrested Wednesday night by Serg. Bannan and Officer Bibbo. About a year ago Marcoll was accused of snatching a pocket-book from a woman. He then fled. The police have been watching for his return, and nabbed him when they saw him. In court yesterday he was bound over to the Grand Jury in $5000 bonds.

Louis Feola of 121 Warren street, Newton Centre, was in court yesterday charged with reckless driving. His car and a taxi owned by the Ross Taxi Company collided the other day at the corner of Lowell Avenue and Austin Street, Newtonville. The Ross taxi was badly damaged. Feola was found guilty on the testimony of Abe Goodman of Lowell Avenue, who claimed the defendant was driving at a high rate of speed. The case was continued until today.

Someone stole Sid Chant's Buick car Tuesday evening while it was parked on Pearl Street. The car was later recovered on Los Angeles Street. A Silvanus Smith of 220 Woodland Road was fined $5 in court yesterday for leaving the motor of his automobile running, while unattended. Inspector John Shaughnessy must be intensely fond of Newton's much maligned water. John's water bill for the past year was $70.

DEATH OF COACH DICKINSON

his interest always lay in their welfare." Mr. Cummings concluded his remarks by reading "In Flanders Fields."

Mr. Palmer contrasted the seasonal coach and the well-rounded coach. "Mr. Dickinson was from the beginning a teacher as well as a coach. He taught with all the thought he could command and with the goal to aid in the fullest attainment of noble manhood. Health and physical well-being were his aims. Newton boys have a reputation for clean sports which is due to Mr. Dickinson's time and thought to instill those attributes that would carry over into college. He developed a love for play and fortitude to enable his boys and girls to carry on in later life, but above all he placed character and manhood."

"The element of success in any school or institution," concluded Mr. Bacon, "depends a great deal on its traditional heritage. To a great degree this is the power and spirit of personality. Our school is rich in such heritage and Coach Dickinson has contributed his share. As long as football cleats and baseball spikes shall tramp the athletic field, his influence will be felt."

The exercises were concluded with the singing of "I Am a Pilgrim," by Edward Griffin, supervisor of music in the Newton schools.

Among the many tributes paid to the popular Newton mentor are the following:

George Owen—"Mr. Dickinson's influence was not limited to the athletic field. He taught his boys how to conduct themselves on and off the field. He was a good influence and I can truthfully say that I have worked under no more inspiring coach. Mr. Dick was not a man who advocated the 'fight talk' and other emotional practices to inspire his football pupils. He was quiet and sincere. He was the kind of a coach you could believe in. He got his ideas across in a mild-mannered and efficient way. There were not many like him. I spent eight summers with Mr. Dickinson as a boy and counsellor at his camp, Passaconaway, Lake Winnepesaukee, and it was only at his urging that I began playing football as a Senior at Newton high. He was an able teacher, a delightful character, a solid citizen. His boys at Newton and at camp will mourn his loss."

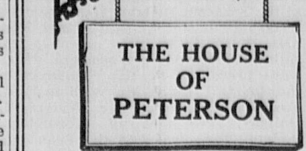

Albert J. Woodcock—"In the sudden death of Alfred W. Dickinson, coach of Newton High athletic team, a boy sport lost one of its outstanding figures and one of its greatest influences for good. A principle of clean heads-up play, he was always ready to help the obscure boy as the top-notch. His pupils adored him, their parents honored and respected him. More than his share of winning teams, more than his quota of boys who later became stars in college but far above these accomplishments must stand his attitude in behalf of 'square shooting' and clean playing of which he was both preacher and example. 'Allie' Dickinson's going leaves a gap hard to fill."

Thomas Hines, Brookline coach—"The death of Allie Dickinson, my friend, is hard to realize. Brookline deeply sympathizes with his family, the Newton school faculty and the boys who were under his influence, which was individual in character. His ways with youth were remarkable and a lesson to us all. All Brookline regrets his passing."

He has gone, Coach Dick has passed on to his final reward, leaving countless mourners, and friends behind. Born in Norwich, Conn., at some forty-two years ago, the only son of a minister, he moved to Somerville, where he was active in his great love, athletics. From there he entered Brown University in the class of '07, playing baseball for four years, and basketball for two. Upon graduating from the university he decided that teaching and coaching were to be his professions, and accordingly he went to the Harvard Graduate School where he studied Government and History. At the same time he was teaching at school and coaching Somerville High in his off-time. He remained at Somerville for two years until he answered the call of Newton in 1910. His years of service in that city need no explanation or recalling, they speak for themselves.

Mr. Dickinson was not the ordinary coach. He had the ability to lead the youth of the school in the ways that he had clearly marked out for himself. His desire was to make character, rather than to make champions, for he had the belief that character makes champions in every walk of life. To play the game was not enough for him. He wanted to instill the spirit of the game, which called for the highest types of sportsmanship, and the keenest sense of duty. Never did he strive for a victory at the cost of a boy's health, or for a championship that would ruin the team for future years. He lived, and taught by his living, the ideal of clean up-right manhood that could not be defeated in the eye, and smile for it had done its best. Long ago Mr. Dick realized that sports were needed in order to keep manhood in proper condition for the grueling task of meeting life, and to that end he bent every effort. The mass system of athletics, that was his thought and expression, has been copied and patterned by many schools and colleges until it is a nation-wide conception of athletics. To Newton he left an heritage that few could equal, for he placed the desire to be men, before they are anything else in the hearts of every boy that has come under his care. His wish that all might indulge in athletics is on its way to be completed by reason of his far-seeing plans, and the hope that all boys might come to love the out-doors is approaching fulfillment because of his careful teaching of the benefits of living in the open.

Men such as Mr. Dick was have not lived in vain. There are infinite ways in which they live long after their souls have heard the call. He left to Newton a higher call to honor, than any creed or sermon. His life itself has sounded the call to higher living, and the memories of the days spent with him on the field, at the home, or in the school will best guard against the trials and storms of future life. Boyhood has lost a friend who knew their wants, who sympathized with their troubles, who guided their thoughts, but they have left them an example that will live enshrined forever in their hearts. There is not one of them who has not come away from room 13, without a finer outlook on life. There is not one that wears the insignia of the school who is not able to teach the doctrine that he stood for. With no deliberate effort to teach Mr. Dick left an indelible print on each boy the marks of a true man. The letter that is the goal of school-boys, means more to the graduates of this school than many others, for it means first, last, and always that you were tried and not wanting in the eyes of a man that demanded the best and only the best. Life has few men who can leave the youth of today thoughts of the morrow that strengthen them and stand by them in times of stress. His is not the glory that was Rome's but rather the glory that is Rome's!

Everywhere on Clafin Field one can see the imprint of his work. As through the gate come the players, of by-gone days, as one sees the crowd that has come to see the finest type of sport, and as one sees the players of the day, one conceives the vast work that he has accomplished. He lived by actions rather than by words, and never did a man leave a clearer interpretation of life than he did. One cannot help wondering how many problems came to his door, and were taken away with a feeling that life was worth the cost. His work as far as living is done, but his work will never cease as long as any of those that came into contact with him live for they will carry on the thoughts that he left with them.

Seldom does one have the opportunity to see the sight that greeted the visitor to Newton High School. If he passed by the door of Room 13, he would view the boys of the school gathered around the threshold, completely hiding the man that they were talking to. A painter could well have painted the picture and labeled it, "America in the Making." "Boys of today are the men of tomorrow" was something Mr. Dick firmly believed, and in that belief he labored that we might have better men. A boy was a precious thing to him, and he was of mankind when he first entered the high school, but when he left he was usually of firm intent, and steady courage. Coach loved the boys, and when one considers that boys are slow to trust, the utter abandon with which they trusted him was ample proof of his ability to win the boy. And when the boy was won, the work was done, for he was eager to follow the will of the master.

Newton has lost that which it can never have again. Coach Dick has gone to the Better Lands. But one can never pass Clafin Field without an unconscious tightening of the heart, a little stiffer spine, and a wee mist before his eyes. One cannot see the flag flying in all its glory without trying to be worthy of the symbolic colors. One cannot enter the school without feeling that somewhere there is the divine touch of comradeship that makes labor the same as play. One can never see the orange N without the thought of the maker of the letter. Wherever one goes in Newton one sees the actual existence of his memory. But one can see it wherever Newton men may meet, for there will be the spirit that he taught for, played for, and taught; the spirit of the honest man. He is gone. But as long as the youth of the city pull on spikes, or as long as athletics are played in the schools there will always be that guiding power that will carry the torch he left for us to carry on. Gone to the Maker of Men, "the Builder of Men."

A FITTING TRIBUTE

To the Graphic: I came away from the simple and beautiful service in Newton High School this morning with deep and humble gratitude in my heart that such a man as Alfred W. Dickinson had lived and that the citizens of Newton had had the benefit of his life and teachings for the last seventeen years. It brought our great debt to him irresistibly to my mind and it seemed to me that the truest tribute we could pay to his memory would be to carry out the project that was closest to his heart, and for which he had worked untiringly with all his quiet but convincing force.

While Mr. Dickinson was best known to most people as a high type and successful coach, to me his outstanding characteristic was as a character builder, for he invariably used his coaching along those lines; in fact, that was the real basis of his tremendous devotion to athletics. It followed, therefore, that he should feel that the greatest good could not be attained without giving to every boy and girl in the schools an opportunity to take advantage of physical and athletic instruction. Realizing of course the hopeless inadequacy of the present athletic plant at Clafin Field, up to the very day of death he had worked unceasingly and against most discouraging odds to gain for the pupils of Newton High School a fully equipped and modern athletic plant. I know that he wished most earnestly to see such an accomplishment before he should relinquish his coaching duties at the school. He has gone without seeing it. Let us who are left behind, and who, as citizens of Newton, owe to him a debt which none can fully realize, much less ever repay, take up the torch he has laid down and finish what he started. Let us, without further talk and delay, see to it that such a field as was his dream becomes a reality.

Let it be known as the Dickinson Memorial Field, not merely as a tribute to him, but as a capitalization and perpetuation of the inspiring mental, spiritual and physical teaching of Newton youth to which he gave unselfishly and unsparingly the last seventeen years of his life. For generations to come no boy or girl could see or hear that name and not be inspired to carry on the tradition of sportsmanship and manliness instilled for years by the life and teachings of Alfred W. Dickinson.

If the City Government can afford to bear only part of the expense I am sure that every citizen of Newton would be truly honored to be allowed to share in the accomplishment of such an enterprise.

Very truly yours,

THOMAS T. HINKLEY.

Feb. 16, 1927.

STATEMENT OF ATHLETIC POLICY

The following statement regarding the continuance of athletics at the high school was issued Wednesday by Director of Physical Education, Clifford L. Brown.

"Athletics at Newton High School are stunted by the loss of Coach Dickinson. It is largely due to his efforts that our athletic activities may truly be considered a vital part of the secondary education program. Our duty to perpetuate the memory of Mr. Dickinson lies plainly before us. We must maintain the high standards of excellence in athletics which he has so clearly demonstrated. No change in the present athletic policy of Newton High School is contemplated. Definite plans for baseball and track have been under way for some weeks. Baseball practice indoors will begin immediately after the vacation period. The indoor track schedule will be completed, and outdoor track started as soon as weather conditions will permit."

SKIDDING AUTOMOBILES COLLIDE

Last Friday as Paxton Boyd of 47 Hancock Avenue, Newton Centre, was driving on Beacon Street, near Mills Lane, a truck suddenly stopped in front of him. As he applied the brakes, his car skidded. Elizabeth Mills of 1238 Beacon Street, who was driving by, also applied the brakes to her car, which likewise skidded on the icy street. The two skidding cars collided and were damaged. Miss Mills complained of injuries to her back.

ARRESTED FOR STEALING

Six years ago Frank White was delivering coal in the house at 541 Ward street, occupied by F. W. Freeman. Mr. White espied some real pre-war liquor in the cellar, and could not resist the temptation. He and two other coal deliverers, who were with him, took 18 bottles of the pre-war stuff, valued at $90; a conservative estimate. They were brought to court and ordered to make restitution, or go to jail for a month. They agreed to make restitution. The other two men did. White did not. He was vamoosed. Recently White was sentenced to Deer Island jail for 30 days for another minor theft. His finger prints were taken. Inspector Goode, the fingerprint expert of the Newton police, in examining finger-prints at Police Headquarters noticed the resemblance to prints he had taken of White six years ago, although White gave the name of Huston Stout to the Boston police. So, when White finished his 30 days down the harbor, Goode was waiting at the wharf and brought him to Newton; thence to East Cambridge jail to serve the sentence imposed in 1920.

SCHOOL NOTES

F. A. Day Junior High School

The very worth while new fad "Ask Me Another" has captured teachers and pupils alike. Many of the teachers think it a good scheme, however, to learn the answers to the questions included in the book so that there will be no chance of their being caught napping!

To the Parents

Christmas has come and gone but there is always an opportunity to play Santa Claus lurking just around the corner.

You see it is this way, our library is growing and we are a might proud of it. Actual figures show that we have enlarged the number of volumes on our shelves from two hundred to nearly eight hundred.

Where do you parents come in? Right here. We feel that it is through fiction that the library makes its first appeal. Only gradually does a love and knowledge of the use of reference material come to the pupil.

Just now our funds are getting low. You are going to hear more from us in the forth coming drive. We may ask you to bear with us through an Evening's Entertainment—but this time we are asking if you will go over your bookshelves and contribute at least one volume, of any kind which you think will be of interest to Junior High School pupils?

Thank you—we knew you would help!

The spirit of that benign old Saint Valentine has been hovering over the school during this past week. Everywhere there has been rejoicing in the form of exchanging valentines and in the more tangible form of party food. Ice cream and candy, IG had a Valentine breakfast, Rosetta Littlefield and Dorothy Carroll decorated the dining room attractively and appropriately. The guests were Miss Lougee and Miss Doran who wished to have it very specially noted that she wore a red sweater to harmonize with the decorations. If one could judge from the expressions of enjoyment on the faces of the guests he could be sure that his breakfast was just another success chalked up for Mrs. Sandwall and her girls.

On last Friday there was the feeling in the air that is always noticeable when there is a celebration coming. The ninth grade girls gave a party for the girls of the seventh grade. Every one entered into the spirit of the fun and most evident was the enjoyment. Special entertainment was provided by Rosetta Littlefield, who danced, Audrey Bartington who sang, Gertrude Welch who recited. Nathalie Welch sang and in the course of the afternoon Evangeline Champagne danced. Charlotte Anderson, accompanied by her mother, played a violin solo. Rena LeBlanc and Anna Caron won a three legged race and every one participated in the general dancing. Not to be forgotten, was the food. For once every one could have all the cake and ice cream that he wanted. Such cake as it was! It was all donated by the families of the children and it goes almost without saying that the youngsters were most appreciative.

The well worn phrase—"A good time was had by all" is so applicable here that we can't resist quoting it.

The Kendrick Club, of which Miss Pratt is President, has just had a meeting. It was preceded by a dinner at the Republican Club. Miss Bragg was the speaker of the evening. As usual, she had something of vital interest to say. She concluded her remarks with the reading of appropriate and beautiful poetry.

The Assembly on Wednesday was in the form of an observance of the birth-days of two of America's greatest ideals—Washington and Lincoln. We had the honor to be addressed by Mayor Childs who stressed the importance of seeing the right movies and reading the right books while young. Commander Ramm of the American Legion continued with remarks relating to the necessity of right living. Mr. Stoddard, Patriotic Instructor of the Grand Army, spoke in his usual way, a way packed with informality, reminiscence and vital health facts. Youth of Newton would do well to follow his example.

Teachers and pupils alike are looking forward to a week's rest and vacation.

Mason

To the Newton Center School Association, the Mason is again indebted. This time it is for much needed footlights which have been placed on the stage of the auditorium. These will make the little plays much more effective. The interest and generosity of the Association are very much appreciated by the teachers and pupils.

To the lively music of the orchestra, the upper grades assembled in the hall on February 14 to meet our distinguished guests, Mayor Childs and Mr. Stoddard, G. A. R. Veteran.

It was good to see and hear Mayor Childs, who could leave his duties to come to us and in a short talk in his straight, forceful way, reach right to the hearts of the children.

It was good, too, to see Mr. Stoddard, who carries his eighty-four years so well and to hear him tell of the Civil War days which are made so much more real to the pupils by the presence of a G. A. R. Veteran.

It was a privilege that the school appreciates. One hundred twelve pupils were neither absent nor tardy the first half year. We hope there will be two hundred twenty-four the next semester.

Patriotic exercises were held in the hall February 18. The third grades gave a series of tableaux depicting scenes in the lives of Washington and Lincoln. The seventh grades presented a very splendid pageant, "In the Days of Washington" and also a very pleasing exercise entitled, "Music in Washington's Time."

Lasell

The faculty, students of the school and friends were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Winslow on Thursday evening, February 17, when the one-act play, "The Florist Shop," was given by the members of the Dramatic Club under the direction of Miss Elinor Stearns. Dr. William A. Bartlett, Director of the Near East Relief, will have charge of the vesper service on Sunday evening, February 20, at 6:15 in Bragdon Hall.

The Glee Club is to sing at the evening service of the Centennial Methodist Church on Sunday evening, February 20, at 7:15.

The annual Washington's Birthday dinner and Costume Party will be held on Tuesday evening, February 22, with the dinner in the separate dining rooms followed by dancing at Woodland Park Hall.

Members of the French Club, under the direction of Mlle. Le Royer, will present the play, "Le Malade Imaginaire," Thursday evening, February 24, at 8 o'clock in Bragdon Hall.

FOR THE ORGAN FUND

On February 28 an organ recital will be given in the West Newton Unitarian Church for the benefit of the High School organ, by a well known American organist, Mr. William E. Zeuch, Boston's foremost concert organist and organist and choirmaster of the First Church, Boston.

Mr. Zeuch was born in Chicago and educated in the public schools of Chicago, and was graduated from Northwestern University. He was for a time a member of the faculty of Northwestern University School of Music, which post he held acceptably for several years.

Mr. Zeuch studied organ with Dr. Peter C. Lutkin of Chicago and Alexander Gullmant in Paris. While in Paris he was organist of St. George's English Episcopal Church. He also studied harmony, counterpoint and composition with Georges Jacob in Paris.

After his return to America he played in many prominent churches in the West, finally moving to Boston, where he is organist and choirmaster of the First Church in Boston. An interesting feature of his day's offering is a one hour recital every Sunday afternoon, which is a marked success. Mr. Zeuch is one of the few organists in the country who understands his audience. This fact is verified by the large audiences who fill his church every Sunday. He plays a program that appeals to everyone.

Those who have heard Mr. Zeuch know what is in store for those who have not yet had the opportunity to hear him.

"THE ADMIRABLE CRICHTON"

"The Admirable Crichton," by Barrie was the production chosen by the senior class of the Newton high school for their annual presentation this year. Performances were given on Friday afternoon and Saturday evening in the new auditorium before a combined audience of nearly two thousand. The production and the portrayal of the various roles was in keeping with the high dramatic traditions of Newton high school. It was well coached, well acted, the mechanical details were without flaws and every member of the cast, the coaches, and all that had the least hand in it, are entitled to much commendation.

It was so well played that it is exceedingly difficult to name any one character as outstanding in itself. Helen S. Ward and E. Granger Hapgood, who played the leading feminine and masculine roles, deserve particular praise for their acting which perhaps stood out above the others because they dominated the play. But due credit should be given to those who played minor roles as all performed in a high grade manner.

The play concerns the democratic aspirations of the Earl of Loam (Gerald C. Hudson), who compels his entire retinue of servants to attend a service by his three daughters, the Ladies Mary (Helen S. Ward), Agatha (Mary A. Ruby), and Catherine (Virginia B. Koops), once each month. At these teas all are treated as equals and yet all detest them with the possible exceptions of the Earl himself and the stable boy whose mouth is stuffed with tidbits at all times. Some humorous situations arise when the servants come in direct contact with the other servants whom they feel below them.

Crichton, (Hapgood), maintains that class distinction exists as a law of Nature and what is natural is right. His acting as the butler was portrayed so well that the audience continually felt him to be a better man than even the peers whom he served. This fact is proved true when some months later the Earl and his three daughters, Ernest Woolley (William L. Benger), Rev. John Terherne (A. Arthur Shute), Crichton, and Tweeny (Jane E. McDermott) are shipwrecked on an uninhabited island suddenly ending a cruise on the Earl's yacht. After some time on this island Crichton is acknowledged the leader through his ability to accomplish acts which add to the party's comfort. In two years class distinction is swept aside and Crichton rules the others as no king ever ruled before. He is waited upon hand and foot by his former superiors. Ernest of the mining gait is "reformed" by Crichton by the simple punishment of ducking his head in a bucket of water when he goes too far.

This change in Woolley results in his making a pretty but unsuccessful proposal for the hand of Tweeny, who, in England, was a perpetually terrified kitchen wench. A beautiful romance develops between Crichton and Lady Mary, who before leaving England was engaged to a Lord Brocklehurst, which apparently will terminate in their marriage by the Rev. Terherne. The sudden appearance of an English ship with Crichton giving up his fond hopes when he sets off a beacon which is investigated by the ship's officers brings about the return of the entire party to England where the former class distinction is resumed. The marriage of Lady Mary to Lord Brocklehurst is seriously threatened when the former's conscience induces her to confess her contemplated union with the butler. Her fiancé, however, confesses an affair with a young woman who is revealed as Lady Mary's former maid and Lady Mary, considering discretion the better part of valor remains silent. Brocklehurst, played by Marcus B. Remick, is continually anxious to "get his foot" with Lady Mary's slightest act. Quite unexpectedly Crichton announces his determination to leave the Earl's service while Agatha and Ernest and Catherine and Terherne announce their betrothals.

In addition to those named above the following were in the cast: Frances Burton, Isadore Rubin, Alden C. Pismore, Gerald M. Davis, Anna E. Kiser, F. W. Banning, May J. Volpe, Stephen A. Kidder, Charles C. Parker, Eleanor Mildram, Ruth L. Hay, George L. Hicks, Joseph J. McManus, Paul E. Mason, and Adelaide Lincoln.

Miss Irene M. Haworth of the faculty was the coach of the play and much credit is due her for the success of the production. Mr. Paul E. Ellicker of the faculty was general manager and the other faculty advisers included: Mr. Oliver, business manager; Mrs. Bemis, stage manager; Miss Ellis, program and posters; Mr. Pitt, electrical effects; Mr. Maxim, publicity; Mr. Kuntz, scenery; Miss Rideout, costumes; Miss Kenrick, candy; and Mr. Sullivan, ushers.

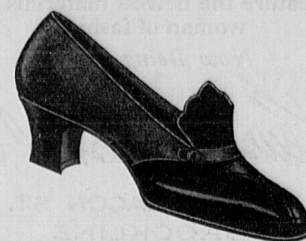

Between the acts music was furnished by the Newton High School orchestra on Friday afternoon and by the Alumni orchestra on Saturday evening under the direction of Mr. Harrington.

An attractive program cover was designed by Ruth Fairchild of the class of 1927 while the winners in the poster contest were: first, Gertrude F. Pearsall, '28; second, Lorraine Holmes, '28; and third, Ida F. Keith, '28.

NEFTON CHORAL SOCIETY

The society's rehearsal this week was held at the Central Church, Tuesday evening, as the Technical high school hall is no longer available for their use this spring. It is announced that the rehearsals from now on will be held regularly at the Central Church and the members seemed glad to get back to their former meeting place, and responded to the change by an increased attendance. The evening was spent in thorough practice of the first part of "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast," and some of the more difficult passages were taken up so carefully that the singers were able to master them. Mr. F. C. Alexander spoke of the plans for the coming concert, and for the sale of tickets. New members are still being admitted at the rehearsals each Tuesday evening at 7:40.

A REVIVAL MEETING

Feb. 20 to Feb. 27 inclusive Centenary Methodist Episcopal Church of Auburndale will, under the leadership of its pastor, Rev. Earl Enyeart Harper, conduct a series of "Revival Meetings."

In defining the purpose of these meetings Mr. Harper has said, "They are exactly what their name implies—are meetings for revival purposes. We hope and pray for a revival of the consciousness of God's presence in our midst, and for a revival of conscientiousness on the part of all of us who are members of the church in matters of Christian life and service. Frankly we hope that the effect of these services may be felt throughout the community and that they may be beneficial to all the churches and to the religious life of the community at large. There will be nothing insincerely emotional or sensational about the meetings, but only impressive worship, inspiring music, and great preaching, night after night."

The preachers for the meetings are two well known ministers, Dr. Henry Hallam Sanderson, of Boston, and Dr. Ralph S. Cushman, pastor of Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church, Rochester, New York.

Dr. Sanderson, who will preach at the opening services Sunday morning and evening, Feb. 20, is Editor of the "Wayside Pulpit," author of many well known books including "The Power of the Word," "The Power of an Endless Life" and others, and is widely known as a preacher of mystic spirit and quietly eloquent manner. Dr. Cushman has been described as a "stirring preacher with the soul of a poet." He won nation-wide fame for a great experiment in Christian Stewardship as pastor of the Methodist Church at Geneva, New York, and was made Secretary of the Department of Stewardship of the Methodist Episcopal Church during the great Centenary Movement. He was later called to the same position in the Inter-Church World Movement. For seven years he has been pastor of Asbury Methodist Church, Rochester, New York, during which time the membership has increased by nearly seven hundred, and the annual budget from $26,000 to nearly $50,000. In addition to collections of poems he is author of many books and tracts. He will preach at each week-night service and morning and evening Sunday, Feb. 27.

Rev. Earl E. Harper has been pastor of Centenary Church, Auburndale, for six years, during which time the membership has tripled and the financial support of the church nearly quadrupled. Besides his reputation as pastor and preacher he is known far and wide for his avocational leadership in Church Music and Worship. He is chairman of the Methodist Episcopal Commission on Music, Instructor in Church Music and Public Worship at Boston University School of Theology, and a popular lecturer on these profound subjects in demand throughout the entire nation. Trained as a musician he won fame as a conductor of orchestral, choral, and congregational music. He directed the music at the General Conference of the Methodist Church at Springfield in 1924. In addition to planning and organizing the series of meetings to be held in his church he will personally conduct the music throughout the week.

In sharp contrast with the ideals of music and worship usually adopted in such meetings the Revival Meeting at Centenary Church will be marked by simple liturgical services night after night, with good hymns and great musical selections. Mrs. Franklin E. Lealand will play the organ and Miss Pearl Hilliard the concert grand piano. The Centenary Choir will sing at every service and in addition the following special soloists and organizations will contribute musical numbers:

The Lasell Seminary Glee Club, Feb. 20.

Quartet of Concert Soloists, Feb. 21.

Needham Heights Methodist Choir, Feb. 22.

Tremont St. Methodist Choir, Feb. 23.

Boston University Theological School Male Choir, Feb. 24.

First Baptist Choral, Melrose, Sunday, Feb. 27.

Clara Lieber Harper and Agnes Edward Hatch, sopranos, Jean Wood Lynch, Contralto, James R. Houghton, Baritone, Arthur O. Wellcome, tenor, Cleon Hopkins, Trumpeter are among the artists who will take part in the musical services, with Mr. Harper as managing director and leader of the congregational singing throughout.

All of this wealth of material will be used in skilful and simple co-ordination during this one week that through worship, music, and preaching the spirit of God may have its full opportunity to revive the interests and affection of men as concerns religious thought and life.

The pastor of Centenary Church has coined a semi-motto for these meetings: "Give your soul a spiritual breathing exercise."

GIRL SCOUTS

On Thursday evening, February 17th, the Girl Scout leaders had the privilege of hearing a lecture by Miss Marion Moreland of Girls' Latin School, Troop No. 11, Boston. She spoke to the leaders of the first class requirements of judging height, weight, distance, and number and made this difficult subject very clear and interesting. Miss Moreland has been a Girl Scout leader ever since Girl Scouting was started in this part of the country and was formerly Field Captain for Boston. She is now teaching at the Girls' Latin School, and is Captain of its splendid Girl Scout Troop. This talk was followed by a demonstration of second class nature games by Captain Dorothy Colby of Troop No. 7, Newton Upper Falls.

Two National Training Courses for Girl Scout Leaders are now available for local people interested in becoming officers. These courses are given by Miss Edith W. Conant of the National Education staff. One is at Wellesley College Gymnasium on Monday evenings from 7:30 to 9:00 and one at Boston University School of Business Administration, Room 24, on Tuesday afternoons from 4:15 to 6:00. Troop management and tenderfoot work will be given in these courses, and some advanced work will be given if there is sufficient demand for it. The charge for the Wellesley course is two dollars, and for the one at B. U. is ten dollars. This latter course gives one point credit toward the degree of B.S. in Education.

The girls of Troop 14, Waban, are selling pictures of "Old Ironsides," for the national fund for the preservation of the old frigate Constitution. These pictures are copies of the painting that was recently presented to President Coolidge. The girls are also planning to give a movie, the proceeds from which will be given to this fund, and in the spring they hope to pay a visit to the old ship at the Boston Navy Yard.

On January 22nd the girls of troop No. 18, the Senior troop in Auburndale went on a very interesting trip to the Agassiz Museum in Cambridge. There they saw the famous glass flowers made by a German scientist and pre-sented to Harvard University by an American lady. They also saw the skeletons of prehistoric animals, as well as a great many stuffed animals and birds. All the girls returned home with a new knowledge of these wonderful and interesting things.

The Girl Scouts of Newton Centre will give a "movie" on Friday, February 25th, in the afternoon at 3 and again in the evening at 8 o'clock. There will be two pictures, Harold Lloyd in "Among Those Present," and Alaskan Adventures. Candy will be on sale and the Newton Girl Scout Bugle and Drum Corps will play. Tickets may be obtained from the scouts or at the door. It will be given at the Woman's Club hall.

WEST NEWTON BUSINESS MEN MEET

A lively meeting of the recently organized West Newton Business Men's Association was held Monday evening with President George P. Brophy in charge.

The matter of a permit for a new theatre corner of Washington and Elm street was thoroughly discussed and a committee appointed to interview Mayor Childs on the subject. Plans for this building were filed several months ago and call for a block of two stories seven modern stores and offices and a widening of Elm street. The proposed building in the question and it is possible that a building line may be established on Elm street.

The Publicity committee recommended a Dollar day to be held on March 19 and the committee, Max Kravitz, chairman, Joseph B. Davis, William M. Moore, Sidney Litchman and William E. Tomlinson were authorized to manage the event.

The Publicity committee also suggested the slogan of "Live, Trade, Grow in West Newton."

Reports were also received from the committee on Constitution and on Resolutions.

NEWTON LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

At a recent meeting of the league held in the rooms of the Welfare Bureau, Mr. Horace Kidger, head of the department of Civics of the Newton High School, gave an excellent talk on his work with High School pupils. He told how they were trained for citizenship laying emphasis on Community Civics and telling what a great influence the Anti-Bumming Ride Campaign has had not only on the Newton High School but in other cities all over the country.

Another address given by Miss Calista Roy gave much interesting information about the Americanization Work done in Newton for the foreign born and their children. She showed the members of the league the papers for Naturalization which the men have to fill out and told how English is taught to the foreign students and very clearly explained all the fine work being done so carefully and wisely to make good citizens of the foreign people in our city.

Y. M. C. A.

Rev. John W. Spiers gave a very interesting talk on Monday evening, February 14, at the Fellowship Club, taking for his topic, "My First Christmas in the Army." Dr. Warren K. Lewis, professor of chemical engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will speak on Monday, February 21, on "Einstein and the 4th Dimension." Any man who is interested is invited to the meeting of the Club.

Even though winter still holds sway and there is more or less snow on the ground, over fifty far-sighted boys have registered for Camp Day for the 1927 season. The Director and members of the Camp Committee are busy making plans that will insure another successful season. Mr. Hess and Dr. Gridges will soon be in a position to announce the personnel of senior and junior leaders and the camp doctor.

MR. WILKINS HONORED

Mr. Samuel F. Wilkins, a former well known resident of Newton Centre, was the guest of honor Monday evening at a banquet of the Boston City Missionary Society held at the First Church in Newton Centre, of which Mr. Wilkins is a member. Mr. Wilkins has just retired as treasurer of the Missionary Society after a service of fifty years. Over a hundred persons were present including missionaries and workers of the society.

The program of the evening, while mainly concerned with the work of the society, was marked by violin solos by Sarkis Kurjian of Charlestown. There were other entertainers. Mr. Wilkins read a paper on "Fifty Years with the City Missionary Society," in which he related interesting accounts of the beginning of the society and his own first years as an officer.

Two papers were read by missionaries. One was on "The Creation and Development of a Christian Home Life," by Miss Amelia C. Jaeger, and the other on "Helping the Foreign Born to Find Their Way Into American Life," by Lucia Mikaelian.

DANCING

"Dancing is not merely an art of the feet—it is an impulse of the heart and an excitement of the imagination." The theatrical side of dancing is but one of the many "facets" that adorn the Diamond of the Dancing Art. There are many others, such as Charm, Grace, Poise, Health, Mental and Physical Co-ordination and Rhythmical Values.

Tangooskian, School of Russian Ballet Dancing, earnestly endeavors to bring to light the importance of the study of the Art of Dancing. Today this is considered, by all thinking people, most valuable in producing a wholesome state of mind and body, and in creating poise and grace in the child student. To the adult, it is a happy occupation and in a very limited space of time,

A New Adventure in Motoring Comfort

CRADLED in over-size springs that measure 82% of its wheelbase, the Erskine Six makes touring a new experience. And even in city driving this Little Aristocrat of Motordom smooths out the cobbles and tracks that come too many to the mile.

Although the Erskine Six Custom Sedan is only 5 feet 7 1/2 inches in height, it is so spaciouly dimensioned within that men over 6 feet tall find ample leg and head room.

Here is the luxury and comfort of custom bodies at the cost of bare transportation. You never rode in a more comfortable car than the Erskine Six or bought gas for a more economical one, for it yields 25 to 30 miles to the gallon.

Don't be surprised when you find you want an Erskine Six the instant you discover how easily it handles—how it weaves its way motorcycle-like through the tangled threads of traffic, accelerates from 5 to 25 miles per hour in 8 1/2 seconds, and turns in an 18-foot radius. Critical motorists in Europe as well as in America have pronounced the Erskine Six the most revolutionary car in years.

BETTER TRANSPORTATION

Mr. Henry I. Harriman of Newton, chairman of the Division of Metropolitan Planning of the state, was the speaker last night at the monthly meeting of the Men's Club of West Newton, held in the Unitarian parish house.

Mr. Harriman spoke on Better Transportation for the Metropolitan Area and gave a clear cut, concise picture of present conditions and explained the bill submitted to the Legislature to meet the problem of the Boston Elevated.

Mr. Harriman stated that at the present time in the Metropolitan area, there were 1,800,000 people and that at the rate of growth there would be from 4 to 6 millions within the next 50 years. There has been a large reduction in suburban passengers on the B. & M. and New Haven roads and the B. & A. has barely held its own in that respect. This was due in Mr. Harriman's opinion to the growth of the automobile, although he also believed that the down town automobile traffic had reached the saturation point.

Plans should be made for four through rapid transit lines through the heart of the city, reaching out about four miles in each direction with some slight extensions of subways and taking the present trolley cars out of the Tremont and Boylston street subways.

Mr. Harriman explained that in order to give this much needed increase in transportation facilities, it would be necessary to straighten out the Elevated system, before the end of the ten years of public control. He favored an extension of public management for a long period preferably 50 years, a reorganization of the Elevated company in order to make necessary changes in the present preferred and common stock of the company and predicted a saving of a $1,400,000 annually if this was done. With this saving he would pay back to the different cities and towns, the amount they had paid on account of deficits, at the expiration of the period of extension, and use the remainder for interest charges on subway extensions.

Mr. Harriman said that while he did not favor public ownership of public utilities, he believed it was coming.

HUNTINGTON DOUBLE WIN

Yesterday afternoon Huntington athletes won a double victory over the Newton high school athletes. The prep school track team defeated the Newton track team, 46 to 22, and the prep school swimming team won 4 to 20 victory over the Newton mermen.

The track meet was staged on the Boston Y. track and the use of spikes barred which handicapped the orange and black runners. The home team captured all the first places with the exception of the high jump, and 45-yard hurdles and got a clean sweep in the shot-put. Newton cleaned up in the high jump with Hammond, Fullerton, Fine and Rogers all tying at 5 feet. Captain Fullerton won the 45-yard hurdles and took second in the dash. The summary:

ERECTED WITHOUT PERMITS

gasoline. Accompanying this petition was another petition presented to conform with the requirements of the Zoning Ordinance, and explaining that the locus sought was in the general residence zone. This petition was presented in the name of J. C. Monaghan & Sons, and was signed by Clifford E. Schade of the Standard Oil Company. It was submitted to Building Commissioner Chadwick. He typewrote a notation at the bottom of the petition stating "that no aldermanic permit was needed for the erection of the tank and pump, as these could be construed as an extension of the existing station, but that aldermanic consent would be needed to permit the erection of a building to conform with the section of the ordinance which relates to non-conforming use. He also commented "that the locus asked for, (which would take the place of the sidewalk pump now in use) was much more desirable."

Largely because of the fact that the new junior high school is located almost opposite the locus asked for on the petition of September 7, the majority of the aldermen on the Claims and Rules, and License Committees, did not favor granting the change. On the docket of the last aldermanic meeting, February 7th, "leave to withdraw" was reported on this petition.

Some hours before the meeting was held, Thomas W. Proctor, acting as attorney for the Monaghans, telephoned to an alderman requesting that action on the report of the committee be postponed until he would have an opportunity to be heard. The request was made known to the aldermen, and granted: the petition being referred back to the committee.

Several days later, despite the adverse report which was to have been made by the aldermanic committee, three pumps were erected on the location sought. Also a large "SOCONY" sign, surmounted by the name Edward F. Monaghan, and the number 1545. The locus of the pumps, can by no stretch of the imagination be regarded as 1545 Washington street: 1551 would be more correct. But the attempt to construe the locus as being 1545, and the use of the name of the late Edward F. Monaghan, would make it appear that whoever installed the pumps is disregarding the last petition presented, and is attempting to proceed on the petition presented on April 30, 1926.

Wednesday night hearings were held by the committees, but Mr. Proctor was unable to appear. The members of the Claims and Rules, and License committees, sharply criticised the action of the petitioners for erecting the pumps after an adverse report had been made on the petition. It was intimated that the permit granted June 7 last year might be revoked. The pumps have not been used as yet, so the police have had no occasion to haul the owners of the station into court, as was done in the case of the Fuller Garage.

Both Judge Brown, who presided at the hearing granted to Attorney Ross for the Fuller Garage, prior to the issuance of a complaint against Levi Wilcutt, manager of that garage, Judge Frost, who found Wilcutt guilty in the Superior Court, all remarked that the Newton Board of Aldermen could have revoked the permit of the Fuller Garage, when the terms of this permit were violated. Some of the aldermen, incensed at the apparent flouting of their authority, and at the seeming attempts to ignore the zoning ordinance, assert they will follow the suggestions of the judges, and revoke the permits of anyone who attempts to defy them.

BUGLARY AT CHESTNUT HILL

Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

Somehow or other there doesn't seem to be as much public attention paid to the celebration of Washington's Birthday as is warranted. To be sure everybody who has the privilege of a holiday avails himself of it. A large number of residents display flags on their houses and, thanks to the patriotic spirit of the American Legion, there are flags set out on the sidewalks. This latter practice is to me one of the most worth while in recent years. On the last anniversary of Lincoln's birth it happened that the weather was propitious and a breeze caused the flags to float out majestically. It was nothing less than inspiring.

As far as I am concerned I have never failed yet to get a thrill from the ringing of the bells on Washington's Birthday. I think it was one of the earliest impressions of the patriotism of the American people that came to me as a small boy. I seemed to understand it was an important day and I pictured George Washington as the father of his country in war and in peace.

I am disposed to think that we as a people owe considerable of a debt to the enterprising manufacturers of prints who made it possible for every home and school to have on its walls a reproduction of Washington's portrait. Artists and engravers were probably responsible for the original works but through the activity of lithograph concerns the country was spread over with pictures of Washington at Valley Forge, taking command of the Continental troops and in the halls of State.

Without embarrassing any of my readers as to how far back they can remember I should like to ask them if on their memories there has not been idly printed a Washington picture that hung somewhere in their own home or that of their grandparents. To me that was a way of teaching the young idea how to shoot that might be followed in this day and generation. Looking down from the walls of the splendid head of the great man whose expression seemed to convey the power and force for good that is represented by our own United States.

If you don't believe that the pictures of Washington at Valley Forge are viewed by the youthful mind with deepest respect and admiration let me tell you that you are mistaken. I can cite an instance. A well known motion picture director decided upon a great patriotic film which was eventually made and shown about everywhere that reels are run. In that wonderful cinema production was a representation of Washington's Army at Valley Forge.

Now you have all watched the youngsters at the "movies" and have noted their wonderment at some of the most spectacular displays. But, believe me, they are keen as to detail. It isn't just the general effect that gets them. In this film to which I have referred the soldiers of Washington's Army were shown to be suffering from the cold. They wore ragged clothing and a number of them were gathered around fires of brush and logs. What is the strange part of all that you may ask? Just this, one of the men wore overshoes—yes, our own modern overshoes—and it was the "kiddies" who discovered it and talked about it. They knew that it could never have been that a soldier in the Revolutionary War was so well provided in footgear. And how did they know? By having studied the old prints.

Getting back to the holiday, I still believe in some form of civic celebration. If Newton had a historical society that possessed its own quarters a gathering might be held there. Surely there are thousands of men and women and children in this city who would gladly attend. What a wealth of interesting speakers to draw from in our neighborhood!

But, I suppose that next Tuesday will be a day of rest and gadding, the former in the morning and the latter the remainder of the day and night. Of course there will be the new models of automobiles to be inspected which is an inexpensive way of killing time but hardly a patriotic one.

The other day I heard of a daring individual in the person of a well known and venerable Harvard professor. His boldness lies not in his utterances or in anything connected with higher education but in something of which we are all capable—that is, walking through traffic. I said we are capable of performing this feat. That is true, although some of us falter at the critical moment. We get as far as the curbing, gather our courage and plunge into the roadway when the toot of an auto horn sends terror to our soul and we hop back to the sidewalk again.

Now I maintain and contend that it requires nerve to cross a street when traffic is going both ways and that there is no policeman to halt it and make a lane for pedestrians. I don't like to do it. In Paris one has to, but it sort of upsets one, at least until one learns the trick and goes at it in a reckless fashion. But of what use are Paris tips in New England?

What ever you do hereabouts the driver will charge you with "jaywalking" and if you are sensitive to sneers and caustic remarks you will hesitate and back and fill for some time until you are sure there won't be any vehicle along for the two minutes. That is "jaywalking," but perhaps it represents discretion which quality, we are told somewhere, constitutes the better part of valor.

But as to the aged Harvard professor. He is agile and lively and, as I have said, undaunted. What does he do at cross-streets? Both ways and then whether there is a traffic officer on hand or not. No, indeed, when he is ready to cross the street he crosses it. He does hold up his right hand, thus giving the command to stop to whom ever may see it. But he doesn't look at anybody is watching. He just goes as he pleases and assumes that the traffic will keep out of his way and not expect him to keep out of its. And the best part of it is he gets away with it. That is, he has thus far.

I was telling a friend the other day of this remarkable educator and his success in crossing thoroughfares. It seemed to impress him. "I wish I had his nerve," said he. "For my part I let the car drivers have everything their own way in spite of the

The Value of Human Life at all ages

© 1927, M. L. I. Co.

ALMOST any man will agree that his life is more valuable to himself than the things he owns. Now he can have the comfort of knowing how valuable his life is to others—from a dollars-and-cents standpoint.

Today it is known that the lives of our men, women and children are the nation's greatest asset. The economic value of these lives completely overshadows the value of all of our material wealth.

Recent computations made by statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company show the real economic value of the lives of our people from babyhood to old age. These figures are based on the average family—with an average income—and take into consideration the average length of life of each member of the family, together with the cost of bringing children into the world, feeding them, clothing them, educating them and bringing them up to a self-supporting basis.

Long lives and short lives—small incomes and big incomes—are reckoned in these calculations. At 40, a man earning $100 a week is rated as having an economic value of $45,670. At 30, the $50-a-week man represents a value of $31,000. He had a value of $9,333 the day he was born.*

—And then come the figures showing the total economic value of all the men, women and children of the United States—the astounding total of 1,500 billion dollars ($1,500,000,000,000).

* If you wish to find out how much each member of your family is worth, economically, send for a booklet recently prepared by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. It tells how a person of any age may measure the economic value of his or her life. It will be mailed free.

HALEY FISKE, President

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company is a mutual organization. It has no stock and no stockholders. Its wealth is owned solely by its 24,500,000 Policyholders—in the United States and Canada.

METROPOLITAN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY NEW YORK

Biggest in the World, More Assets, More Policyholders, More Insurance in force, More New Insurance each year

"Not best because the biggest, but biggest because the best"

Perhaps the easiest way to realize this stupendous figure is to compare it with the total value of the entire material wealth of our country.

The latest available government reports show that everything we own—land, buildings, railroads, mines, raw materials, manufactured products, crops, live stock—everything included—was 321 billions. . . . Our lives are worth nearly five times as much as our property.

America can well be proud of the additional insurance placed on the valuable lives of her people in 1926. More than 16 billion dollars ($16,000,000,000) was written and revived during the year by about 300 life insurance companies—making the total amount of life insurance in force approximately 80 billion dollars ($80,000,000,000). About one sixth of the grand total is carried by the Metropolitan.

But while the people of this country carry 80 billion dollars of life insurance—or only one-twentieth of the economic value of their lives—they carry more than 160 billions of insurance on property—more than one-half of its value.

You would not insure a $5,000 house for $250—one twentieth of its value. You insure it adequately. But have you insured yourself adequately? Send for the booklet which tells you what you are worth. Study it. Then decide whether or not you carry enough insurance to protect your family.

America is rapidly gaining a better knowledge of the value of its greatest wealth—human lives.

The America of the future will better safeguard its wealth and happiness.

About Town

An article in the Waltham News-Tribune the other day was headed "Newton Takes Metropolitan Water Straight." Is this water so strong, that is customary to take a chaser after drinking it?

Wednesday night Hoseman Dave Keefe of Engine 1 observed us almost entering, by mistake, another Ford sedan parked near our flivver in front of the Bacon Block. Dave remarked, "I'll bet you won't mention this in the Graphic." Just to show Dave that we don't discriminate, we herewith make mention of our near error.

A petition placed before the aldermen sometime ago by Charles Harwood of Lexington street, Auburndale, was rejected at Monday night's meeting of the Board. In the petition Mr. Harwood stated that he had noticed children throwing paper onto the streets. To curb this nuisance he suggested that an ordinance be passed which would empower Newton police to fine any child caught littering the streets 10 cents. Adults committing the offense would be fined 35 cents. The police would carry duplicate forms, giving one as a receipt to the person fined, and the duplicate would be turned into Police Headquarters. An ordinance already existing empowers the police to bring into court, any person detected throwing almost any object in our streets.

Newton Corner will soon witness a change in one of its few remaining old landmarks. The Sumner Blocks on Centre street have been sold to by syndicate of Newton real estate operators, and will be considerably altered. New fronts will be placed on the buildings, and other changes made. The buildings were owned by the estate of the late John S. Sumner, formerly a well known Newton business man.

Mr. Sumner was a native of Boston, where he was born in 1839. He learned the tin plate and sheet metal trade, and in 1868 purchased the stove and furnace business of John Farnum on Centre street, Newton. At that time the property was owned by the estate of the late John S. Sumner, formerly a well known Newton business man.

for some years was the residence of Mr. Sumner. In the 70s, Mr. Sumner erected the brick block situated next to the Whitman Building, and changed his residence to the dwelling at 160 Charlesbank road, or Nonantum street, as it was then called. The store now occupied by Avantaggio's was, in the old days, rented by Robbins Shoe Store. The store now occupied by the Vendome Bakery, was the location of Mr. Sumner's store. The new block was stores occupied by Tuttle's Dry Goods Store and S. F. Barker, watchmaker.

The second floor of the old building was used as a photographic studio, conducted by Augustus Marshall. On the second floor of the brick block was a small hall known as Middlesex Hall. It was used for various purposes, including religious, being the quarters at various periods of the Universalist Society and of an evangelist association conducted by Clark Morehouse, who formerly owned the hardware business now owned by the C. H. Campbell Company. Charles S. Sumner was one of the most expert skaters and best rifle shots ever hailing from Massachusetts. Even when past 70, he would go to nearby ponds and give exhibitions of fancy skating that few of the younger generation could equal. His fame as a rifle expert was international. He won repeated championships at 1,000 yard contests, as well as at other distances, and in his last years, though handicapped by a serious eye ailment, still retained his accuracy in marksmanship. When past 70, on his last visit to Walnut Hill rifle range, he made a record of forty consecutive hits at 1,000 yards, and scored 190 out of a possible 200. He died May 25, 1913. Mr. Sumner had four children. One son, Horace, died many years ago, while a youth. A daughter, Mrs. Arthur P. Fiske, passed on in recent years. The surviving children are Mrs. Harry A. Harwood of Newtonville, and Charles S. Sumner of Chicago.

It is to be expected that with the growth of this city the older business buildings will be replaced by more modern structures which will produce incomes commensurate with the increased value of property. But the oldtimers at Newton Corner, swayed by memories of the past, will experience some feeling of sadness as they view the passing of one of the few "old fronts" that linked Newton of today with Newton of yore.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

State Federation

At 9:05 a. m., February 24th, many delegates from the Clubs forming the State Federation, will be on the train at the South Station, Boston, Quincy-bound, for the Midwinter meeting of that organization. This meeting has been heralded for many years as Legislative Day, and, although this year there will—wisely—be no request for endorsement of measures, there will be presentation of many subjects in which Club women are interested, and which have obtained endorsement in the past two years or so, but which thus far thoughtful—possibly inspired—legislators have failed to put through with a flare of trumpets. Mrs. John H. Kimball, the Legislative Chairman will present these measures in the morning—after the greetings which have already been announced in this column. They include Jury Service for Women (Senate No. 20); Wages To Prisoners; Compulsory School Attendance; and new legislation concerning Milk, (House No. 72, providing for pasteurization, or for non-tuberculous cows).

Governor Fuller and Lieutenant Governor Allen are scheduled to speak and additional attractions will be Mrs. A. A. Packard, our second Vice-president, on the "Cause and Cure of War Conference," and Grace Morrison Poole with a message on "Before and After Taking." While this may not be what it sounds like, it is sure to be one thing it sounds like—amusing—for Mrs. Poole always takes with her a keen sense of humor.

The meeting will be held in the Quincy High School building. Train returns from Quincy at 4:10 p. m.

MOVING PICTURES. Clubwomen, mothers and friends of children, in the latter case in more senses than one, will be glad to know what the State Federation, as sponsor of "Educational Screen," which reviews moving pictures, considers are productions suitable and unsuitable for children. Two given as excellent are "Alaskan Adventures," and "The Quarterback." A list stated as wholesome, or good: "Amateur Gentleman," "Black Pirate," "Laddie," "So's Your Old Man," "Take It From Me," "Waning Sex," "Young April," "When a Man's a Man," "The Clinging Vine," "Hold That Lion," "Lovey Mary," "One Minute to Play," and "Show-off." Of less interest and value, for the adult, negligible it might be called, or not worth the trip to the theatre: "Crackerjack," "More Pay Less Work," but for children, hitherto in the first case, and harmless in the second, "Forever After" is quoted as "notable," of what value this may be, for the adult, and quite exciting for children—provided excitement is the aim of life! One story given as excellent for adults—and it sounds so—"Memory Lane" is given as "beyond" children. A list given as doubtful, unwholesome, painful, hardly, or better not—and which therefore may be labelled "taboo": "I'll Show You the Town," "Let's Get Married," "Nell Gwynn," "Night Cry," "Sparrows," "Mare Nostrum," "Marriage Clause," "Poker Faces," "Variety," "Waltz Dream," "Gigolo," and "Flame of the Argentine." While it is all very well to say that what is poison for children may be palatable food for adults, there are still those who have respect enough for their minds as depositories of the worthwhile and inspiring, rather than of the depressing, unwholesome, and indigestible, to be willing to take as criterion what is considered safe as a diet for their youngsters. Enough said?

Sculpture and Gardens. Do not forget the exhibit now going on at Horticultural Hall, Boston, up to the 26th. Full program by days was printed for you last week in this column.

And one other matter that should come to your attention this week is the statement from Mrs. Benjamin D. May, the Americanization Chairman, that new literature on this fascinating topic, with suggestions of practical value in this problem, are ready for distribution. A revised book list, with list of speakers, and suggestions from experts, awaits your call. Mrs. May says there are two books of 1926 that every Club woman may well read—"Mussolini," by Bolitho, and "The New Balkans," by Hamilton Fish Armstrong. She also asks all Clubs interested in giving an Americanization program to ask Rockland about theirs. "It was delightful!" is her comment.

COMING EVENTS

Shakespeare Club of Newton Highlands
"Timon of Athens" appears before the Shakespeare Club at their next meeting, Saturday, February 19th, with Mrs. B. R. Gilbert, hostess, at 41 Woodward street. Mrs. Bernard Early is in charge of the Quiz or the first two acts of this play, which forms the program and delightful discussion.

C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands

Prof. Lombard, Professor of Literature in Doshisha College, Japan, and author of Lombard's "King Lear," will address the members of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. at their meeting on Monday, the 21st. This Club certainly has achieved a triumph in having such a noted and informed speaker appear before them while they are having the interesting study of this play. Mrs. Hagerman will open her home, 37 Allerton road, for the entertainment of her fellow-members for this program.

Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club

Current Events is the general topic announced for the enjoyment and enlightenment of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club for Monday evening, the 21st, at the Club Room, Emerson School building. The business meeting is slated for 7:30 o'clock, after which Mrs. Frank M. Redman, chairman of the evening, will present Mrs. Eugene L. Webber, who will talk on current events, of interest world-wide. Mrs. Webber is a past president of one of the most progressive and alert and attractive Clubs of the State—the Philergians of Braintree, of whom all hear immediately upon entering the Club world as a Club to honor and of which to stand in awe. Mrs. Webber immediately following this presidency was assistant clerk for the State Federation, an experience that now stands her in good stead, as it does all who attain it.

Auburndale Review Club

Washington's Birthday is chosen as the date for celebration of Guest Night by the Auburndale Review Club. At 8 o'clock on the evening of the 22nd, members and guests will assemble at the Auburndale Congregational Chapel, Woodland road, for an entertainment and reception. The entertainment will be furnished by members of the Club and their daughters, and these will be assisted through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Wycliffe J. Spaulding of Auburndale, and of Miss Ruth E. Perkins of West Newton. This is by no means the first time that this Club has been able to present its own talented personnel for enjoyment, and it is indeed to be congratulated upon its many gifted people.

Newtonville Woman's Club

The third lecture on Current Events, sponsored by the Newtonville Woman's Club, by Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole will be given at the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, on Wednesday afternoon, February 23rd, at 2:30 p. m. The tickets at 50 cents each may be obtained by all who wish, members or otherwise.

At the home of the Club president, Mrs. Austin H. Decatur, a benefit bridge party is being held this Friday afternoon, February 18th, at 2:30 p. m., the proceeds of which are to help finance the Glee Club.

Social Science Club

Mr. Morris Carter, Curator of the Isabella Gardner Museum, will speak at the meeting of the Science Club on Wednesday morning, February 23rd. The business meeting will be at 10 o'clock in Hunnewell Parlors as usual. Mrs. Charles H. Breck and Mrs. Edward O. Gruener will be the hostesses.

Newton Community Club

Dr. Abraham Myerson will initiate members of the Newton Community Club into the mystic theories of psychology at their meeting on the afternoon of Thursday, February 24th. His topic arouses interest and curiosity: "Inheritance and Environment." Some idea of what may be expected in this lecture is given on considering the titles of books of which Dr. Myerson is author, such as "Foundations of Personality," "The Nervous Housewife," "When Life Loses Its Zest." The lecturer, known as a "neurologist," was born in Yanova, Russia, graduated from the English High School, Boston, and from Tufts College, and is now Professor of Neurology at Tufts College Medical School. He is visiting neurologist at Boston City Hospital, and consulting neurologist at Boston Psychopathic Hospital. It is hoped that there is no psychology in the repetition of this word in making "a nervous Club woman." Fittingly, tea will be served after the lecture, there being a well-known psychology as to the soothing effects of this beverage.

The Chairman of Conservation, Miss Margaret S. Ball, would be glad to have all members interested in forming a "gardening" class, or one in "bird study," communicate at once with her. It is almost rash for such a query to be made, as those two occupations, with spring coming, are so appealing. Out of a membership well over 500 there will be many such classes formed it may be prophesied.

And the Public Health Committee of the same Club also declares thrillingly that "Spring is Coming!" They are providing a weekly fresh-air play day, which they say "everyone owes to herself," in Tennis for beginners, and more advanced; Canoeing, a series in paddling and handling a canoe; Horseback Riding, for beginners and old-timers—just what do they mean?—and Golf. Desire for these activities or suggestions for others, may be made known to Mrs. W. R. Brewster, N. N. 4283-W. For horseback riding, telephone Mrs. Walter E. Brown, N. N. 4382-W. For horseback riding, telephone Miss Marion Bryant, N. N. 2345-W.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

At the close of the Regular Monthly Business Meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, on the afternoon of February 24th, at 2:30 p. m., the Art Committee, Mrs. W. Cornell Appleton, chairman, will present a most delightful program given by Robert Nathan Cram, the well-known landscape architect of Boston. He will thrill his audience—and awaken ideas and dreams for the coming spring and years—in showing through Lumiere Autochrome slides "Some Gardens in England." It is admitted, however grudgingly or enviously, that English gardens are quite the loveliest of these wonderful spots of color and beauty in the world, and it will be an inspiration to view them, especially with the expert presentation that such a student of this art can give. Mr. Cram, travelling the world over in quest of ideas and suggestions in his work, has seen the loveliest the world has to offer, and finding that the gardens of England are best adapted to our New England use, he has photographed these choice perfections and brought them to those who can not travel to them. From the modest cottage dooryard to the splendid manor-house gardens, and gardens of the homes of nobility, he has gathered views that will be a feast of color, form, scheme, and adaptation.

Besides the tea and social hour which will follow the lecture, Mrs. Frederick W. Briggs is the chairman of the Food Sale, to be held in the lobby of the Club House on the afternoon of this monthly meeting—excellent news to the Club woman who is also housewife.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

The Civics Committee, Mrs. Edwin Wolley, chairman, is in charge of the program for the West Newton Women's Educational Club for their next meeting, February 25th is the date, 2:30 the hour, and Players' Small Hall the place. Mr. Raymond Green, Civics instructor of the Newton High School is to speak on "Thumbing Rides." The act, he will explain, is about as elegant for students, as is the title. Music will be furnished by the Junior Glee Club, of which membership this Club is one of the few in Newton to boast, and it is a source of pride, as well as most appropriate that the Juniors can add to a program that is to consist of a lecturer from High. Mrs. Hugo Sharpe will be accompanist. Tea will be served.

Newtonville Woman's Club

Several announcements of coming events, although still some time in the future, are made that members of the Newtonville Woman's Club may know of them and plan accordingly.

THE LITERATURE CLASS WILL BE OMITTED ON ACCOUNT OF THE HOLIDAY.

On account of unforeseen circumstances the Music Committee wishes to announce an entire change in the program for the Musicale on March 1st. Mr. Roberts Singer, baritone, and the "Buttekan Trio," consisting of Barbara Werner, violinist, Mildred Buttekan, cellist, and Huymann Buttekan, pianist, will take the place of the artists announced in the Club Year Book. The committee feels certain that the Club will enjoy hearing these well known musicians.

The Newton Symphony Orchestra will give a second concert in the Newton High School Auditorium on Thursday evening, March 3rd, at 8:15. Mrs. Charlotte Broughton Wilkinson, pianist, will play a Grieg Concerto with the orchestra and Alessandro Niccoli, violinist, will be the other soloist on the program.

The Music Committee hopes that the Woman's Club will give this organization its support as it is most worthy. Subscriptions for the two concerts, one March 1st and the other to be announced later may be obtained from Mrs. Kenneth Hastings, 46 Walker street for $4.00 (two tickets for each concert) or tickets may be purchased at the door for $1.00 each.

Club members are also asked to save the date of February 28th, and go to the Technical High School Library, at three o'clock, when Miss Jean Latimer of the University of Michigan will speak on Mental Hygiene. This is the second in the series of Talks for Parents.

WISE MOTHERS

The mother of today realizes how much too soon her family is grown up, and away! She knows that she must not spend so much time ministering to their physical needs, that she has no time and strength left for the companionship that will linger thru the years, long after other memories have been dimmed. The modern mother is alert to know about and avail herself of every help to make her housework more efficient, and free from time consuming, strength-wasting drudgery.

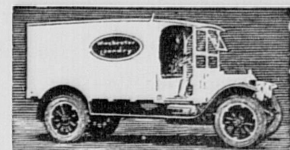

Many mothers know that

members at the Dickens Party of the Newton Community Club last Thursday afternoon in the Underwood School Hall. Miss Emma E. Walker as Mr. Pickwick, was a most finished actor, and "full of the Dickens," in her elaborate, stately bows, and measured speech, and not the least of this fullness was hilariously displayed when placing her hands beneath her coat-tails, for "stuffed was she" with turkish towels, she later confided! Mrs. Samuel N. Braham, sedate president of the Social Science Club, was delightful as the pompous, well-fed Mr. Wardle, and gave a glimpse of other of her abilities that showed her in a much more heart-to-heart light than has been the lot of her fellow-members. Joe, the fat boy, could not have been more hilariously portrayed by any "professional," than was done by Miss Helen A. Woodman, and quite aside from her well-filled bellboy costume, the amazing upright display of shock of hair quite "brought down the house." Mrs. Daniel M. Goodridge's Mr. Tony Weller was a joy, and it is, indeed, impossible to single out these "strange delights," and give equal praise which is their due! Mrs. Harry Dexter once more proved her acting ability in the wide courtesy she swept at Mrs. Leo Hunter's Dejeune and Mrs. Willard Sampson, in her stately stride, as Dick Swiveller, aroused equal interest.

The "four little Kensingtons," in Nicholas Nickleby, were adorable, especially the "littiest" tot, who just couldn't keep her golden head bent upon mother's knee during the trying moments of the still tableau. Betty Lloyd, Phillips Baker, Sylvia Dennison, and Margaret Hebbard were the four "darlings" who made this histrionic debut with such appeal.

Miss A. Gertrude Ensign, with her lovely ringlets, and silken gown, made one's thoughts fly to the lovely, gentle maidens we so adored on our old-fashioned valentines!

Mrs. J. Porter Russell, gowned in a stately "goddess" robe, with band at waist, and fillet around her brow, and Miss Ensign, her charming daughter, received on the stage all the actors, after the showing of the tableaux, quite the most delightful of ideas, and a clever way to bring in review these persons all so wanted to see again. Mr. Pickwick made stately speech, and Mrs. Russell gave, at his request, a hodgepodge of a poem, whose strangely wonderful import still muddles the wits in striving to understand, or even to remember, it.

Mrs. Ralph C. Henry, in a lovely striped blue gown, and Mrs. Harry W. Fitts, whose nodding flowered hat, quite adorably tipsy upon her head, held all eyes fascinated, were the two readers to supply "atmosphere" for each tableau. The "scene" moved quickly, without tedious waits, and gave token of talent in this stagecraft.

Tea and refreshments were served after the "performance," with Mrs. Franklin E. Smith, a past president, and Mrs. J. Porter Russell presiding, at each end of the tea table. How fortunate that Mrs. Smith recovered her hearing—she being the deaf old lady, who heard only what she wished, especially mention of bridge, and whose white kerchief and head-dress were most becoming, by the way—in time to perform this service, and receive the congratulations of her friends! She herself admitted this!

Underwood School Hall was thronged—a happy, merry audience—and it may be ventured to say that no other program in this hall has ever called out so many Club women and friends. Does that prove that we all prefer, as Mr. Pickwick said, a feast of reason and a flow of soul, in real enjoyment, rather than the heavy lecture or propaganda of the person who comes to "educate" us?

The Dickens Party will long live in memory as a splendid display of Club talent. The cast of "Pickwick Papers" included: Miss Emma E. Walker, Mrs. Samuel N. Braham, Mrs. Raymond G. Coppins, Mrs. Franklin E. Smith, Miss Charlotte Fawcett, Miss Grace Garolon, Miss A. Gertrude Ensign, Miss Helen A. Woodman, Mrs. Wallace Wales, Mrs. Frank W. Webster, Mrs. Sidney Peterson, and Mrs. Daniel M. Goodridge.

The cast of "Oliver Twist" included Miss Ruth Sampson, Mrs. W. W. Marston, Harold Reed, Mrs. Le Roy C. Gulon, Mrs. Joseph N. Palmer, and George Stone.

The cast of "The Old Curiosity Shop" included Elizabeth Smith, Mrs. Marsena Butts, Mrs. Harry C. Wiggin, Mrs. Goldwin S. Sprague, Mrs. William Holings, and Mrs. Willard Sampson.

The cast of "Martin Chuzzlewit" included Mrs. Edwin Smith, Miss Margaret Ball, Miss Eugenia Bradshaw, Mrs. Clarence Colby, Mrs. Joseph Palmer, and Miss Miriam Drury.

The cast of "Domby and Son" included Frank Lake, and Thelma Colton.

The cast of "David Copperfield" included Mildred Ferry, Katharine Sprague, Mrs. Everett Ryer, Miss Florence Heard, Mrs. Joseph Gerrity, Mrs. Edward M. Hallett, Mrs. Harry Dexter, and Mrs. W. V. M. Fawcett.

The cast of "The Cricket on the Hearth" included Mrs. Austin Chute, Mrs. Harold Moore, Miss Margaret Ball, Mrs. H. B. Dwight, and Mrs. Ernest Beaufort.

The cast of "Christmas Carol" included Mrs. Creighton J. Hill, Mrs. William R. Brewster, Frederick Butts, and Mrs. Harry W. Gardner.

The characters in Mrs. Leo Hunter's Fancy Dress Dejeune were Mrs. J. Porter Russell and Miss A. Gertrude Ensign.

The Readers were Mrs. Harry W. Fitts, Mrs. Ralph C. Henry; the General Manager, Mrs. Ralph C. Henry; the Stage Manager, Mrs. Joseph Gerrity; Fawcett; in charge of Pictures, Miss Emma Walker, Mrs. Philip Jamieson, Mrs. William Colton, Mrs. Frederick J. Fawcett; in charge of Stage Properties, Miss Dorothy Simpson; in charge of Curtains, Mrs. Maurice W. Dennison; in charge of Lighting, Mrs. Carl Peirce; in charge of Make-up, A. Rothe, Miss Bessie Stratton.

Tea was served by the Social Committee, under Mrs. Henry P. Curtiss.

Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club

The Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club celebrated its eighth birthday party on Monday evening, February 7th, in the Club Room, Emerson School. One of the most enjoyable evenings in the history of the Club was experienced by those present. The meeting was opened by the Club members singing "America, the Beautiful," followed by the salute to the flag. After a brief business meeting, the president, Mrs. Thomas E. Lees, introduced the guests of the evening, Mrs. Joseph Congdon, State district director, Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., president of the Newton Federation, Mrs. Daniel M. Goodridge, Mrs. Walter Van Patten Steiger, Mrs. Elias B. Bishop, Mrs. George M. Hayden, and Mrs. Howard O. Winslow, chairman of standing committees of the Newton Federation, who gave the Club very interesting three-minute talks. Mrs. Ernest Cobb and Mrs. Herbert E. Child, past presidents of the Newton Upper Falls Women's Club, each had a message and birthday greeting. The Club Chorus furnished several selections, and Miss Phyllis Gilfoil, of Needham, entertained with readings.

The Hospitality Committee once more proved its skill, and a dainty collation was served, including a birthday cake large enough for each person to partake. Mrs. Samuel Oldfield was chairman of this delightful evening.

Newtonville Woman's Club

The "Exhibition of Oriental Rugs" given by Mr. Boodakian of Adalian Brothers at the meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Club held February 15th, was more than instructive, for Mr. Boodakian was also entertaining. In broken, but very clearly expressed, English Mr. Boodakian gave a short explanation of the way rugs are made by hand now and in the past. The greatest distinction between the antique rugs and most of those made now is in the process of coloring. Many oriental rugs at present are colored by aniline dyes instead of with the formerly used vegetable dyes. Then, after they reach this country the brilliant colors are softened by importing houses to resemble the colors in the old rugs. By his exhibit Mr. Boodakian showed his listeners how to distinguish the difference between the vegetable and aniline dyed rugs.

Under the direction of Mrs. Fred Woodcock, a delightful violin solo was played by Miss Elizabeth Phalen, accompanied by Miss Harriet Goodacre, who also played two selections on the piano, with unusual finish.

LUCY JACKSON CHAPTER, D. A. R.

The meeting of the Lucy Jackson chapter of the D. A. R. in the Unitarian Church of West Newton on Monday afternoon, Feb. 14, showed that this chapter not only endeavors to preserve our best American traditions but that it recognizes the merit of modern achievement. At the "Candle-light Musical" Miss Elizabeth Siedoff gave a lecture recital on American composers.

Miss Siedoff is a gifted musician. Born in Lockport, New York, she graduated from the Conservatory of Music in that city and spent several years in study in Europe. She has had training under Tobias Matthay in London the past two seasons. At present she is giving lessons at the Misses Allen's school in West Newton. She has recently given the same recital at the Boston Public Library.

She has a keen and sympathetic interest in American compositions and has interpreted them with such understanding that her work is highly valued by the composers who have shown much appreciation of her as a musician.

Beginnings of American music were traced to Hopkinson and the early psalm singers of the latter part of the 18th century. Mention was made of Lowell Mason and of the later composers, Payne, William Mason, Chadwick and Mrs. Beach, who reflect credit on our musical culture.

If the man in the street were asked about our modern music he would no doubt answer Sousa and jazz. It has been said that to compose American music one must go to France. Miss Siedoff sees great promise in our national art which, apart from the folk songs of the negro and the Indian strains, has very distinct individuality. She described it as cosmopolitan, derived from different nationalities, humanistic and racialistic.

The first number on the program, the Modern Suite of MacDowell, was composed when the artist was only 19, when he was a pupil of Joachim Raff and it met with the approval of the master. Miss Siedoff's program showed the high achievement of our modern composers and one can not wonder that the talents have received recognition among the European artists. As a pianist she has a finished execution and interprets with brilliancy and beauty of tone. She can not fail to promote the cause of American music. Her explanations were charmingly given and added greatly to the interest of the performance.

Mrs. Frances C. Rodney reminded the chapter of the card party to be given by the "Old Ironsides" chapter of the D. A. R. at the Bonar-Atwood studio March 8 at 2:30 p. m. The following delegates were elected to attend the National Congress at Washington in April: Mrs. John N. Eaton (regent), Mrs. Walter A. Corson; alternates: Mrs. Clinton L. Eddy, Mrs. Henry V. Jones, Mrs. Francis C. Rodman, Mrs. Frank A. Day, Mrs. Chas. N. Pitts, Mrs. Arthur P. Friend, Mrs. Henry Whitmore, Mrs. Frank W. Pray, Mrs. Chas. A. Wyman.

An invitation from Governor Fuller to attend the reception in the Hall of Flags on Feb. 22 was read and Mrs. Eaton said that arrangements would be made for those who could go to this interesting occasion. Much knitting has been done for the hospital at Rutland and a letter of thanks was read.

Mrs. Eaton in her gracious manner extended a welcome to the visitors, a number of whom were present, and refreshments were served with Mrs. Chas. A. Wyman as chairman of the hostesses.

VESEPER SERVICE

I was fortunate enough to attend a vesper service of the Newton First Church last Sunday, when the Newton Symphony Orchestra, whose first concert I reviewed in these columns, gave us several excellent numbers.

Mr. Ralph Maclean conducted with even greater skill, I think, than he displayed before, especially considering the fact that he had a large choir of young people to direct in two anthems. These were Halling's "Bless the Lord" and the chorus from the Redemption "Lovely appear... them that preach," by Gounod.

The quality of tone these youngsters produced was quite naturally more evident than the volume, but Mr. Maclean had his orchestra well toned down and the pure treble voices came through with pleasing effect.

Apart from these anthems, the orchestra played four numbers which were very well appreciated by the large congregation present.

For the prelude, they chose the short Vorspiel from Kistler's opera "Kunhild," an extremely charming opening for a church service, and very well rendered.

As an interlude, we heard Debussy's "Reverie," now one of the best known of that composer's works. Mr. Maclean showed wisdom in slowing down the tempo a little, as he obviously did not intend to sacrifice accuracy, for perhaps a slightly better effect. Debussy's compositions are not easy.

During the offering we had the "Andante cantabile con moto" movement from Beethoven's first Symphony. One of the world's greatest exponents of Beethoven said that the latter meant his music to be played as he wrote it. Strict tempo, is, I think, the key to all Beethoven playing, and in this respect the Newton Symphony Orchestra did not fail.

We were dismissed with Elgar's immortal Largo from "Pomp and Circumstances" ringing in our ears. No one could help but be thrilled by the magnificence of volume which the combined orchestra and organ produced in this masterpiece. At any rate, I think the most unmusical person present could not have failed to register genuine appreciation.

These orchestral concerts, wherever they are, seem to me to be well worth visiting. Newton should be proud of them.

THE WATER SUPPLY

Good Progress Being Made in Cleaning the Well and Culvert

At the meeting of the aldermen on Monday night, Chairman Ball of the special committee to study the water supply of the city, reported that rapid progress is now being made on the cleaning of the new well at Needham, and that a plentiful supply will be assured when this well is completed. Although the huge pump now at this well, removes several millions of gallons each day, the well cannot be pumped dry, nor has it lessened the supply in the old well.

The work on cleaning the wooden conduit, according to Mr. Ball, has been about half completed, and should be finished in about two weeks. Meanwhile the city is taking water from the Metropolitan System at a cost of from $100 to $150 each day; the price being $50 per million gallons. Mr. Ball stated that the work of cleaning the conduit is being performed in a very thorough manner.

Alderman Earle said "Any money spent on improving the water supply, is well spent. If conditions prevailed in the School Department equally urgent to those which have existed affecting our water supply, $1,000,000 would be appropriated without any delay. Water is as important as schools." Alderman Gallagher said that he had been trying to induce the Mayor to authorize extra pay for the men who are cleaning out the conduit. These men are working in a small conduit, immersed in water, jeopardizing their lives and health, and are entitled to extra compensation. Alderman Gallagher asserts that Newton can obtain nearly 20,000,000 gallons of water daily from its supply, and that the State should permit it to take more than the 5,000,000 gallons which is now the maximum.

'THE BUNTIN SISTERS'

Given at Newton Centre for Benefit of the Sailors Haven

The auditorium of the Newton Centre Woman's Club was filled with an appreciative audience, Wednesday evening when the two act play, "The Buntin Sisters," by Mrs. Nelson A. Hallett was given for the second time this season. This performance was for the benefit of the Sailors Haven and young men from the Navy yard acted as ushers and the music was furnished by the Navy Band.

The first act in the sewing room of the Buntin house, with Mrs. H. B. Wilder as Miss Lucy Ann Buntin, Mrs. N. A. Hallett as Miss Beulah Buntin, and Mrs. R. A. Thayer as Philomena, the faithful colored maid, was well staged and portrayed the change from the old time country town, where one's gowns must be made by the town dressmaker, to the present time when the city is so easily reached by auto or bus and we can buy ready made in the big department stores thereby saving bother and at the same time getting the latest style. The auction sale of the late Mr. Buntin's curios and portraits was most amusing and interesting, the portraits were beautifully and artistically posed. This display of pictures was under the direction of Mrs. H. B. Wilder assisted by Mrs. W. H. Stetson and was as follows:—Duchess of Devonshire and Daughter, Mrs. C. K. Nevins; Rembrandt as an Officer, Mrs. F. D. Robinson; Mona Lisa, Mrs. H. D. Jackson; The Girl with a Muff, Mrs. J. M. Colony; Madonna, Miss Evelyn Jennings; Portrait of a Spanish Lady, Mrs. J. E. Masters; Daniel Webster, Miss Addie Fitch; Duchess of Orleans, Mrs. F. G. Schaschke; Isabella, or The Pot of Basil, Mrs. Philip Stonemetz; Louisa, Queen of Prussia, Miss Ernestine Wilder; Admiral Farragut, Mrs. S. H. Mitchell.

ZONING PROBLEMS

To Be Considered Hereafter by Enlarged Committee

The Claims and Rules Committee, one of the most important in the Board of Aldermen, was enlarged Monday night from 5 to 7 members, following a determined fight waged by Alderman Ball of Ward 5, assisted by others of the Board. The reason for the increase is because of the fact that petitions for changes in zoning are now given hearings before the Claims and Rules Committee, rather than before the full Board of Aldermen, as previously.

The Claims and Rules Committee has been composed of Aldermen Madden, Chairman; Baker, Bliss, Grebenstein and Hinckley. When a couple of meetings ago, Alderman Ball raised the issue "that because this committee now practically settles matters of zoning, each Ward should have a representative on it," a motion was made to amend the Rules and Orders of the Board, so that this Committee would be increased from 5 to 7 members. The matter was referred to the Claims and Rules Committee for consideration. It would seem that it would have been more feasible to have the Board consider this matter as a committee of the whole, rather than put the Claims and Rules Committee in the embarrassing situation of reporting on its own status.

The committee reported adversely on the change. Chairman Madden told his colleagues that the Claims and Rules Committee reached the conclusion that small committees are more efficient than large ones; that the matters considered by this committee are of city wide importance, and not restricted to any one Ward; that the principal problems it has been dealing with, such as zoning, and changes in the Building Code, will grow less rather than more, in the future, and that the committee has made a practice of according the aldermen from all the Wards ample opportunity to express their views on any matters affecting their respective Wards. He said, "The Claims and Rules Committee" (Continued on Page 7)

GASOLINE STATIONS

Petitions for Lower Falls Locations Heard by Aldermen

For a second time a group of Lower Falls residents appeared at City Hall Monday night to object to a petition of Henry C. Bourne for a permit to establish a gasoline filling station at 2268 Washington street.

James P. Gallagher, appearing as attorney for Bourne prefaced his argument by remarking, "I do not bow my knee to Baal, or worship the Golden Calf. I do not say this in Pharisaical praise, but merely to identify myself." Mr. Gallagher was alluding to the reference made by Mayor Childs in his inaugural address, to some applicants for gasoline stations. He referred to the former hearing held in September of last year when Mr. Bourne asked for a permit for this station. At this hearing, a number who came to oppose, came under the misapprehension that they were objecting to another proposed filling station at the Lower Falls. Mr. Gallagher explained in detail the surroundings of the proposed station and asserted that Washington street, where this station would be located, is wider than at almost any place on its entire length. None of the three reasons usually considered by the aldermen as warranting the refusal of permits for gasoline stations exist in the case of this proposed station, he stated. As it would be located in a manufacturing zone, it would improve, rather than depreciate the surrounding property. It would not be objectionable from an aesthetic viewpoint, as the building to be erected will be quite attractive. Mr. Gallagher contended that no menace either to pedestrian or vehicular traffic will result from the establishment of a station at the locus asked for, as there is very little foot traffic passing by the place, and the views are not obscured. He quoted Chief of Police Burke as saying "that no pedestrian has ever been killed or injured in front of any gasoline station in this city." He told the Board that the petitioner, Mr. H. C. Bourne, is a heavy taxpayer, an old resident, has done much to develop the city in a desirable (Continued on Page 3)

GIRL SCOUTS

This Live Organization Engaged in Many Activities

Thirty Girl Scouts and Girl Scout officers, members of troops 10, 14, and 17, spent Monday and Tuesday at Cedar Hill in Waltham. They all slept and cooked and ate in the Bowling Alley, which has been turned into a cabin for winter camping parties. The girls sleep on bags of hay thrown on the floor around the great stone fireplace and do their cooking on the cook stove at the other end of the room. On Monday evening Mr. Harry Jordan, the Maine guide who is living at Cedar Hill talked to the girl scouts, telling them stories of moose and beaver, deer and bear, and tales of adventure in the lumber camps of the North. He was most obliging about answering questions, and when the girls got through with him, they surely knew just how, when and where a bear might best be caught, as well as many other interesting items such as how to read tracks in the woods, how to keep an edge on an axe, and how beavers build their dams.

Except for meal times and night times the girls spent all their time out of doors, skiing, snow shoeing, tobogganing, and coasting, with intervals for playing hide and seek in the Maze. The Cedar Hill estate is an ideal place for skiing as it abounds in open hillside pasture land, where slides of all degrees of steepness may be found. Most of the campers were middling good skiers, who enjoyed going down the straight smooth hills, giving thanks if they arrived at the bottom on their feet instead of their heads, and they watched with deep interest the real experts hurtling over a "made" jump and then filling in the holes they made before the next one landed. Happily no bones were broken and no colds were caught and the girls returned to Newton on Tuesday afternoon looking forward "to the next time."

A course in Red Cross Life Saving is to be given to a limited number of Girl Scouts, who are twelve years old or over, and who are already strong swimmers. This course is made possible by the courtesy and co-operation of the authorities of Lasell Seminary in Auburndale, who will allow the girls to use the swimming tank at the seminary for one evening every week. This evening will probably be Friday at 7:30, and each girl will be expected to pay 25 cents each time, and must also provide herself with a cotton one piece bathing suit as well as a bathing cap. This class will be limited to 22 members because of the size of the swimming pool, and so it is hoped that all captains who have girls that are interested in becoming Red Cross Life Savers will send their names to Miss Freeman, the Director for Newton, as soon as possible. This class will probably begin on Friday evening, March 4th.

WINS HOCKEY TITLE

Newton High School Six Defeat Cambridge Latin 1 to 0

The Newton High school hockey team won the Greater Boston interscholastic hockey championship Tuesday afternoon by defeating Cambridge Latin, 1 to 0, at the Arena in the third period of the final game of the round robin series. This league is considered the fastest schoolboy hockey circuit in the United States and the winner is entitled to the title of national champions. Efforts were made to match the winner of the Tuesday's affair with the schoolboy champions of Montreal. In the event of the Americans winning this game it was also proposed to match them against the best in Toronto. Newton, however, has had an ironclad rule prohibiting post-season games in any sport for several years and the contemplated matches will not go through.

Tuesday's game was a thriller all the way and the final outcome in doubt until the last bell. It was one of the best games in schoolboy circles for a long time in the judgment of the majority of the spectators. Cambridge Latin, with an outdoor victory over Newton to its credit, was the natural favorite and even more so because of the absence of Captain Frank Stubbs, Jr., from the line-up. The orange and black six came through with flying colors with every player at his best. The Cantabs would undoubtedly have won but for the wonderful work of Joe Thompson in the net. He saved the team time after time by marvelous stops and on several occasions smothered the puck with his body when mix-ups occurred in front of him. It seemed as though he was always at the bottom of the tangled mass of players when the referee stopped play and went hunting for the disc.

However much may be said of Thompson's playing in the goal no less credit should be given to the other five players on the team who outdied themselves on both offense and defense. Newton had the edge in the (Continued on Page 3)

MEMORIAL STADIUM

Mayor Childs Sends Recommendation To Aldermen

At its meeting last Monday night, the Board of Aldermen received the following communication from Mayor Childs:

"It is the opinion of many of our citizens that eventually a stadium should be erected at Clafin Field, and be called the Dickinson Stadium, in memory of one who did much for the mental, physical and moral development of the youth of the city. As to how such stadium should be financed, no decision is necessary at the present time. The immediate task for a proper development of Clafin Field, is grading. I believe that the work commenced should be continued this year and next, in order that a proper field may be available for school athletics and playground purposes.

"To this end, I recommend that an appropriation of $25,000 be made from the Income Tax refund of last year for this purpose."

MIDDLESEX COURT, M.C.O.F. HOLDS CLASS INITIATION

A concert and dancing will follow the initiation. The committee in charge is headed by Miss Margaret C. Vahey, Chief Ranger of Middlesex Court.

ALL-STAR TEAM

The All-star hockey team selected by the coaches of the eight schoolboy outfits in the Greater Boston Inter-scholastic League for the Boston Transcript gives five places to members of the Newton championship team. Every position except that of centre-ice is claimed in whole or in part by a Newtonite. In several instances the voting was so close that ties occurred for those positions.

The centre-ice berth is easily claimed by Hilliard of Arlington, who with six votes polled the greatest number of any one player. Harlow of Cambridge Latin got one vote as did Ford of Belmont, who received the vote of Coach Coffey of Arlington. Fred Harlow and Captain Frank Stubbs, Jr., of Newton each received five votes for wing positions. Although the Cambridge lad played at centre ice his ability entitles him to a place on the team and five of the coaches honored him by placing him at wing in the mythical line-up. The Cambridge star received one less vote for centre than did Hilliard but his total votes and his wonderful season won him a berth. Frank Spain of Newton, the league's leading scorer, received four votes for a wing berth and hence three wings were included on the team.

John Proctor and Harold Andres, Newton defense men led all the other with four and three votes respectively. Joe Thompson, who had much to do with the defeat of the Cantabs for the title on the holiday, tied with Captain McHugh of Melrose for the goal-keeping job, each having three votes. Of the two, however, Thompson's work throughout the season would give him the berth as easily as Hilliard is entitled to the centre-ice position.

ONE MORE GAME

The Newton high school champion hockey team will play one more game before the curtain rings down—provided there is ice. This game will not be with any other school champions, however. A postponement of the game with the Dartmouth freshmen scheduled for earlier in the season was necessary because of the lack of ice. Should there be good ice at Hanover tomorrow the team will make the trip there and endeavor to take the Green yearlings into camp.

NEWTON 1—MELROSE 0

Last Friday night Newton defeated Melrose, 1 to 0, in the second game of the round robin series at the Arena. The game was hotly contested and at the end of the regular playing time, neither side having scored, two five minute overtime periods were agreed upon. After about three minutes of play in the first of these Johnny Proctor obtained the disc near centre ice and skated down the left side. He was forced to the boards by the Melrose defense before he took a shot. Eluding the defense he followed up his attempt and caged the puck on a rebound shot to bring victory to the orange and black.

Melrose outdid itself and played way above its form in the game against Cambridge the week previous. Captain McHugh saved Melrose time after time by his wonderful stops in the second and third periods when Newton was the aggressor. Melrose had an edge in the first period. Spain, Brown, Andres, Proctor and Thompson played brilliantly for Newton.

WINS SWIMMING MEET

By taking three firsts, one fourth, and third in the relay the DeWitt Clinton school totalling 20 points to win the Yale interscholastic swimming meet at New Haven last Saturday night. Newton High was in a tie for eighth place with Country Day school each with 3 points.

Kojac of DeWitt was the star winning the 100- and 220-yard swims. In the former he set a new record when he was clocked in 54 2/5 seconds. Wahl captured first place in the backstroke for DeWitt and Dreyfus took in the 50-yard dash. Lloyd Osborne, Newton high star, was second to Kojac in the 220 and Hamilton Lincoln of Country Day school took thirds in the 50-yard and 100-yard dashes.

GETS FOURTH PLACE

The Newton high school track team won fourth place in the Andover interscholastics last Saturday with 5 and 2/12 points. The great disappointment occurred in the dash and hurdles when Captain Wally Fullerton was shut out of even a place in either final. Had he been able to take first place in one of these events Newton would have come through on top as Medford, the winner, scored but 15 and a fraction points by virtue of Marshall's firsts in the hurdles and shot-put. Fullerton displayed his usual form, however, in the broad jump and set a new record. He leaped 9 ft. 8 3/4 in. to win by over two inches.

Romaine Cole got into the finals of the 45-yard low hurdles but was not picked by the judges although Record of Brookline, third place winner, informed the referee after the race that Cole had beaten him.

The 1000-yard run furnished plenty of competition for the three places. The event was run off in two heats because of the flock of entries. James McCrudden, Newton's star, won the first heat and Barrie of Brookline the second. Both were clocked in 2m. 31 2/5s. and split eight points between them.

In the running high jump Ted Hammond's best was 5 ft. 6 in. which gave him a third place tie with five other jumpers and one-sixth of a point.

The relay team gathered 3 1/4 points by tying Somerville for the fourth best time. Cummings, Reed, Brewer and Cole defeated the Brookline quartet (Badarracco, Anderson, Beck, Record) by 1 and 3/5s. The race would have been much closer but for a bad pick-up of the baton by Anderson.

A GOOD SPORTSMAN

Eugene Record of the Brookline high school track team showed remarkable sportsmanship in the Andover interscholastics last Saturday. He and Romaine Cole of Newton were two of the qualifiers for the finals of the 45-yard low hurdles. The judges picked Record third and Cole was apparently shut out. The Brookline lad, without orders from his coach, informed Referee Bingham that he was not entitled to third place as Cole had beaten him. Inasmuch as the judges ruling could not be changed Brookline was credited with the point but Record handed his medal to Cole and insisted that the Newton runner accept it as he had won the place.

NOTES OF NEWTON PALS CLUB

Mr. James Gibbs, night-watchman at the Security Mills, Newton, Mass., won the ten dollar gold piece offered by the Newton Pals Football Club.

The Pals bowling team, composed of Ancon, Campbell, McLean, Arsenault and Lyman, finished fourth in the first half of the Newton City League, but are confident of being higher at the close of the second round.

The Pals hockey and basketball teams have been quiet this winter but the Club is anxiously looking forward to the coming baseball season. Coach "Buck" Donahue will call out his candidates at the first sign of favorable weather and with the addition of several new players the Club should have one of the best teams in its history.

Friends of "Charley" O'Keefe, who played for the last two seasons with the Pals baseball team at left-field and third-base will be interested to know that he was recently bequeathed $85,000 by his uncle Thomas O'Keefe, of New York, a retired tailor. Quiet, unassuming and a gentleman at all times young O'Keefe is tremendously popular with his clubmates and many friends who were glad to hear of his good fortune.

SPORT NOTES

Bryant, the Dartmouth swimming star, was a big aid in giving the Green mermen a thrilling victory over the Princeton swimming team last Saturday night at Hanover. He was the high scorer of the evening taking firsts in the 50- and 100-yard events and the deciding factor in the winning of the relay, upon which the final outcome of the meet depended.

St. Lawrence hockey team won a 2 to 1 victory over the Cornell six last Saturday at Ithaca. Paul King was at right wing for the winners. Captain Phil Hoyt of the Cornell team at centre ice tied the count with his goal.

Bowdoin's hockey team succumbed to the Bates sextet 2 to 1 at Lewiston last Saturday evening the winners a near certainty of the Maine championship. Dick Thayer at centre ice played brilliantly for Bowdoin. Other Newton men in the line-up were Stone at left defense and Howland in the net.

Allen Chalmers basketball team defeated the Mitchell Military quintet 23 to 15 last Saturday at Billerica. McDade, Allen centre, as usual was the star, tallying six baskets from the floor and five on free tries for a total of 17 points. Dillings, Allen left forward, counted the other five points for the winners.

Bill Henrich, Harvard hurdler, is entered in the triangular meet between Harvard, Dartmouth and Cornell at the Mechanics Building tomorrow night.

It was all Harvard in the first Harvard-Yale hockey game of this season's series Saturday night at the Arena. Harvard scored four of its six points in the opening session, Yale counted its first in the next period and Harvard twice and Yale once in the final period. Dick Vaughan, Yale's centre ice, counted the Blue's second tally bringing the Crimson's edge down to two points but Harvard got going again and at the end had the same margin as it had at the end of the first period. Clem Cody played a great game at defense and broke up the Yale attack many times. Teaming with Ellison the pair of Newton youths kept the goal inviolate for some time. Ted Gross got into the game at right wing for part time.

With two divisions of the Massachusetts Squash Racquets association having completed their schedules interest is now centered upon the outcome of the race in Class C. Prior to last Saturday's matches Newton Centre, B. A. A. and Union B. C. were knotted for the lead in the race for the title now held by the Harvard Club. Newton Centre made a clean sweep of its five matches with Union to put that quintet out of the running and putting them back to fourth place below the Harvard Club. The B. A. A. team also made a clean sweep of the Newton Club to keep in a tie with Newton Centre for the top berth. Harvard Club, four points below, has little chance to catch the leaders and retain its title. The final matches will be played tomorrow and Newton Centre hopes to bring a second title to the Newton Centre Club, the Class B championship having been won recently by the south side players with the loss of but one individual match.

Alfred Hartridge took second place in the 600-yard run at the annual faculty track shield meet between the four classes at Exeter academy on the holiday. He also ran on the winning relay.

The first of a series of annual ski-jumping tournaments to be conducted by the Brae-Burn Club was held Tuesday with more than 2000 spectators witnessing the events. Frank Nilsen of the Norwegian-American Ski Club leaped 69 ft. 11 in. which was nearly five feet better than his nearest competitor and teammate Erickson.

The Yale varsity hockey team won its second victory of the season over Princeton on Washington's Birthday at New Haven by a score of 8 to 3. Yale did not get going until near the close of the second period when the Tigers were leading 2 to 1. Vaughan tallied the Blue's first counter in the first session to tie the count. Again in the third period he counted giving Yale a margin of 4 to 2.

Several local youths entered various events in the Legion games at the East Newton street Armory on Tuesday afternoon. In the school-boy 50-yard dash Captain Wally Fullerton of the Newton high track team won the first heat but was shut out in the semi-finals. John Duane of B. C., former Newton track captain, took second place in the 50-yard open handicap hurdles, running from scratch. He, too, was shut out of the semi-finals. The N. E. A. A. U. 1000-yard run was won by McCloskey of B. C. by 18 yards over Tom Clausen of the B. A. A., former Newton high and Holy Cross runner. The Newton high relay team (Cole, Reed, Brewer, Fullerton) defeated both Brookline high and Boston College high in a three-cornered affair. It was Newton's third victory in four starts against the Wealthy Town team runners.

Harvard and Dartmouth staged a great battle Wednesday night at the Arena in the second game of the season. Harvard won the first meeting but was forced to accept a 2 to 2 tie this week in a game which set a new record for length at the new Arena. 90 minutes of hockey were played without deciding the winner. Clem Coady had much to do with the Crimson's scores. About half way through the first period the former football captain made a vicious free shot which sailed past the net and rebounded straight back from the boards. Several players were at hand but a Crimson clad man was in a direct line with the disc and he slapped it into the cage. In the middle of the second period the big West Newton boy obtained the puck near his own goal. He went down the ice like a flash and ending the points got off a line shot which the Green goalie could not touch. Bill Emerson, the Harvard captain, saved his team several times from scores and in the second overtime session he saved the game by spilling Lane and preventing an almost certain score which would have given Dartmouth a victory. Regardless of the tie game Harvard is clearly entitled to the collegiate championship if it gains one more victory over Yale. Wednesday night Dick Rogers of West Newton played well at wing for Dartmouth as did Ted Gross, also a West Newton youth, at a similar berth for the Crimson.

Southard, Huntington forward, scored nearly half of his teams points in the basketball game with Andover on Wednesday. The academy team was too fast for the Hub team and won easily, 50 to 11. The Waban youth scored twice from the floor and once on a free try for five points for Huntington.

The Boston University juniors were defeated by the seniors 9 to 6 in the interclass basketball tournament on Wednesday. "Gyp" Lawless featured for the juniors, giving a brilliant exhibition.

When the Northeastern College faculty defeated a representative team from the school, one Newton man was on the faculty team playing jump-center. Mr. Nightingale of Newton Highlands has an established reputation as a fine basketball player. Due to his careful work in feeding the ball to his forwards, the faculty were able to subdue their challengers.

In the New Preparatory School in Cambridge there is a constant rush in order to prepare for the closing track events of the year. They have been very successful considering that it is the first year that they have participated in sports, and they are anxious to make as good a showing as possible. One of the runners in the distance events is Frederick Robinson of Newton Centre. His specialty is the 1000 yard run, and he has turned in some splendid times at this distance. He was formerly at Newton where he was manager-elect of the swimming team, and did some running on the side.

The call for baseball players is being broadcast everywhere and one of the first colleges to issue the appeal for candidates is Bowdoin. They are getting away early in hopes of winning the Maine championship this year. Alan Shaw from Newton is preparing to give battle for anyone of the inner positions, and has a fairly good chance of making the team. He has kept in good condition all this term by skating, and has kept his hand in at batting. Last year at Newton he was one of the most valuable men on the team. Hitting for 400 or better, they called him one of the most natural batsmen that have worn the Orange and Black. He was a steady player, and chosen on the All-Scholastic for the year.

At Exeter, now that pages of hockey are closed, there has been a call for candidates for baseball. Chief among those that reported for the receiving job, was Tom Gilligan, the old star back-sitter at Newton. He has a most impressive record for he has been a brilliant performer at this sport. In fact, it is probably his best game. His consistent hitting, that often times was long distance clouting, has made him a batsman that is feared by all pitchers. Along with Gilligan reported McCullough (ex-Captain of Newton). He was easily one of the best outfielders that ever played on Clafin Field, combining speed with accurate throwing and sure fielding. He should be a valuable man for Exeter this season.

Because of the need for more studying Chester Pratt has definitely given up wrestling for this year. However, he has hopes of being a member of the Lacrosse team that is one of the main sports down at Lehigh. To date he has done little or no track work due to his inability to find proper training conditions, but may do some hurdling in the spring if he can spare the time.

When the Northeastern battery candidates reported there was one veteran receiver among the players. Neil Mahoney, one time catcher for Newton has played most of last season for the In-Town team. He was one of the chief reasons for the consistently good work of the Engineer pitchers, and has proved himself of great value to the team. Never a great hitter, he has developed a careful place swinging game that makes him a bad man to pitch to in a pinch. As a catcher he is all that any coach could ask for, and now has the experience so there should be little difficulty in his holding down his old position.

As the closing echo of the hockey season at Exeter came the news of the re-election of Wilson Crosby, better known as Ben for the next year. He has been a star for two years on the Red and Gray's sextet, as his brother Henry was before him. All season he has played a brilliant game at wing ranking as the leading scorer at the end of the schedule. Along with his election came the news that Franklin Dewing, brother of Ned Dewing, had been appointed as manager of next year's team. This is his second year at Exeter, and prior to his leaving Newton he was a member of the Intermediate Varsity football team.

Gyp Lawless will turn his interest from skates to spikes in a few more days for the call for baseball candidates has been issued. Gyp was one of the stars of the Terrier aggregation last year, roaming the outer garden. His work down at Providence will not be forgotten very shortly for he electrified the fans by making a catch in deep right field while he was falling down. It was one of the most sensational of all the plays turned in last year. He is an easy felder with that eccentric way of catching the ball close to his belt, but also he has the speed and the hitting ability to make him a fine out-fielder.

The Brown pitching candidates reported for the varsity and the freshmen teams last week. In the varsity group there was Charlie Considine who is trying out for the position behind the bat. His only previous experience has been in practise at Newton, but Coach Dubuc says that he shows considerable promise. He played the outfield during his time at Newton, but he is the possessor of speed and a good arm, all he needs is the mechanics of the job. Among the freshmen candidates is Philip Lingham who was out for one of the twirling positions. He has had some experience pitching for town teams and the high school that he attended. A left-hander with lots of smoke, and a curve that is better than usual he should make the Cubs pitching staff look better than usual.

The Newton Y. M. C. A. basketball team won its first Two-State league game last Saturday night defeating the Lowell Y team, 38 to 20, on the local court. A shift in the line-up brought satisfactory results and (Continued on Page 6)

When you contribute a dollar or small sum to the Red Cross in time of disaster it is combined with the dollars or small sums donated by others and the entire amount is used to relieve suffering in the stricken area. The following figures relating to the recent Florida Disaster will give some idea of how this money is spent:

Food	$ 271,283.98
Clothing	92,962.37
Rent, Light, Heat and Fuel	14,482.07
Buildings and Repairs	1,334,503.99
Household Furnishings	212,491.13
Burial Expense	12,297.25
Sanitation	12,376.08
Transportation of Disaster Sufferers	24,190.08
Maintenance of Disaster Sufferers	15,207.82
Live Stock and Poultry	5,349.82
Seed, Feed and Fertilizer	14,183.55
Tools, Stock and Equipment	50,038.39
Medical and Nursing Service	172,791.63
Family Service	287,384.62
Other Relief Expenditures	55,716.80
Total	$2,581,259.58

When these figures are considered it should be remembered that the Red Cross is not an "insurer" against disaster damage, none of the relief money that you donate is spent to lessen the financial loss suffered by the individuals; the Red Cross simply comes to the aid of the stricken people and makes life endurable by feeding, clothing, and sheltering them, by warding off disease, by bringing order out of chaos, and by doing countless acts to give the people who have experienced the disaster the courage to go on again.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

Week ending Feb. 19: Patients in hospital, 117; patients paying as much as cost of care or more, 48; patients paying less than cost of care, 43; free patients, including babies, 26; patients treated by out-patient department, 134; by eye clinic, 9; accident cases, 3; babies born, boys 3, girls 4; social service calls at homes, 8; patients transferred by social service car, 15.

The response by friends of the hospital for contributions of volumes of poems for the Nurses' Home has been most generous. One of the women trustees has given four new volumes of other books, in perfect condition, including the works of Tennyson and Browning. From another friend have come four books. Another contributor left at the hospital a neat package of books with a calling card envelope attached but inside the envelope instead of a card with the name of the donor was the appeal for books of poems out from one of the papers. To all who have given the nurses give their thanks.

Miss Hostetter, R. N., of Oregon, and Miss Annie Wilson of New Jersey have been among recent visitors at the hospital. The hospital has been visited also by several pupils from the Framingham Normal School.

MOVING PICTURES OF WILD LIFE

One of the most popular lecturers on wild life, Mr. William L. Finley, will give his lecture on "Wild Animal Outposts" at Alumnae Hall, Wellesley College, on Wednesday evening, March 2nd, at eight o'clock. Mr. Finley will show five reels of marvelous moving pictures taken last summer during his trip to the islands of Behring Sea and the glaciers and mountains of Alaska. He considers this the best material he has ever collected, as he was able to photograph many strange birds as well as whales, seals, sealions, fish, moose, deer, bear, and mountain sheep. By means of this lecture the Wellesley College Bird Club hopes to start funds for a bird sanctuary on the College grounds.

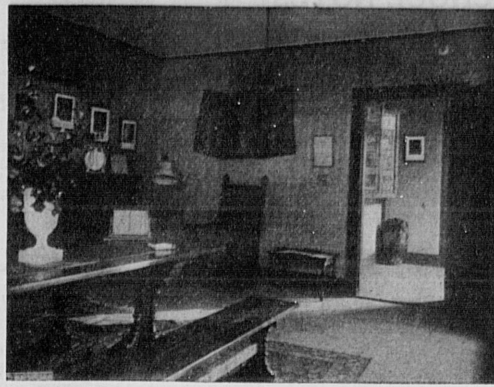

Tickets will be on sale at the door at fifty cents each. There will be no reserved seats.—Advertisement.

$1.00 DAY COMING

The next meeting of the West Newton Business Men's Association will be held next Tuesday evening, March 1, at Players Hall, at 8 o'clock. With various committees scheduled to report at this meeting, including the report of the special committee in charge of the development of plans for the big West Newton Dollar Day on March 19. A special aim of the committee is to develop several unique and original features that will not only draw out a record-breaking number of people but will also offer a series of bargains that will be unusual even in events of this kind.

POLICE NEWS

Eugene Snell of Brookline was fined $150 in the Newton Court last Friday. Snell was arrested two weeks ago by Patrolman Goddard after an exciting chase from West Newton to Newtonville, charged with drunken driving. Goddard jumped from the running board of the pursuing car onto the running board of the car driven by Snell. The officer stated that Snell hit him in the face as he attempted to stop the auto. In return Goddard badly battered Snell's visage.

INTERIOR VIEW OF THE NEW BACHRACH STUDIO

With the opening of its new studio at Newton, one more charming unit has been added to the Bachrach organization. Of unusual interest from both an artistic and business standpoint, the forty-second studio became an operating factor in photographic development when it was officially opened by Louis Fabian Bachrach, president, and H. Clement Haight, vice-president, in a reception tendered to the Bachrach Associates and friends, and members of the Lens and Brush Club.

The studio, under the management of Mrs. G. Lloyd Reed, formerly of Lawrence, is in a part of the executive building at 44 Hunt street. Entrance through central headquarters shows ledged glass casement windows in which are set unusually beautiful examples of the Bachrach art. Next, one approaches the reception room where the walls are covered with Japanese wood veneer paper, draped here and there with Japanese novelties of real artistic value.

The refectory table, a reproduction of old Italian art, has for its accompaniment Italian chairs and foreign rugs of exquisite texture and workmanship.

In the art salon the colored reproductions from old masters add a charm-air and a blending of the best from both ancient and modern, the latter to be shown in paintings and photographs representing the best in a country-wide exhibit of photographers and artists. It is in this room that the heretofore line drawn between paintings and photographs must necessarily disappear in the expression of art in both forms.

And, then, the very modern shows itself in the three dainty little dressing rooms finished in black and white, with every need supplied for the final adjustment of costume before entering the posing room—a room of the most modern equipment the country affords. Here special lighting, both nature's and artificial helps of every description, await the photographers to align themselves with the work of experts operating instruments of the best obtainable.

Throughout the studio there is hand wrought hardware, plank doors, iron Italian lighting fixtures and every beautiful and desirable feature for carrying on the work of one of the most modern arts, photography, and here in its home on the banks of the Charles River, in a setting unique and beautiful, The Bachrach Studio welcomes guests from all quarters, and cordially extends to all its fellow-neighbors a special invitation to share in the pleasures of the new Newton studio.

The Bachrach organization is said to be the largest portrait photograph business in the world, doing a business of about $1,500,000 yearly. It employs some 300 persons in its Hunt Street plant, where the photographs of 42 different studios located in all parts of the United States are brought for finishing.

ONE POINT OF VIEW

We clip the following letter printed in a recent issue of the Town Crier:—

Your splendid editorial on the site for a new city hall deserves approval and immediate action. We need a Newton Civic Group. As a city we lack in many ways. The whole of Newton is, in character, just a village. I will name and number a few of our faults and state their chief causes:

1. Newton has no public spirit.
2. Public interests are not watched and protected.
3. Newton is not literary; the people do not care for books and reading.
4. There is not much enlightenment in Newton.
5. The population is divided into groups, sets, and cliques, and there is no cooperation among them.
6. The people are not interested in ideas. They care for creature comforts and pleasures mostly.
7. They are fast losing the old fine qualities of Americanism.
8. Consequently, Newton, by which I mean this whole city with all its dozen or two foci, is a very poor place to bring up children. The schools are good but there is nothing else.

I should like to tell of a letter I received lately from a friend who has young children and has recently inherited large riches. He thought of coming to Newton, having heard it highly spoken of, and asked my advice. He was especially thinking of the "atmosphere" of the place for his children. He wanted an environment of true culture for them, keen interest of the people in present living problems, the improvement of human conditions in Newton, America, and the world.

Was Newton such a place? he asked. I had told him no, and to advise him not to settle here. He acted on my advice. Newton is a city and a people is not concerned about those things, and few of its residents know what the modern problems are. The Newtonians are satisfied to vegetate, ride in rich autos, and go to Boston to poor shows. Do they think? Only of business and pleasure.

Now for a few of the causes of this sad, backward, vegetable condition.

1. There is no Civic Community center.
2. There is no Auditorium.
3. Communication between towns is wretchedly bad.
4. Its libraries are abominable. Lumping them all together, they are not good enough for any one of the big Newtons—that is, for Newton Corner, or Center, or West Newton, or Newtonville. The Newton Libraries are a burning disgrace, showing not merely the stinginess of the wealthy citizens but their low culture and inferior intelligence.

5. There are no central lectures, no lecture courses. No eminent speakers can come here, for there is no place for them to speak in.

6. So that the Newton people receive no brain pabulum, and are starved mentally, and bring up their children to squander money and loaf.

Conclusion: The first step to a remedy is a civic center in the geographic heart of the city, which is the large triangle at the corner of Commonwealth avenue, Homer and Walnut streets. To locate the center in West Newton would be just one more of those corrupt blunders for which Newton is renowned.

Respectfully yours,
"Newtonville."

Mr. L. C. Smith of Newton Centre

was elected president and Mrs. Burton Gray of Newton Centre was elected secretary treasurer. Mr. Smith gave the Newton Archers a very handsome silver cup to be competed for annually by any archer shooting on the range, who hands in his scores, to be published in a bulletin edited by him, under the auspices of the National Archery Association. Mr. Henry Cummings of Brookline also gave a handsome silver cup, for the American Round, to be competed for under certain prescribed conditions at four different local tournaments in one year.

After the bountiful supper many of the archers appeared in Robin Hood, Maid Marian, or other archery costumes. Among those in costume were Dr. Paul Crouch of Newton Centre, Mrs. G. H. Woolley, Miss Elizabeth Woolley and Mr. Crandon Woolley of Newton Highlands and Miss Ruth Brewer of Newton Centre.

Guests were invited for the supper and frolic and a dart contest for all was staged. Mr. Edward W. Frenz of Melrose and Mr. Dodge appeared in a humorous sketch for two, during the evening.

LOWER FALLS RESIDENTS OBJECT TO GASOLINE STATION

"The question is not," said Mr. Gallagher, "whether any section of the city should be immune from this kind of enterprise, because some few do not want it. The Mayor has said 'that taxes support the city.' Should the rest of the city be taxed more heavily because of a refusal to allow proper development of property in this manufacturing zone at Lower Falls? No one comes here to ask for a permit to kill, or maim, as indicated by opponents of gasoline stations. It has been proven that such stations are not a menace to the public, either afoot or in vehicles." He then submitted photographs of the territory adjoining the locus of the proposed station.

Howard Murphy asserted that the proposed station would be located in a dangerous place, because of the proximity of Hamilton Hill, which causes Washington street to become narrow, and which prevents the sun from drying up the street after wet weather. Mr. Murphy acted as leader of the opposition, and called on the other opponents who spoke.

Melvin Hooman of Concord street differed from Attorney Gallagher regarding the width of Washington street at 2268. He claimed the street is very narrow at this point. Thomas F. Donahue told the aldermen that the station would be opposite the Hamilton school, that there are plenty of other sites at Lower Falls better adapted for filling stations, and that an outsider should not be permitted to come into Lower Falls and start a station at this site. Alfred Murray denied that residents of Lower Falls do not want gasoline filling stations, but he contended that such stations, when established, should not be in dangerous locations. He also differed with Mr. Gallagher regarding the proximity of a car stop on the electric car line.

Mr. Gallagher submitted plans to the aldermen to substantiate his contentions regarding the width of Washington street, and the distance of the car stops. The matter was referred to the Franchise and License Committee.

A GOOD STORY

The thermometer was at zero; twenty-five members assembled in the cold church for morning worship. During the hour of service, the church caught on fire. As the building burned, two hundred church members came to see the spectacle and stood in the cold for two hours. No serious cases of pneumonia were reported.

EDITORIAL

That the principles which govern the Rotary movement in this country and the world at large are fundamentally sound is shown by its rapid and substantial growth during the twenty-two years it has been in existence. We are of the opinion that over 2,400 clubs in 38 countries of the world is a record which cannot be equalled by any other secular organization.

We suggest that the aldermen can strike a popular note if they will refuse to consider a second time in the same year matters on which they have already acted upon adversely. Where these matters call for a public hearing, the repeated applications are a nuisance to the community affected.

We print this week a letter recently published in the Town Crier, and which may be food for thought for many of our good citizens. Incidentally, we can take issue with "Newtonville" on many of the criticisms he makes, but we leave it to our readers to draw their own conclusions.

While it is doubtful if there will be much public interest in the proposal of the New Haven road to curtail its train service between Newton Highlands and Upper Falls and Needham, we believe it is the part of wisdom to give as much publicity as possible to matters of this nature.

Shovelling snow is about as futile a way of spending money as one can conceive.

Y. M. C. A.

The members of the Fellowship Club enjoyed a very interesting talk by Dr. Warren K. Lewis of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology last Monday evening. His subject was "Einstein and the Fourth Dimension." Many took the opportunity to ask Dr. Lewis questions of a scientific nature.

Lawrence Trowbridge, bowling in the house tournament at the Newton Y. M. C. A. last Monday evening won the high single with a score of 159. Boston pins were used. This tournament closes on the 9th of March and the leading teams are only a few points apart. A team representing the Newton Y. M. C. A. bowled in the State Wide medal pin tournament on Washington's birthday.

The Board of Directors will meet on Tuesday, March 1st for their regular monthly meeting.

Representatives from different churches met at the Y. M. C. A. last Friday evening to discuss the advisability of starting a Daily Vacation Bible Class in Newton. Mr. Hayden Stright, Religious Work Director of the Newtonville Methodist Church told of his successful experience in conducting a similar school in Newtonville. Another meeting of representatives of the churches will be held at the same place on Friday, March 4th.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The holiday on Tuesday has cut down the work of the Legislature to a considerable degree as there was no meeting on Monday.

Committee hearings were numerous and on important matters on Wednesday and Thursday. Mr. William F. Garcelon, representing the Arkwright Club, was the principal speaker on a bill to give a little elasticity to the present 48 hour law. Mr. Garcelon stated that so far as the textile mills were concerned, the present law did not allow for periods of intensive activity and this bill, while not increasing the total work hours for the year would allow for some additional hours of work at seasonal times.

Live hearings were also held on propositions to require general fitness on the part of applicants for admission to the bar and on the bill to give the board of medicine discretionary powers on the matter of qualifications of medical schools. Another hearing was on a bill to regulate beauty parlors.

The committee on citizens has reported adversely on Representative Hollis' bill for giving information to voters regarding candidates for city office in Newton.

The matter of old age pensions came up in the House last week. Thursday, Representatives Hollis, Luitwieler and Saltonstall voting against the matter and Representative Thompson not being recorded.

The budget was debated at length this week in the House the Ways and Means Committee being sustained on every attempt at amendment.

FORMER RESIDENTS DEAD

Word has just been received here of the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brown at Vancouver, British Columbia. Mr. Brown passed away Monday, February 21st, and Mrs. Brown died the following day, Feb. 22nd.

For more than thirty years they were residents of West Newton; loved and respected by all who knew them. About nine years ago they removed to Vancouver to be with their youngest daughter, Martha, who was formerly employed at the First National Bank of West Newton and at the time of her marriage went west.

Mr. Brown was a carpenter by trade, being employed for many years by the late Henry H. Hunt and William Pettigrew, prominent builders of this city of several generations ago.

The deceased were regular attendants at the First Unitarian Church, being ardent admirers of the late Rev. Julian C. Jaynes.

Born at Spaniards Bay, Newfoundland, they were married fifty-two years ago last Christmas Eve. Six children were born of this union, all of whom survive: Mrs. Isabelle Evans of Vancouver, B. C.; Mrs. Jennie Goss of Medford, Mass.; Robert H. of Boston; Mrs. Mae McCammon of Watertown, William V., 403 Crescent St. Waltham, and Mrs. Martha E. Bevis, 2293 William St., Vancouver, B. C., with whom they had made their home. There also survive eleven grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

Mr. Brown was nearly 82 years old and his wife would have been 77 next month had she lived. The former had been failing for more than a year and death was due to shock. Mrs. Brown, however, had been in fine health up to a few weeks ago. Death in her case is reported to be due to pneumonia, no doubt reaching a climax with the passing away of her husband.

PI ETA SHOW

"Shoot The Works," this year's Pi Eta show and a musical comedy that has many interesting features and some very catchy music, has already had four performances before enthusiastic audiences, and will be presented in Players Hall on February 28.

The book is by R. H. Booth, Jr., '27, and Donald Gibbs, '27; the music by Richard Donham, '27, and L. W. Grossman, I.G.B. The musical score is elaborate and among the lifting melodies that especially caught the fancy were "Once Upon A Time," "Carry Me Back," and "When You Have Gone Away."

Mr. Richard Donham, whose name appears in the program as the Irving Berlin of the Pi Eta certainly has a future in tin pan alley. His music is of that rare vintage which remains with one after the show and which lingers in the whistling and humming of the audience many hours after even the best of college clowning is a memory.

WILLIAMS COLLEGE POPULAR

The Newtons are represented at Williams by the following men: John C. deMille, Jr., F. J. Fessenden, Jr., J. R. Minter, W. E. Phelps, Jr., John K. Pratt, '27, W. E. Appleton, Howard F. Pitts, C. M. Hutchins, M. B. Jones, Jr., K. E. Kepner, Robert T. Person, '23; G. S. Pecker, Charles H. Phelps, C. W. Stratton, '23; Franklin K. Hoyt, W. E. Park, and C. E. Timble, '30.

LASELL

Mme. Karzarimof, one of the members of the staff of The Living Age (Atlantic Monthly Press) spoke to the class in Contemporary Literature on "Russian Literature in the 19th Century," on Friday evening, February 25. Rev. Payson E. Pierce of Reading will be the Vesper speaker on Sunday evening, February 27, at 6.30 in Bragdon Hall.

Members of the French Club under the direction of Mlle. Jeanne LeRoyer presented the play, Le Malade Imaginaire, on Thursday evening, February 24.

Miss L. R. Potter, Dean, accompanied by a party of students, will make her annual trip to Washington during the Easter Vacation, March 25 to April 5.

PEIRCE SCHOOL

On Friday afternoon, February 18, the pupils of Peirce School held a Lincoln and Washington Assembly consisting of the following program:

America, a reading, "The Flag," Jack Perkins, Grade II; George Washington, our hero, Grade IV; Group of American melodies; chorus, Room 9; Uses of our Flag, Grade III; A Little Girl's Wish, Rosalind Bigelow, Grade VI; Washington's Birthday, Virginia Smith, Grade VII, Room 11; The Stars and Stripes, Grade I; "Oh Captain, My Captain," Virginia Leatherby, Room 12; Washington's Name in the Hall of Fame, Elmore Vaughan, Room 13; George Washington, Josephine Hart, Room 10; Washington—the Young Leader, Redmond Cannon; Lincoln's Proclamation, read by Elizabeth Ker-shaw; The Perfect Tribute—a play given by the Grade 5 Dramatic Club; speakers; salute to the flag; Star Spangled Banner.

ANGIER SCHOOL

We are very proud of the boys and girls of the Angier School who are on the Honor Roll of Attendance for the first twenty weeks of school. All those whose names are given have been neither absent nor tardy: Barbara Cram, Elsie Stephen, Edith Wheaton, Dorothy Whitaker, Antonio Godino, Robert La Cross, Robert McClellan, Louise Bloomfield, Katherine Offutt, Marjorie Hunzen, Marion Willard, Jack Bierer, Harry Ham, Donald Robbins, Joseph Godino, Margaret Howatt, Grace Moulton, James Linscott, James Chandler, David McClellan, Betty Bartram, Audrey Holman, Walter Gladwin, Rhoda Garrison, Marie Bailey, Dana Mauch, George Monson, Virginia Heathcote, William Mosser, Charles Linscott, Janice Ringe, John Robbins, Nancy Howatt, John Davis, Margaret Bartram, Richard Clark, Louise Greene, Robert Hamlin, William McClellan, and George Heathcote.

Mrs. Benson's little folks are trying very hard to be in their seats by 8:25, so that there will be no danger of their being tardy. We know they will surprise all the other rooms by their attendance record.

The Silver Cups which Doris Bauckman of the 8th grade won at a "Big Brother Spelling Bee" filled us all with pride in our representative. We enjoy sending some one to each match, and those who go enjoy the evening even though they may not win the cup.

The three debates in the 8th grade which followed the one given in the Assembly were great fun and were given with spice and yet with dignity. The subjects were: "Is English the Most Important Subject in the Curriculum?" "Is Football a Better Game than Baseball?" and "Is One Long Session Better than Our Present Grammar School Schedule?"

Miss O'Connor's boys and girls have each one, on his or her desk, a little folder, most mysterious to the uninitiated. They were made to encourage good posture and already they have done much for their owners. If you are not keeping a satisfactory position you lose your folder for the day. The victors are those who, at the end of the week, can say, "My good posture card hasn't been taken from me."

Harriet Davis in Miss Jones' fourth grade holds highest honors in both arithmetic and spelling.

At the regular meeting of the Safety Council the first of the month, Miss Greenwood, of the Mass. Office of Safety Council was present and told interestingly of the work for safety in other schools. She urged membership drives in each room. New patrols were appointed: Jerodith Miller, 6th grade, Jean Frost, Eleanor Denham, Doris Bauckman, Louise Carne, Willis Pinkham, and Sam Douglass, 8th grade. Posters were contributed by Carolyn Whitaker and Roswell Davis.

EMERSON SCHOOL

Hang Lee, a graduate of the Emerson School in the class of 1919, made a visit recently to his former teachers and school. Hang has graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and this year is pursuing a postgraduate course there. He intends to return to China and do engineering work.

Kenneth Johnson of grade seven received a Certificate of Merit from the Boston Traveler for excellence in written composition in the contest on the subject, "What Lesson Does Old Ironsides Teach Young America?"

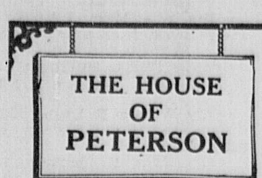

A new Keystone Lantern for class room use has been added to the school equipment. The lantern is portable and very convenient for the projection of slides on a wide range of subjects. A collection of slides will be added soon.

A Scotch dance in costume was given by Louise Butchart of grade seven at the last assembly. Louise joined the school last September coming from Scotland.

"My Experiments at the Spelling Bee" were related by Abraham Bringshaw at one of the February assemblies. Abraham represented the school twice with high credit, standing third and fifth respectively in the two contests.

"The Land of Windmills and Dykes" was made an interesting program number at an assembly held by seven girls of grade seven. Appropriate costumes added interest to this recital of the customs of Holland.

"Golden Keys" by seven children of grade four and "Good Health" by

This week, Feb. 25-26, the feature picture is "The Bat." Almost everyone who saw the stage play claims that Mary Roberts Rhinehart and Avery Hapwood never produced a more delightful comedy-mystery drama. With this excellent picture, Harold Lloyd in "Never Weak," will surely make you laugh.

Beauty and Luxury without an Equal in the whole $1000 Field

By long odds the most distinguished motor car ever introduced into the $1000 field, this Nash De Luxe Light Six is also the most remarkable performer.

Along with its notable beauty and classic body craftsmanship it has the vital superiority of a 7-bearing crankshaft motor—the ultra-modern type.

That gives you a superlative advantage over the standard 3 or 4-bearing motor in the way of matchless quietness and phenomenal smoothness throughout the full range of speed and power.

Colorfully finished in exquisite blue lacquer, with the lighter body shade contrasting smartly with the darker tone of upper body and fenders, and enhanced with a wealth of refinements and appointments it stands out as a motor car value clearly above and beyond comparison.

The attractiveness of the interior is enriched with a walnut finished instrument board and window ledges, and choice upholstery of genuine Chase Velmo Mohair Velvet.

Headlamps as well as cowl lamps are executed in the bullet design. The steering wheel is of real Circassian walnut.

There are bumpers in front and bumpers at the rear, and a motometer surmounts the winged radiator cap. 4-wheel brakes and 5 disc wheels are also included as standard equipment within the price.

COLLEGE NEWS

By Harold P. Carver, N. H. S. '26

Returning to the fraternity members that hail from Newton, we meet first with the Beta Theta Pi members that are mainly from Bowdoin College. This chapter was first organized at Miami University in the latter part of 1839. It was the first of the western fraternities, and probably drew its idea of formation from the Alpha Delta Phi chapter that was already in action on the campus. It is a very large organization with chapters in many of the large universities, mainly in the smaller western colleges. The Newton members on the list are the two Thayer brothers, Richard and Harry, who formerly lived at Newton, but now reside in Marblehead. Dick has been most prominent in athletics at the Maine college for he won his letter this year in football, being the director of the eleven when all other would-be quarter-backs had given the position up, and now is the leading player on the hockey team. He has contributed largely to the fine showing that Bowdoin has made in hockey circles. Harry has been out for hockey, but now expects to confine his interests to track where his chances of being in the weight events seem fairly certain. In the same chapter is Dawson Alexander, known with a fair degree of accuracy as "Porky." He is one of the veteran football men, having won his letter for two years now, and seems to be one of the certain starters on next year's team at guard. Edward Raynor and Alan Shaw of Newton have just been initiated into the fraternity. Raynor has tried out for the hockey team and despite his lack of weight showed considerable ability along the lines of wing-play. Shaw is easily one of the best athletes in Bowdoin at the present time. He has made his numerals at football, has played some hockey for the freshmen this year, and now is in line to play regularly on the varsity basketball team this year. On top of that he has been doing well in his studies, ably demonstrating the faith that the authorities in Newton had in his worth when they awarded him the Meserve Fund Scholarship.

Theta Delta Chi was founded at Union College along in 1847. Another one of the chapters that saw birth at this small college in New York state. The fraternity has a national headquarters at New York and is very thoroughly organized. The boys from Newton that are enlisted in the ranks of Theta Delta Chi are Philip Raye, and William Walker. Raye is the head of the house there and is largely responsible for the sudden spurt that the chapter has made this year. He has spent a great deal of time in an effort to raise the standards, with the result that the delegation this year was one of the best that they have ever had at Amherst. Walker is one of the best students that Newton has sent to any college. One of the faculty at Newton High School is a member of this fraternity, and a resident member of the Amherst chapter. Robert M. Keeney was a prominent runner in his college days, and at Newton is one of the best-liked English teachers where he is the faculty manager of the Newtonian. At Bowdoin two members of the Newton Club are members of Theta Delta Chi. Abbott Spear and Ellis Spear, two brothers from Newton Center, are in this chapter. Abbott is one of the best track men in the sophomore class, for he has already had some marked success in the discus throw, and expects to be a member of the track team this spring.

Among the members of Psi Upsilon that we forgot to mention are Herbert Jones of Waban and David Osborne of the Upper Falls. Jones is one of the leading singers at the college, and has done remarkably well in his chosen line, which is music, and also in the work of literary character that he has taken up in. Osborne is a good student whose ability has more than measured up to expectations. One Newtonian is a pledge there this year at Bowdoin, Joel Nichols of Auburndale whose skill in dramatics is unquestioned. The last member from Newton in this chapter is Donald Hill of Waban, the brother of Malcolm. He is one of the finest tennis players in the New England states, and has many cups in his possession that he has won in the nearby tournaments. He also has done some track work besides being captain of the tennis team for two years.

At Cornell two Newton boys joined one of the younger fraternal organizations when Samuel Moore and Philip Jacobs joined Tau Kappa Epsilon. This fraternity was started in 1899 in Illinois Wesleyan University and spread through the Middle West until at last it was established in Cornell as late as 1923. It has a national organization and appears to be one of the coming groups in the Greek Letter Fraternity system. Moore is, of course, noted for his skill with the rifle, and moreover for his sprinting ability on the track. Although he was only a freshman at college this year, he was made the coach of the rifle team and later elected as captain when the older men refused the position. He expects to transfer to the United States Naval Academy this summer where he will be in his element for he has loved such work for some little time. Phil Jacobs was unfortunate enough to become ill when half way through his first semester, so he hopes to return to college some time next year and take up the work again.

Another person who has joined Phi Sigma Kappa is Howard Palmer who is affiliated with the chapter at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He comes from Newton Centre, and spent all of his later preparatory days at the Browne and Nichols School in Cambridge. He was an exceptionally good distance runner having a large number of medals and prizes that bear witness to the fact that he has led the field in a large number of times. He plans to go on with his track work and should have some decided results for he certainly has the ability.

Three other members of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity are to be listed, two hailing from Bowdoin, and the other from Williams. William Stratton is the member at Williamstown.

He comes from Newton Centre where he proved to be an expert hockey player, although he was very light. At the Purple he has done remarkably well considering his scarcity of pounds for he has almost made the varsity team each year that he has been there. Clifford Snow and Roy Hodgson are enrolled at Bowdoin. Snow is a clever football player and somewhat of a hockey player, while Hodgson inclines to the books and does a splendid job at it.

NEWTON SPORTS

strengthened the team considerably. Hardy returned to the centre position. Kohler and Shields played the guards and Wellman and Joudrey the forward berths. Wellman shone for the locals with six baskets from the floor and two on fouls for 14 points. Hardy was close behind him with 10 points and Shields tallied seven.

The Y seconds defeated the Nordics of Waltham, 34 to 16, with Daniels and Gray leading the way with 13 and 9 points respectively.

Tomorrow night on the local floor the two Y fives will play the Fitchburg Y first and second quintets. This will be the second meeting of the season, as the two associations met at Fitchburg at the start of the schedule. Fitchburg won both games at that time but with the strengthened lineup the local fives are confident of adding another victory.

Last Friday unexpected upsets occurred in the Sunday School league basketball games on the Y court. The Watertown Methodists held their grip on first place by taking the Elliot team into camp in a close game, 24 to 22. In the other game the Watertown Baptist upset the dope by winning their second victory of the season at the expense of the Needham Congregationalists, 25 to 4, and tumbling the Needham five to third place. Thurlow was the outstanding star in the first game with 14 points while Bacon, of the Watertown Baptists was easily the best player on the floor in either game. He tallied 20 points and almost beat the Needham five singlehanded. The standing to date follows:

Watertown M. E.	6	1	.857
Newtonville M. E.	4	2	.666
Needham Cong.	5	3	.625
Elliot Cong.	4	3	.571
Watertown Bapt.	2	5	.285
Central Cong.	0	7	.000

Tonight the games will be: Newtonville M. E. vs. Elliot Cong. and Central Cong. vs. Watertown M. E.

Last Saturday afternoon the Newton Y business men's volleyball team lost to the Boston Y team on the Boston court 15 to 4, 15 to 4 and 15 to 8 in a return match. The local team has two games scheduled with the Lynn Y team on at Lynn on March 17th and the other at Newton on March 25th.

The boys' 1000 point athletic contest at the Y. M. C. A. is rapidly drawing to a close. Seven of the ten events have been completed. The leading boys in the two classes follow: (Class A, under 110 lbs.) W. Floring, 681; G. Gullin, 575; J. Simonds, 516; L. Martin, 507; P. Mackin, 503; C. Kiltredge, 503; P. Zeolla, 487; W. Barba, 482; W. Barle, 477; and R. Dunbrack, 468. (Class B, over 110 lbs.) S. Yobaccio, 444; F. Zeolla, 338; J. Spaulding, 278; C. Gatchell, 265; and W. Crow, 257. The three remaining events are the standing broad jump, 5 potato race (hexathlon style) and the running high jump.

The Newton Y. M. C. A. will be entered in the boys' national hexathlon championship contest to be held next month throughout the Y. M. C. A. of the United States. Six events, short distance potato race, standing broad jump, long distance potato race, running high jump, snap for distance and target throw. Five classes of boys will compete, being divided according to weight. The two upper groups will contest the shot put and fence vault in place of the last two events named. Individual awards of gold, silver, and bronze buttons will be given those scoring over 600, 500, 400 or more points respectively and an association award will be made to the association scoring the greatest number of points. Because of the fact that many associations have much larger memberships divisions have been made accordingly. The local Y is in Class B division.

The Y. M. C. A. basketball teams played the Alpha Phi Club teams of Belmont on Wednesday evening. The visitors' first team won from the Y first team, 25 to 24. Jodrey of Newton tossed 5 baskets from the floor and 1 for foul and Shields of Newton had 4 baskets from the floor. For Alpha Phi Marsh and Reed led with 4 baskets each.

The Y second team won its game 37 to 19. Daniel was high man for Newton with 9 baskets from the floor and 1 on a foul, while Purcell of the Y had 4 from the floor. McLean for Alpha Phi had 6 from the floor and 1 for a foul.

The attendance was rather good considering that it was a holiday, and the singers took hold of "Hawatha's Wedding Feast" with increased spirit and confidence as the result of their growing familiarity with this masterpiece of romantic music. ANTLERS' DANCE

The Antlers' 1327 Club of Newton held an Old-fashioned and Modern Dance on Thursday evening, Feb. 17th. A committee of fourteen, Mrs. Margaret Drennan chairman, were dressed in the costume of colonial days, and during the evening danced a "minuet." Paper hats, varied colors and shapes and comical favors of all descriptions provided plenty of amusement, until O'Leary's Minstrels of radio fame rendered the strains of "Home, Sweet Home." On March 17th, St. Patrick's night, the club will hold a "Green Whisk" and auction bridge party, the proceeds to go to the Social Community Welfare and Relief Fund of Newton Lodge of Elks.

TO DISCONTINUE SERVICE

A hearing will be given by the Commission on Public Utilities at the State House on March 24 on the petition of the New Haven railroad to discontinue its present service between Newton Highlands and the Upper Falls and Needham.

At the present time, the New Haven trains serve Needham by way of Roxbury, thence through Upper Falls to Newton Highlands returning by the same route. The service between Newton Highlands station and Cook street, a distance of a quarter of mile, is over the tracks of the B. & A. The New Haven road now plans to stop its trains at Cook street, and to curtail its service to one train in the morning and one at night. A shelter of some kind will be built at Cook street, and it is expected that the B. & A. trains may make a stop at that point for the accommodation of such passengers as desire to make the transfer.

ENLARGE COMMITTEE

tee members do not consider themselves of superior ability to the other members on the Board, and any five members of the Board would be equally efficient."

Alderman Ball said that he did not wish the members of the Committee to think he felt that Ward 5 had been slighted by them; that he had been consulted on matters affecting his constituents, but now that hearings on zoning, and other matters, are held before this committee, rather than before the full Board, each Ward should have a member on it. Persons interested to better advantage, when they have their local alderman on the committee. Alderman Earle agreed with Alderman Ball, and stated that Ward 5 has the most undeveloped land of any section of Newton, so most matters of zoning in the future will concern this Ward.

Alderman Hodgdon asked "If small committees are more efficient than large committees, why not reduce the number of the other standing committees of the aldermen which now have seven members?" He argued "Wards 4, 5 and 6, the South Side of the city, have but one member on the Claims and Rules Committee. The North Side has the other four members. Efficiency is not obtained by having aldermen from the Wards not represented on the committee permitted to attend some of its meetings, but by having these Wards represented and thus having the benefit of a knowledge of local conditions which only will come by having a member from each Ward."

Alderman Grebenstein, arguing against the increase in number of the Committee, remarked, "The Claims and Rules Committee is the driest and toughest committee I have served on. It is tougher than the Franchise and License Committee." Mr. Grebenstein was speaking figuratively, not literally. He did not mean that all the members of the committee in question are absolute totalitarians, or that the members of the Franchise and License Committee are "hard-boiled guys." He explained that the Claims and Rules Committee ponders over much dull, routine work. He also asserted that this committee is a non-political committee, gives everyone a square deal, and considers the rights of the public. He contended that on such important special committees as those appointed to deal with water, transportation, and the new City Hall, each Ward did not have a representative; and that while he thought that Ward 2 should have been recognized on the committee on City Hall, its alderman did not kick, when none from that Ward was appointed. He said, "It will be time to change when the committee does something that is not right. If you are dissatisfied, why not return to the practice of having hearings on zoning changes held before the full Board."

Alderman Noone said, "I am reluctant to upset the report of the committee, but what would my constituents think if I vote against having them represented on this Committee? At the next election, three of the five members of this committee may be some experienced members on it. It should have a member from each Ward. It would be less harmful to reduce the Franchise and License Committee because of the accusations which have been made against it."

Alderman Heathcote said, "I do not believe the committee gets all the needed information on matters of zoning changes." He told of one petition for a change in zoning, when he went to the neighborhood affected, and obtained much more definite information from property owners concerned than had been given at the hearing before the aldermen. He criticized the growth in the number of selected committees, and asserted that five members of the Board, including two aldermen serving their first term, are on five or six committees. Alderman Grebenstein again arose to oppose the increase of the Claims and Rules Committee, saying "The Board is in a good position to defeat any change proposed by this committee, as it takes 16 votes to change a zone."

Alderman Hodgdon, who is quite tactful, replied, "I have listened twice to the previous speaker. He mentioned that the Claims and Rules is not a political committee. We have no political committees. There are no politicians on the Board. The question is—Are Wards 4 and 5 going to have some representatives they can call up and explain matters to? Of the thirteen chairmen of committees, Wards 4, 5, and 6, have but three; ten come from Wards 1, 2, 3 and 7. The members and people of the South Side should be allowed representation on the Claims and Rules Committee. Alderman Gordon also favored the increase. The report of the committee, recommending that its numbers not be increased from 5 to 7 was rejected by a vote of 12 to 6."

Alderman Ball then presented his motion, calling for the increase, and it was passed. So Wards 4 and 5 will have representatives on this important committee. But just now Ward 4, which includes Auburndale and Lower Falls, can be construed as being in the South Side of Newton, is difficult to understand.

ALDERMEN MEET

Much Routine Matter Acted Upon Last Monday Night

The fourth regular meeting of the 1927 Board of Aldermen was held Monday night. It was a very interesting meeting, a wide variety of matters being discussed. On its merits this meeting deserved a much larger attendance of citizens. Apart from the delegation of 12 Lower Falls citizens, who came again to protest against a permit being granted to Henry C. Bourne for a gasoline station at 2,268 Washington street, the gallery was limited to a bevy of fair ladies, including the wives of a couple of the aldermen. One of the scribes at the press table was curious to know whether or not these spouses of the aldermen came to see their husbands returned home immediately after the meeting adjourned. The absentees among the aldermen were Bliss and Hawkins. The latter is basking in the sunshine of Bermuda.

The first matters on the docket were hearings on petition for laying out and accepting Ellison, Bothfield and Halcyon Roads, and Randlett Park. No one appeared either to favor or oppose these projects. Neither was anyone present to object to or object to the establishment of a building line on the southeasterly side of Washington street, and the easterly side of Putnam street from Highland street to the land owned by the City of Newton.

Alderman Earle commented, "The fact that nobody is here, does not mean none favor these petitions. Some have been before the Board so long, that those who presented them, perhaps think they have been outlawed."

Leave to withdraw was given on the petition of Dr. Allen Barrow who sought a change of zoning from General Residence to Business at 9 Highland avenue, Newtonville. Chairman Madden of the Claims and Rules Committee stated "that Highland avenue is a fine residential street, and if it should be changed to a business zone at the location specified by Dr. Barrow, it would mean that business would start to encroach along this street. Residents on Washington Park, and other streets on the opposite side of Walnut street, where business is now developing, would have a precedent to also ask for changes to business zones."

The License Committee having reported favorably, the aldermen voted to grant these permits: Edison Company, pole locations on Pleasant and Thornton streets; P. A. Murray estate, auto sales and service station at 210-220 Washington street, with permit to keep and sell 500 gallons of gasoline; pump and tank to be installed in building; Albert T. Stuart Company, permit for gasoline station at Beacon street and Chesley Road, Newton Centre, 4,000 gallons storage and two pumps. Alderman Hodgdon had reserved voting rights on this matter, but he offered no opposition.

permitted for a station on this site was previously asked for by Erasmo Diavisto, but was refused because of the opposition of Chesley Road residents. When Mr. Stuart acquired this property and announced that he would build a block of stores thereon, most of those who had opposed the Diavisto petition, readily favored the gasoline station in preference to the block of stores. Which goes to show, that in the opinion of some, at least, gasoline stations are rather to be chosen than stores.

On the recommendation of the Franchise and License Committee, the Middlesex & Boston was given leave to withdraw on its petition to be allowed to run buses on Lowell avenue from Crafts street to Walnut street, instead of on Walnut and Watertown streets. Nearly a score of nearby residents objected to the change, claiming that it would create a more dangerous situation. Other petitions which were refused were those of Harry Broudy asking for an extension of the parking limit at Newton Corner from 30 minutes to one hour; Frank O. Harrell for the prohibition of trucking on Bulloah Park; and a petition to make a portion of Ward street, a one-way street.

The special committee on Traffic made these recommendations, which were referred to the Claims and Rules Committee: to prohibit trucking on the west side of Hovey street to allow parking of cars on east side of Peabody street; to allow parking of cars on east side of Bacon street; to provide 30 minute parking limit on Washington street from Peabody street to a point 70 feet west of Channing street.

The appointments of Florence Fitzgerald as Overseer of the Poor, and Dr. Edward Mellus as a Member of the Planning Board, were confirmed. A letter was received from Mayor Childs withdrawing the appointment of Oscar Reed as an assistant assessor, and appointing Willis F. Hadlock. The Mayor explained that Mr. Hadlock's name had been inadvertently left off the list, and he had been an assistant-assessor for many years. He stated that Mr. Reed will be given the appointment when there is a vacancy.

Chapter 16, Section 131 of the City Ordinances was amended to repeal the requirement that certain work on playgrounds must be done by employees of the Street Department. Alderman Madden explained that when the Playground Department was first started, it had no employees to do construction work, but now it possesses such employees.

At the request of Judge Bacon, sections of the ordinance relating to truants and neglected children, were repealed. Since this ordinance was passed years ago, it has become unfashionable to treat "bad kids" with any semblance of severity, or to designate them with any name that would tend to place stigma upon them. So, the designations "truant," and "neglected child," have been supplanted by "delinquent" and "wayward child," and it has been forbidden to place minor children under arrest, take them to a police station in a patrol wagon, place them in a cell, or try them in a regular court session. To conform to these changes, the ordinance was altered.

The motion to amend an ordinance, so that the Building Department, instead of the Inspection of Wires Department will have charge of electrical equipment in public buildings in the city, was held up at the request of Alderman Heathcote. He desired more time to look into the matter.

Tony Colabufalo was given a permit to erect a henhouse at 51 Walnut Hill road, Newton Highlands. Alderman Madden explained that this house will accommodate but 100 of the egg-layers and that there will not be the opportunity for Mr. Colabufalo to imitate the action of a person who received a permit to keep 300 hens over Oak Hill way, and then built a house for 3,000 fowl. This party, according to Mr. Madden, not only kept a regiment of hens, but had them on a "two platoon" system, keeping the houses lighted at night, so that the hens would perform double duty.

Mr. Colabufalo's permit did not specify, (at least on the docket) how many roosters would be kept. Most residents of Newton do not object to hens being kept in their neighborhood, if such hens are kept confined, or on leashes, so that they will not intrude into adjoining gardens. But, in all except the rural sections of Newton, there is a demand that roosters be tabooed. These "birds" are excess baggage. They sing like automobile horns and many of them can't tell time. Instead of crowing a daybreak which is early enough for most people to get to work at 8 or 9, these "moron" roosters start a preliminary yapping at midnight.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

At last I think I have discovered a new way of arousing public interest in the larger questions affecting the life of our fair city. I believe also that some of the smaller questions, too, as well as those of medium-size might well be included in the program I am about to offer. The idea is not a costly one and for that matter involves little or no expense. At the same time it seems to promise pleasure and profit to the men, women and children of our beloved burg.

Before going any further I wish to state that in my opinion, which I hasten to express before I am called upon to give it, that the fine art of debating is overlooked everywhere in Newton except at City Hall. There is no reason that the members of our Board of Aldermen should have exclusive privileges in this particular and for that reason I believe my idea will have an even wider appeal.

There is in every heart the love of contest. That is, most of us live to win, but all of us are rather fond of watching two people indulge in some mental form of competition. Who knows of a more respectable way of matching powers than in a joint debate. Two fine specimens of oratorical fitness may face each other on the platform and hurl large and ponderous arguments at each other; sharp thrusts may follow one another and crushing blows may be delivered and in the end no one will exhibit the slightest injury.

I have observed that at the meetings of all legislative bodies, whether National, State or municipal there is always a gallery, the members of which delight in the ready wit and smashing statements of the debaters. The enjoyment of a "scrap" between a couple of good "spouters" is not confined to any one class in the community. Everybody gets a "kick" out of that kind of entertainment.

We have been promised by an organization that bears the name of one of the most illustrious men who ever sat in the Presidential chair, that a debate will be held in Boston in April between Senator Borah and Dr. Butler of Columbia University. The announcement tells how members of the club will have the choice of seats. Now then here is a tip for any organization in Newton that wants to increase its membership. Pick out a couple of fire-eating talkers and arrange a debate. Give the ringside seats to members and sell tickets to the public. Any subject will do. I can assure the promoters that the hall will be filled.

"The one way to get the best of crooks, pick-pockets, hold-up men and your own carelessness is to stop carrying so much cash on your person."

Here was a piece of advice that I recently received in printed form and which caused me to ponder at considerable length. Not until I had read it did I appreciate that unwittingly I was helping to keep the highway robbery industry in a flourishing condition. Naturally, I sought to evade the responsibility and tried to persuade myself the little card was not for me. But I couldn't. There was no mistake about the intention of the sender.

I am reluctant to encourage crime in any form and wouldn't, even at the risk of personal inconvenience, have any of my fellow citizens exposed to the danger of an encounter with a thug. I know it must be a terrible experience, apart from the pecuniary loss one is forced to sustain. To think of the shock that is bound to result from the struggle, if such there be, or from the state of fear that causes one to hand over all valuables.

As yet I have never had an encounter with a highwayman. That is, I have never been flattered by the attentions of robbers. I am sure that I would not be scared but would thank them for the compliment. Of course I have interviewed numerous crooks but that was purely in a professional capacity and any exchange of thoughts was merely as one workman to another.

But to be held up at night is something that it seems to me has its charm as well as its drawbacks. I should like to see first hand just how they do business. To have a revolver thrust in one's ribs might cause one to remonstrate if one was ticklish. Otherwise, the simplest way out would be to dive into one's pockets and collect such pieces of coin and other mementoes as the hold-up artist desired.

Next to being mistaken for the possessor of unlimited wealth by a "yegg" is to have a printed warning sent you that you are carrying too much money on your person. Strangely enough, the thought had never occurred to me before, but I am glad indeed to be reminded of it.

This silence concerning the coming city election in Newton has gone far enough. Here it is the last of February. The city election takes place next December and no one has taken us aside to tell us that he has heard from some man who "got it straight" from somebody else that there will be at least one and maybe two candidates against Mayor Childs.

When we hear that there is going to be a big fight "in the fall" over the Mayorality we stop and look at the man who made the remark. Then we satisfy ourselves he was not the same man who said it two years ago nor did he say it four years ago.

Can it be that we are forgetting ourselves in Newton? By this period of the year there should be rumors of at least half-a-dozen candidates against the Mayor. I may be somewhat behind the times, but thus far nobody has approached me with the query, "Is Childs going to run again?" That question every two years has been repeated in Newton as frequently as any phrase of popular speech. As far as I know it will continue to be repeated indefinitely. But then you never can tell.

The other day I heard a man say, and I think rather boastfully, that he had a "self-emptying" mind. Someone had said to him, "I hope you won't forget to do that" and he answered with the above remark, adding, "My secretary does my remembering for me." What a wonderful thing it would be if everybody was as happily situated as he. To have in one's employ a secretary to make note of this, that and the other would relieve us of that not infrequent state of perplexity which causes us to say, "There's something I ought to do but I can't remember now what it was."

For my own part I am compelled to be my own secretary and in that capacity I carry around a small loose-leaf notebook, bound in leather to withstand hard usage. The fact that it is quite worn may prove its value to me or on the other hand it may indicate that my memory is not as good as it was. Again, some may argue that I should not depend on a notebook but should train my mind to retain all these little things. I do not know which is the true view but for the present I think I shall cling to the notebook.

When I suggested to the man with the "forgettery" that he might find a notebook worth while he replied, "I tried that once but I can't remember that I had the book and I found after I had carried it for some time that it wasn't any use to me."

Then I found another man, quite well-established in the community, including the local bank, who took the other view. He said, "I have evolved a scheme for remembering names. It is this: when I am introduced to a man I make myself repeat, inwardly of course, the name over and over again. The first chance I get I write it down on paper. Now I do not pretend to preserve the paper, for in a short time I would have accumulated enough for a small directory, but having written the name down I have it visualized. The next time I meet that man I can see his name staring at me from a scrap of paper and I am able to greet him as he should be instead of saying, 'How are you Mister, er-er-er' and then let him fill in the blank space of my memory."

"And don't forget it always makes a hit with a man to know that you have remembered his name. Nothing makes a person more peeved than to have his name forgotten." Here is a bit of advice that may be useful to some readers who may, like myself, be strong on remembering faces but short on remembering names.

I have often wondered if the boys nowadays pick up odd pieces of change like their fathers or grandfathers by doing odd chores for the neighbors. That, I can vividly recall, was almost an industry. Many a penny was earned by boys in my day who were willing to run to the store for Mrs. Soandso or shovel the sidewalk in winter or cut the grass in summer for Mr. Whatyoumaycall-him. Frankly, I am not in a position to keep track of the boys of my acquaintance who might be so inclined and I cannot say that they are not willing to earn money in this way.

It is my impression that it is not the "fashion" in these times for youngsters to earn pocket money by manual labor. They have other schemes which bring quicker results and incidentally require the expenditure of less effort. Maybe they are better financiers. I hope so, indeed, but I doubt if they get as much fun and as much beneficial exercise. To put out ash barrels regularly every week is a more difficult task than to persuade a friendly neighbor that she should buy a load of an ordinary brand of toilet soap. I suppose someone will say, "Doesn't he know that times have changed?" Yes, I do and that's exactly the point I wish to make.

I heard two well known office-holders, one Federal and one State, swapping reminiscences the other evening. One said, "I entered public office in my teens." His observation caused surprise. "Yes," said he, "I was janitor of the district school and though the pay wasn't much it gave me spending money." The other laughed, "You have nothing on me," he replied, "I also was janitor of the district school when I was in my early teens."

Now it so happened that both were natives of Massachusetts. One was born in Essex county and the other in Worcester county. They were country boys which possibly made some difference in shaping their young lives. Both, it was plain, had to work hard for all that they got. That it did them no harm is plain to anybody who knows them. Personally I admire them for their grit and perseverance and thank them for proving my case for me.

Has anybody suggested a referendum to the voters of the question of a new city hall? If so, I have not heard of it. Possibly it might not be a bad idea, although in my opinion it would be better if someone were to ascertain whether a referendum was desired. In other words we might have a referendum on a referendum. That would seem an appropriate way of getting at the facts since municipal government usually favors the most roundabout and cumbersome methods possible.

I have been trying to find out how many people are earnestly in favor of a new building for the city department and of that number how many know that it would mean an increase in public expenditures which must be met sometime. I don't know what those who are most active in the new city hall movement have in mind so far as financing goes. That certainly is after all the most vital point to be considered.

Personally, I have found a great deal to admire in reproduction of the architects' drawings. They certainly quicken one's appetite for a modern and imposing municipal group of buildings than now exists in West Newton. I suggest, however, that along with the exhibition of the plans there be a detailed explanation of the cost and of the various ways it may be met. Let us have not only that which appeals to the eye and the imagination but also the taxpayer's pocketbook.

At the end of the week designated for the campaign for $9767, only $3700 has been pledged. Because of unfavorable weather which has made it impossible for the solicitors to visit all those assigned to them, it has been necessary to continue for another week. Especially earnest efforts will be made this week to bring the total up to the amount necessary. Teas were held at the Association rooms for the campaign workers on Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday afternoons of this past week. Amounts received and the number of people approached were announced at these meetings.

The gym classes have now begun on their second term. Classes for beginners are held on Tuesday evenings at 7:30; for those more advanced on Tuesday evenings at 8:30. A morning class is held on Wednesdays at 10. There are also classes for children on Thursday afternoons from 4 to 5.

About Town

By Edw. H. Powers

There has been considerable resentment expressed in the city the past couple of weeks because of an advertisement inserted in the papers by the local office of a public utility company. The advertisement stated that a young lady was wanted for office work, and it specified that she must be a Protestant. Instructions were given to address replies to a certain postoffice box. Now, in a place the size of Newton, it is inevitable that many persons will have observed what individuals or firms rent postoffice boxes. So when this advertisement appeared, it did not take long to "spread the news" among those whose religious faith would bear them from being eligible for the position.

Persons conducting private business ventures have a perfect right to employ anyone whom they prefer. If they see fit to restrict their employees to persons of a certain religious faith, or denomination, that is their privilege. But public utility corporations are supported by the general public regardless of creed or color. This being so, officials or supervisory employees of public utility corporations have no moral right to restrict employment in such companies to persons of a particular religious belief. This is a day when tolerance is being practiced, when bigotry is being condemned. While here and there artful schemers are waxing rich by pandering to the narrow visions of those still enchained by hatreds inherited from past centuries, the great majority of the American people have sufficient intelligence and character to scorn intolerance.

In the past, discrimination against persons because of their religious affiliation, has not been practiced by the officials of the public utility corporation which we refer to. In its local division, in our opinion, at least fifty per cent of the employees are of a religious faith other than the Protestant denominations. It may be that the officials, or supervisory employee, responsible for the insertion of the advertisement merely desired to maintain the present proportion among his subordinates. We would like to think that such is the case. We have known for some years most of those in charge of the local division of the corporation which apparently inserted the advertisement. We would be surprised to see them exhibit evidences of bigotry.

When an individual or a corporation desires to hire an employee of a particular religious affiliation, it seems that the desired result could be accomplished without publicity. Was it necessary to insert such an advertisement?

The recent sale of the Sumner property on Centre street, Newton, brings to mind the small building which formerly stood between that property and the Centre street railroad crossing. It was about 20 feet square, had a mansard roof, and was owned by the Boston & Albany railroad. On this building for many years was a sign bearing these words, "William Welch, Harnessmaker." William Welch was a well known character of Newton Corner for nearly two generations. Born at Boston in 1837, he entered the employ of the old Boston & Worcester Railroad in the early days of that railway's career. He learned the trade of harnessmaking, and upon being given the position as gateman at the Centre street crossing at Newton Corner, started a harness shop in the little building on Centre street. For many years he did a thriving business, employing assistants to help him. But he did not allow his private industry to interfere with his duties at the crossing. The railroad company never had a more reliable employee than William Welch. The moment the going rang announcing the approach of a train, Welch would quickly emerge from the building and lower the gates. This was the rule of the railroad, and he strictly observed it. Other gatemen would keep the gates up until the last possible moment to accommodate pedestrians and drivers who desired to rush across as a train was approaching. It was almost a daily occurrence for Welch to be the target of a lot of verbal abuse and profanity from drivers who became annoyed at his refusal to delay lowering the gates. He paid no attention to these irascible individuals, continued always to obey instructions, and few accidents occurred at his crossing, which was one of the most travelled on the entire road. Those which did occur were to pedestrians who ducked under the gates in defiance of the gate-tender.

It is doubtful if a more methodical man than Mr. Welch ever resided in Newton. He led a very quiet life. Years sometimes intervened between his rare visits to Boston. Extremely frugal, he amassed a competency which would have permitted him to enjoy many of the pleasures of this world, had he so desired. When grade crossings were abolished by the lowering of the tracks, his position was wiped out. Then, for nearly 30 years, he took life easy, and was a familiar figure around Newton Corner, wearing his visored cap, and reefer coat. He spent much of his time at the Newton Library, and in the warmer months could be found at certain hours either in Farlow Park, or seated on the riverbank below Charlesbank road. Few persons would be contented with such a quiet (some would say drab) mode of life as Mr. Welch followed. He, however, was apparently happy, and lived to a ripe old age, dying in 1922.

In looking at the copy of the Graphic dated March 14, 1902, we observed this item under the Y. M. C. A. Notes: "Public dumb-bell drill in Y. M. C. A. hall, Saturday, March 15, at 8 p. m. Adults invited." We wonder who participated in this drill?

Hugh Boyd, Fred Hawkins and Herb Veno leave today for a visit to Bermuda. As these young men are total abstainers, apart from enjoying the climate and semi-tropical scenery of the island, their principal diversion will be observing the lily fields and onion plantations which have made Bermuda famous.

MUSIC MEMORY CONTEST. Do the Clubwomen remember the thrill of that afternoon at Swampscott when a row of eager, alert, happy children faced our Music Chairman, and in unison triumphantly informed her of the name of the piece, the author, his nationality, and the type of music he had written? Do they remember the assurance those delighted because-informed children displayed? Do they remember the regret that sprang into their own thought that they themselves could not tell each one of these beloved, familiar masterpieces? If they do they will want to aid other children to become acquainted with these wonderful examples of music, to love them, and to be able to name them. And the opportunity is given to work with incentive of a contest once more coming this spring, under the auspices of the State Music Committee.

Mrs. F. Otis Drayton asks that Clubs and Schools now prepare children to enter this contest, and she says rightly that there can be no more worthwhile piece of work for a Club than to give this musical information to daughters (and sons) of members, or to children of the community. Not only are Clubwomen so giving to children a valuable knowledge of music—that they themselves regret came not into their own youthful experience—which will abide in perpetual joy and satisfaction through their lives, but they are giving to them the opportunity of the wonderfully exciting experience of entering this music contest—and perhaps winning a prize and fame, although even if they do not have this latter thrill, there is the pleasure of being a member of the contest-ant throng.

Mrs. Drayton will gladly give suggestions, further details of the planned contest, and a true list of the music which will be used therein if Music Chairman or other interested Clubwomen who desire to take up this enterprise will address her at 33 Wellington lane, Belmont.

WOMAN'S SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA. Another splendid project by the same enterprising and efficient State chairman of which the Federated Clubwomen will have cause to be proud is the statement that Boston is the first American city that may boast of a Woman's Symphony orchestra according to Mrs. Drayton, for Mrs. Drayton and her committee were instrumental in establishing such an orchestra which began its rehearsals January 26th of this year at the home of Mrs. Guy Currier, Commonwealth avenue.

Mme. Ethel Leginska, conductor, pianist, and composer is conducting the orchestra. At present the orchestra consists of about four hundred in the cast. A first public rehearsal will be March 14th, at 8:15 o'clock in Jordan Hall. The program will include selections from Mozart, Liszt, Liszt, LaPisanello, and Tschalkowsky. The soloist will be Lydia Gray, mezzo soprano, with Lucille Oliver at the piano.

Another activity of the Music Department is the working out of an elaborate pageant which is to be presented at the annual meeting of the State Federation at Swampscott in May. Sixty women are now working on the six episodes which will require about four hundred in the cast. A third department work will be brought to the attention of the public, the State Federated Choral Society, which will give its annual concert March 4th, at 8:15 o'clock, in the Copley Plaza Foyer. George S. Dunham Sawyer will conduct the program, which will include selections from Schumann, Elgar, Henschel, Mme. Maentz Saar and H. H. Beach. Mme. Clara Maentz, soprano, will be the soloist, and William Burbank, the pianist.

MORE LEISURE WISELY USED. This slogan has become the most considered one of any given to Clubwomen for some time, because it offers the longed-for in the busy whirl of modern life to women who desire to live within the limits of the four walls of a household's blockade. It appeals because it answers a wistful desire. It arouses curiosity to discover what may be done to acquire this dreamed-of leisure, and how to use it wisely when acquired. The Division of Education in the Department of the American Home, endeavoring to follow this suggestion of Mrs. Harry Burnham's, has prepared a study outline of household management which may be obtained by all interested Clubwomen—and who are not—from Mrs. Ralph H. Reed, chairman of the department, 78 Aspen road, Swampscott.

The Education Chairman, Gladys Becket Jones, points out that the increased activities of the modern woman, the decreasing numbers of domestic helpers, have made the homemaker look about for the solving of her problem of reducing housework, without lowering home standards. Since she can not be an expert in all lines she looks to the wise words of others who are experts in some one line, and takes unto herself the aid offered and applies it. Books on homemaking in the public libraries will give light on such subjects as nutrition, clothing, textiles, household management, child care and behavior. A few books Mrs. Jones mentions especially are: "The Drifting Home," by Ernest Groves; "Parenthood and the New Psychology," by Dr. Frank Richardson; "Creative Music for Children," by Satis Coleman; "Housewifery," by L. Ray Balderston; and "How to Know Textiles," by Cassie Small.

Your editor hopes that by repeating this announcement to Clubwomen some may find the help of which they are in need and for which they did not know where to turn.

Newton Federation

Mrs. Francis H. Williams, press chairman, says that "No more inspiring meeting ever occurred in Newton than the midwinter meeting of the Newton Federation on Wednesday, February 16th, at the Congregational Church in Newton Highlands. The Newton Highlands Woman's Club omitted their regular meeting and entertained the Federation instead. The spirit of welcome and hospitality was apparent in every detail of the meeting. The potted plants, the ferns and beautiful cut flowers spoke a wordless welcome as did the gracious president of the Newton Highlands Club, Mrs. E. F. Gibbs. In her usual delightful way, the president of the Federation, Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., presided, and, as always, made each number of the great audience, for every seat in the Church was taken, feel her personal, friendly welcome. The choruses of the Federated Clubs, under the direction of Mrs. Florence Hale Grim, with Lucy Simonds, accompanist, rendered first, a group of songs, all by Boston composers. "The Song of the Sun," by Edith Lang; "Softly Soundeth Thro' My Soul," by Chas. F. Manney; "Eastern Song," by Mabel Daniels, with violin obligato by Irene Foote and Mrs. Kenneth Hastings. Later, assisted by Dorothy Fairbanks Baisler, soprano, and James R. Houghton, baritone, the chorus gave "Fair Ellen" by Bruch. It was splendid work throughout and the chorus and their leader aroused the greatest enthusiasm and praise from the whole audience.

Mrs. Spear introduced the speaker of the afternoon in a very happy manner, and as Rabbi Levy's radio talks are eagerly listened to, so was his greeting on the platform a treat and an inspiration.

A most fitting theme, "The Real American," to be presented just between the birthdays of our two honored Americans, Lincoln and Washington. Mr. Levy has the wonderful golden voice that takes his audience with him always. His words are so filled with inspiration and optimism, with insight and spiritual gift, and so delightfully touched with humor that his hearers dread to have him stop. He said that the Real American was difficult to define, because the Real American was not yet here, he was in the making. He said he was a man first who knows American ideals and puts them into his daily life.

American ideals, he said, must include a belief in Liberty—physical, liberty, political liberty—not only the right but the duty to vote—the liberty of free speech, absolute religious liberty, and not only must the Real American believe in liberty, but he must believe that there is no liberty without law.

Mr. Levy paid warm tribute to modern youth, but pleaded that they must recognize in their demand for liberty and self expression the need first of adherence to law. "The Real American," he said, was—to quote Roosevelt—always a man who believes in a square deal and equal justice. He is a man who believes in unifying the interests of America, in making the most of the contributions of those from every land. A Real American is one who tries to make the people in his land live together in peace; a man who is always loyal to America, who would lay down his life for America, but a man who knows that all war is disastrous.

A real American is proud of America, but is not conceited, and does not hate those in other lands; he knows we are all interdependent and he tries to understand others. He knows that the testing of America lies in his hands, and deals justly with his neighbors. Finally, he said, "A Real American has faith in his country, his neighbors, and his God."

A very touching tribute was offered in a vote of sympathy in the death of Mr. Dickinson, one Newton Athletic Coach; a man held in honor by all Newton, a Christian gentleman, a clean athlete, and one of whom there could be no higher praise than the quotation from a recent newspaper which said of him: "He believed in God, and his boys, when through, believed in God, too."

After the program the guests were served with very delicious refreshments, and from all over this scattered city of Newton, clubwomen met, and enjoyed a few minutes of social contact.

COMING EVENTS

Waban Woman's Club

Members of the Waban Woman's Club are looking forward to their next program, on the afternoon of Monday, the 28th. That greatest joy to the feminine heart is to be displayed—a Fashion Show—with the latest in all manner of costumes to be brought from the stock of one of Boston's finest stores, Chandler's, and to be exhibited by the Club members best suited to don the various styles of raiment. Ideas for daytime frocks, for sport wear, for the most chic in dress or evening garb, will be most eagerly appropriated.

During the "Show," a background of alluring music—as if such an affair needed any further allure to clutch at the heart of "man"—will be played by Mrs. Estes of Newtonville. After the Show, Mrs. Robert E. Wells will sing, and Mrs. W. B. Stevenson will accompany her. Both are members of the Waban Woman's Club. The fascinating program will close with tea and the always pleasurable social hour.

Monday Club of Newton Highlands

Mrs. J. T. Waterhouse is hostess for the Monday Club, at her home, 37 Hillside road, on Monday afternoon, the 28th. "Personalities" is the title of the program to be presented by three Club members, Mrs. E. C. Simpson, Mrs. Sara Nick, and Mrs. J. G. Birch. The "entertainers" are not handicapped by rules as to what they present in this topic, and imagination runs the gamut from a discussion of personality in the abstract, "personalities," in the way of great men, or great souls, of talented, of leaders, or of mere character study and sketches. One wonders whether the heights of such opportunity will be scaled, or whether enjoyment may be given in keen humor and wit of presenting their fellow-members in ability or idiosyncrasies. At all events, the margin is broad, and the meeting should be a most interesting one!

West Newton Women's Educational Club

Mrs. F. E. Waring will open her home for a meeting of the Travel Class on Monday, February 28th, at 2:30 o'clock.

"Spanish Conquest and Occupation, 1518-1821," is the subject of a paper to be given by Mrs. John A. McCarthy. "A Description of the Country of Mexico," is the subject of a paper to be presented by Mrs. A. L. Day. There will be music and Current Events.

Newton Highlands Woman's Club

The meeting of the Newton Highlands Woman's Club on Tuesday is one of the five to which members may bring daughters of High School, or upper grammar grades, ages, and is one likely to appeal to old and young, alike, as the pictures with which Albert Leonard Squier is to illustrate his lecture on "The Seven Latin-American Republics" are said to be exceptionally fine.

In connection with the meeting, the Philanthropic Committee is holding its fourth food sale of the season and with this event, will end its activities for the year. Members who have had the relief and enjoyment of depending upon these sales will be sorry to learn this.

Realization that the Club year is drawing to a close is brought home to members by the appointment of the Nominating Committee which is to report at the annual meeting in April. Mrs. Harry R. Lamphere is serving as chairman, and associated with her on the committee are Mrs. Mildred B. Stratton, Mrs. Albion H. Brown, Mrs. Harris P. Gray, Mrs. C. A. Thompson, Mrs. Frederick Badger and Mrs. William F. Coan.

On Friday afternoon, Mrs. Arthur S. Williams is opening her home on Hyde street for the annual tea given by the Board of Directors for the new members received into the Club during the year, which at this time, total 45. The event is always a much anticipated one with new comers, and one which always lingers as a pleasant memory long after the guests have become well established in the community.

Mrs. Frank W. Bonser is acting for the directors in making all arrangements for the reception, which is being given in the home of another director.

Newtonville Woman's Club

The Music Committee wishes to announce to members of the Newtonville Woman's Club the reason for the change in the program for the Musical on March 1st. Because Madame Conde expected to be abroad at this time she cancelled her engagement, and Mr. Julius Rissman, Violinist, has accepted a position as Assistant Concert-Meister at the new Paramount Theater in New York. The Committee feels certain that the Club will enjoy hearing the well-known musicians who have agreed to play at the Musicales, Mr. Roberts Langer, Baritone, and the "Butekan Trio," consisting of Barbara Werner, Violinist, Mildred Butekan, Cellist, and Guyman Butekan, Pianist.

The Music Committee also wishes to remind Club members of the concert that the Newton Symphony Orchestra will give at the Newton High School Auditorium on Thursday evening, March 3rd, at 8:15 o'clock. Tickets may be purchased at the door for $1.00 each, or subscriptions for two concerts, one March third, and the other to be announced later at $4.00 (two tickets for each concert) may be obtained from Mrs. Kenneth Hastings, 46 Walker street, Newtonville.

Dr. W. S. Athearn, Dean of the School of Religious Education of Boston University will speak on "Crime, its Cause and Cure," at the Central Congregational Church in Newtonville, Friday evening, March 4th, at 8 o'clock. This talk will be given under the auspices of the Religious Education Council of Newtonville, for the purpose of bringing together religious education workers and anyone else interested in the "New Religion." WOMEN'S CLUBS

Dr. Athearn is known nationally and his talk will without a question be well worth the time of all interested. Parents are especially urged to attend.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

At 10:30 o'clock on the morning of March 1st, the members of the Newton Centre Woman's Club start their new month by hearing a lecture on "Budget Making," by S. Agnes Donham. Surely no more appropriate time of month could have been selected for hints on this most important function of civilization. Miss Donham is known as a most popular writer and lecturer on "Home Making and Income Management," and one who is still able to boast of this place in the affections of the public after presenting such a difficult and personal subject must indeed be able to give wise advice and solve many discouraging problems!

On the 2nd day of the new month, the Education Committee gives another "Informal Talk," in their interesting series of five such lectures. Mrs. W. Cornell Appleton, Mrs. John Bergeson, and Mrs. Charles L. Bird are presenting various topics, such as art exhibits, plays, books, and concerts, under the attractive title of "what to see and hear." The Course is open free of charge to all Club members, and is held the first Wednesday morning of each month, at 10:30 o'clock, being scheduled to last one hour, at the Club House.

Social Science Club

There will be a short Business meeting on Wednesday, March 2nd, at 9:45 o'clock at the Hunnewell Club for members of the Social Science Club.

Community Service Club of West Newton

Wednesday, March 2nd, promises a treat, indeed, for members of the Community Service Club of West Newton! Miss Katherine Warren, whose charm and magnetism, as well as genuine ability as a reader, is to give a varied program of interpretations of the writings of great masters of literature. The meeting will open at 2:30 o'clock with business, at the Parish House of the Congregational Church.

Friday, the 4th of March, sees once more the Current Events lecture in the Parish House of the Unitarian Church at 10 a. m., when Mrs. Claude U. Gilson will once more bring up-to-the-minute information on world affairs to those members who are following this beneficial course.

Auburndale Woman's Club

The regular meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club Thursday afternoon, March 3rd, will be in charge of the Education Committee, Mrs. Hector R. Gai, chairman. Sir John Adams, British Exchange Professor at Harvard University, will speak of "The New Education." There will be songs by Mrs. Earl E. Harper and tea will be served.

Shakespeare Club of Newton Highlands

"Timon of Athens," in the third act, is the subject for the Quiz conducted by Mrs. C. H. Keeler at the next meeting of the Shakespeare Club on Saturday, March 5th. Mrs. W. J. Bicknell opens her home, 84 Erie avenue, for this meeting.

Benefit Shop

"The Newton Hospital Aid Benefit Shop has been having a Clearance Sale of winter clothing and shoes, and is ready for any and all contributions. The Shop again calls the attention of all friends of the Hospital to the fact that only through steady incoming supplies can it continue the great success of the last months. Can the Newton housekeepers and the shop keepers, who are so eager to see our Hospital on a good financial basis, afford to co-operate in this splendid means of help? Just a little thought and care will result in weeding out every little while, garments and utensils and books and furniture that you will be happier without, and the Shop will be richer in selling, and some working man or woman will be aided by buying. Has any one some plain book case to give? We have a steady demand for single bed mattresses, for pillows, for blankets, for draperies of all kinds, and the demand for children's clothes is so much greater than the supply that we are asking most earnestly for all kinds.

"Remember we will send for things if you will notify Mrs. Van Housen, C. N. 1898-W.

"The Shop has some excellent dress suits and tuxedos which may be seen by appointment—call Mrs. Clark, C. N. 1236, to know about them."

Surely the appeal quoted above will result in restocking for another season of shop supplies this most worthwhile of Newton's projects for the good of all!

RECENT EVENTS

Juniors of the West Newton Women's Educational Club

The Juniors of the West Newton Women's Educational Club held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Wilson C. Dort, 342 Otis street, West Newton, Monday evening, February 14th.

Because of the absence of the president, the meeting was conducted by Miss Marjorie Bolster, factotum. Plans were made for a visit to the Massachusetts Legislature, Wednesday, February 23rd. Plans were also made for March 11th, at which time the Juniors entertain the Senior Club.

After the business meeting bridge was played and the girls sang under the direction of Mrs. Hugo Sharpe. Refreshments, appropriate for Valentine's Day, were served by the hostess.

Monday Club of Newton Highlands

Valentine's Day gave one more delightful opportunity for the Monday Club to have a most festive meeting. Mrs. R. W. Barnes was hostess for this meeting, changing her date with Mrs. Waterhouse, who had been the hostess announced. The program, one on "art," was most entertainingly presented by Mrs. A. H. Armstrong, who not only gave inspiring description of the wonders of Mrs. Gardner's "Fenway Court," but took her audience—none of whom it chanced had taken the journey—through the romantic "Titania's Palace," that marvelous work of rare and beautiful collections in miniature that kept eyes of children, and of grown-ups as well, round with fascinated delight and wonder for the weeks it was on display at Paine's.

After this thrilling experience the Club members kept on in the enjoyment of their youth with valentine cakes, and candies, and ice cream, and—surprise, as of happy childhood days!—FAVORS!

It is in these moments of real "party" that the women of the Clubs find themselves drawn closely together, and the work and effort and ideals of their great enterprise take on the added comfort and solace of understanding hearts.

Auburndale Woman's Club

The annual Guest Night of the Auburndale Woman's Club was held on Wednesday evening, February 16th. Major Vivian Gilbert was scheduled to entertain for this occasion but due to his illness a readjustment of the program was made and home talent presented the following:

"Sham," a comedy in one act, by Frank G. Tompkins.

The cast of characters was made up of Charles, the householder, played by Ralph D. Weston; Clara, his wife, played by Mary J. Gray; The Thief, played by A. Gerhard Dehly; and The Reporter, played by F. Leslie Ford. The scene was laid in the living room in the home of Charles and Clara. Music was furnished by Miss Eleanor Daniels and Mr. John Foster Holmes, who gave piano and cornet solos, respectively.

"Pennington, Too," a play in one act, by James C. Bardin, had as cast of characters: Aunt Judith, played by Mabel E. Althens; Simon, her son, E. Graham Bates; Mrs. Pennington, Marion B. Ford; Marcia, her daughter, Dorothy E. Weston; and Mr. Wright, a lawyer, played by Bradley L. Hill. The place of action was a plantation near Charleston, S. C., about fifteen years after the Civil War.

The unprecedented demand for tickets made it necessary to give a second presentation of the plays on Monday evening.

Guests were received by the officers of the Club. Mrs. Stephen E. Wright, president, Mrs. George F. Nudd and Mrs. J. Arthur Furbish, vice-presidents, Mrs. Walter R. Amesbury and Mrs. Ralph E. Keyes, secretaries, and Miss Anne E. Bunker, treasurer. Refreshments were served by the Hospitality committee, Mrs. Eugene Urford, chairman, and a social hour was enjoyed.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

The quarterly luncheon of the Home Economics Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club was served at the home of Mrs. Arthur D. Batson, 854 Watertown street, on Thursday last. The tables, prettily decorated in pink, were set for twenty-eight members.

After the luncheon, Mrs. Kate Henley Daugherty, of the County Extension Services in Agriculture and Home Economics, gave a very interesting talk on home improvement, illustrating her talk with charts, showing how to group and arrange kitchen furnishings, so that work may be done with the greatest saving of time and energy. She also told how to finish or refinish the floors and walls that they may be easily kept and yet be attractive. A number of coverings for floors were shown besides a few sanitas coverings for walls. Members found these practical hints and illustrations most helpful.

Assuredly the activities of Clubwomen invade many precincts and bring much good into many lives of families who do not dream where and how the Clubwoman gained the knowledge that made for their comfort and gratification! Assuredly, too, these activities more than justify the being of Clubs!

Members of the Newtonville Women's Club will be glad and interested to learn that a substantial sum was realized from the Bridge Party held at the home of the president, Mrs. Austin H. Decatur, on Friday, February 18th, for the benefit of the Glee Club. To Mrs. Decatur's generous donation of her home and to the efforts of the vice-presidents, Mrs. Horton S. Allen, Mrs. Robert E. Bruce, and Mrs. Gilbert H. Gleason, assisted by the Volunteer Service Committee, the success of the party was due.

The French Class has completed its course with Mlle. Mathilde Marzin as teacher. Under the stimulation of her instruction, eight members of the Class have taken the initiative to continue their studies. Mlle. Marzin will be their instructor in the advanced course they are organizing. To bring to a happy close the last meeting of the French Class, Mrs. Nelson B. Van derhoof gave a tea at her home on Monday, February 21st. The members presented Mrs. Vanderhoof with flowers as a token of their appreciation for her efforts to make the French Class a success. Among other things Mrs. Vanderhoof has given her home for the meetings of the Class and it is largely due to her unfailing interest that the course in French has been so pleasant for all concerned.

Auburndale Review Club

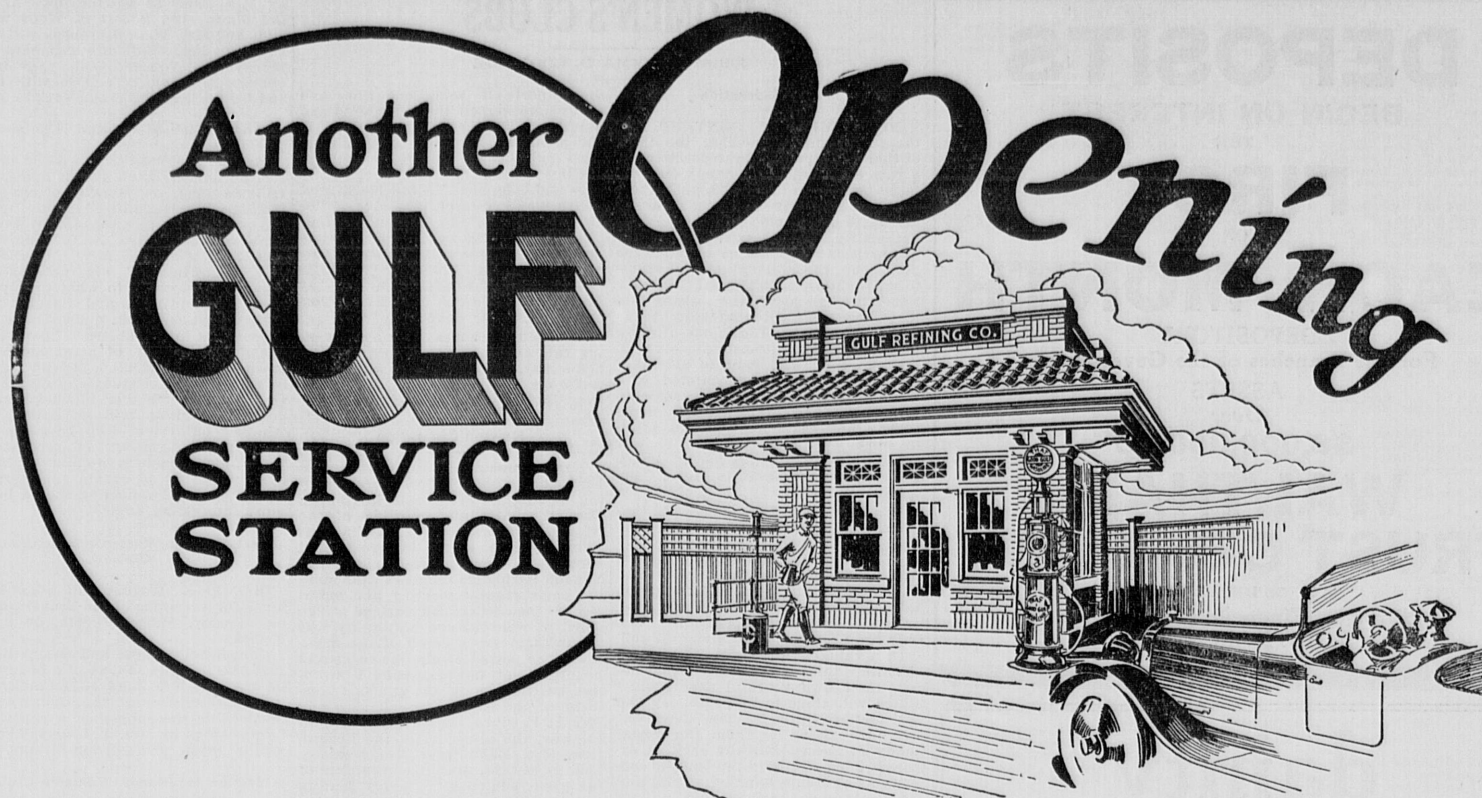

The Auburndale Review Club celebrated Washington's birthday, by entertaining that evening in the Congregational Church chapel both guests from out-of-town Clubs and home friends. The president, Mrs. Amos R. Wells, after greeting the guests, introduced first, Mrs. Joseph Congdon, the 12th District Director, who brought a message from the State Federation of Women's Clubs; second, Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., president of the Newton Federation, who also spoke briefly of the help of the Clubs to our city. The program was then turned over to the chairman of the Program Committee, Mrs. Ernest F. Drew, who introduced "the Father of his Country," and "his wife Martha," Mr. and Mrs. Wickliffe J. Spaulding, who sang a duet. A Pageant, depicting various types of American girls, was then staged. Mr. and Mrs. Spaulding assisting at the piano. At the last moment a request had come for the play read at one of the earlier meetings, "Buying Culture," and while the stage was being set for this, Miss Ruth Urford gave a cornet selection. The play, which was a very amusing one, closed the evening's performance, and refreshments and a social hour followed.
